Christmas Seals may now be purchased from Miss Dorothy Hunter who operates the stand in the main lobby of the downtown post office building, the Lawrence County Tuberculosis Society office announced today.

Clarence Samuels, 410 West Washington street and Samm Almond of Highland Heights, have returned from a successful hunting trip in the vicinity of Trout Run, Clinton County. They brought back a buck deer each, the former having a six point, the latter a four point.

According to the Pennsylvania Highway Detour Bulletin for the period ending December 26, the county is now entirely free of detours, and there are few detours in the whole entire western Pennsylvania section now. One of the latest detours in the state is on U. S. 22 between Wilkesburg, Pa., and Delmont, Pa.

It is evident that some folks are heeding the advice as to conservation of paper. Ladies can be seen in stores carrying shopping bags, and an occasional basket, for the purpose of avoiding the use of paper bags and paper for wrapping up purchases. Congress Rushes War Appropriation Bill For Ten Billions

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—A series of United States successes in the war of the Pacific today rewarded the patriotic fervor of the American people, as congress rushed final enactment of the first war-time appropriation bill—$10,000,000,000 for the army, navy and air corps.

Four deadly blows, dealt in rapid succession to Japanese warships, rather cancelled President Roosevelt's forecast that all initial reports from the Pacific war front would be "bad news."

One Japanese battleship was sunk and another "badly damaged" by American bombers off the Luzon coast. Two other Japanese warships, a heavily-gunned cruiser and a swift destroyer, were sent to "Davy Jones' Locker" by the heroic marine defenders of tiny Wake Island.

Congress meanwhile planned to expand the present draft ages (21 to 28) to 18 to 65; increase the present army from 1,800,000 to 4,000,000; add another $5,000,000,000 to federal taxation to pay for the increased war costs, and to mobilize the nation's womanhood for the war against the Axis powers.

May Register Women

An early registration of American women for the life and death struggle against Japan, Germany and Italy was forecast by Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, head of the selective service, while he proposed raising a force of 4,500,000 fighting (Continued On Page Twenty-four)

Russia To Stay Out Of Japanese War At Present Time

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Soviet Russia believes the interests of the allied cause against the Axis will best be served if she remains out of the Pacific conflict for the time being.

This was learned on high authority today following Soviet Ambassador Maxim Litvinoff's emphatic assurances that Russia intends to continue fighting Germany.

The Soviet union's attitude in respect to the Pacific war is understood to be as follows:

If Russia were to enter the Pacific conflict at this time, the only important contribution she could make to the war against Japan would be to bomb Nippon cities, and possibly units of the Japanese fleet.

Seven Hundred Attend Defense Meeting At High School Last Night

ORGANIZING FOR WAR EMERGENCY

With no trace of alarm but with an apparent air of grim determination for any eventualities, no matter how far fetched it may appear to day, over 700 men and women of Lawrence county met in the senior high school Thursday night. Addressing them were three men whose job it was to inform them what preparation should be made by the citizenry in case of disaster due to war.

No corner of Lawrence county but what seemed to be represented. Official life, school life, civic, fraternal and other organizations were represented and the attention given the speakers seemed an earnestness of the crowd's determination to prepare now.

Walton Opens Meeting
County Commissioner William R. Walton, who is chairman of the Lawrence County Council of Defense, opened the meeting and asked the crowd to sing "America."

W. O. "Red" Williams directed the singing with E. E. Branstetter at the piano. Rev. G. S. Bennett, pastor of First Christian church, offered the invocation.

With no preliminaries Mr. Walton introduced the chairman of the evening, Lt. Col. W. Fulton Jackson, executive director of the county council. Col. Jackson explained the purpose of the meeting, said that it was apparent that preparedness (Continued On Page Thirty-nine)

MANILA, Dec. 12.—A Japanese attempt to enclose Manila within the pincers of two invading forces was indicated today when a spokesman for Lieut. Gen. Douglas MacArthur, commander of the American Far Eastern army, reported receipt of a new Japanese landing at Legaspi, on the southeast end of the island of Luzon.

At the same time, while the Philippines were celebrating a great American victory at sea—sinking of the 28,000-ton Japanese battleship Haruna—the army spokesman reported that the Japanese were reinforcing their troops which struck at the northernmost tip of Luzon.

If the report of the Legaspi landing is confirmed, it means that battlefronts have been established approximately 300 miles from Manila to both the north and south.

Legaspi, a city of some 60,000 population, is one of the Philippine commonwealth's principal seaports.

One Army Pilot Accounts For 12 Japanese Planes

(BULLETIN)

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—First Lieutenant Boyd D. Wagner, U. S. Army Air Corps, shot down two Japanese planes over the Philippines today and destroyed 12 others on the ground. Bert Silen, NBC correspondent, reported in a broadcast from Manila.

(Editor's Note—Silen, working under censorship, did not reveal where the twelve grounded Japanese planes were.)

At the same time Silen reported six Philippine fliers took to the air over Manila and battled two flights of twenty-seven planes each, attacking the city. The Philippines drove off the attackers without a loss.

Silen quoted Admiral Thomas C. Hart as revealing that U. S. submarines are now in the Pacific on war missions and adding:

"I expect big results from them."

The Philippine assembly, Silen reported, met in emergency session, ratified results of the recent election retaining President Manuel Quezon, and pledged full cooperation to the United States.

Lieutenant Wagner comes from Philadelphia and entered the air force in 1937 as a cadet, being commissioned a second lieutenant on June 16 of that year. He was promoted to first lieutenant October 1, 1938.

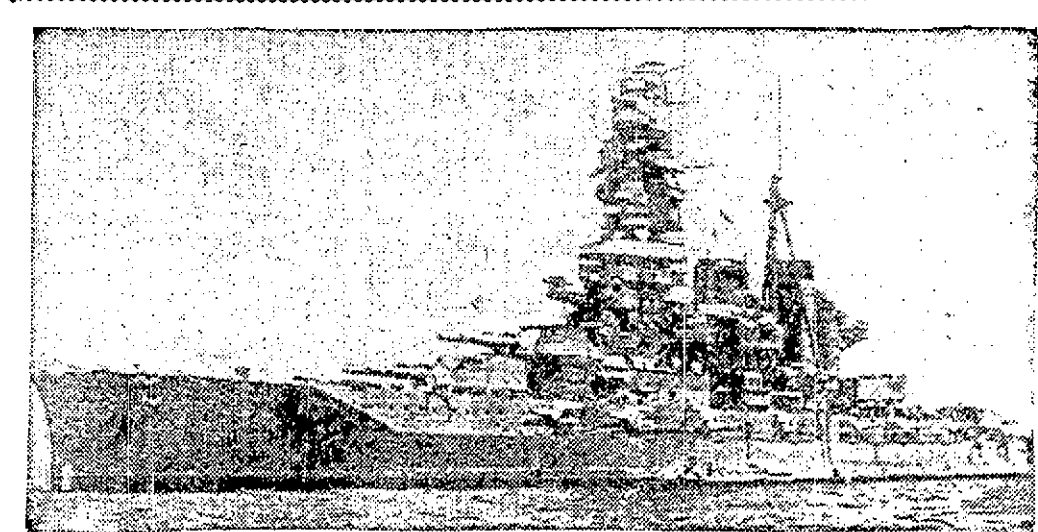

Silen also reported that the Far East United States army command had confirmed that the battle cruiser that army fliers scored direct hits upon was the Kongo itself.

The six Philippine fliers who scored aloft with odds against them to attack the 32 Jap planes attacking Manila accounted for two Japanese planes, Silen said.

Japanese Make Five Point Thrust Against Luzon Says Statement

AMERICAN FORCES BATTLE VALIANTLY

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—The war department today announced that the Japanese are making a five-point thrust against Luzon, chief island of the Philippines, but officials indicated that American forces are battling the invaders valiantly.

The department's communique reported enemy concentrations at Legaspi, at the extreme southern tip of the island more than 200 miles southwest of Manila, and off the west coast of Zamboales.

The communique further stated that the Japanese army is increasing its forces at Aparri, at the northern tip of the island and at Vigan on the western side.

The text of the communique follows:

"The commanding general of the Far Eastern command reports that Japanese are making a series of concentric thrusts on the island of Luzon. Enemy concentrations are reported at Legaspi and off the west coast of Zamboales. The enemy is augmenting its forces at Aparri and Vigan."

"Hawaii: No operations reported. West Coast: No change in the situation."

The communique's allusions to Vigan indicates for the first time that the Japanese have succeeded in landing a force at that point. (Continued On Page Two)

Celebrate Opening Of Bus Lines Here With Dinner Session

New Castle today has a modern transportation system, street cars having been retired and stock motoring having been placed in service at 1:30 p. m. Thursday.

The transition was observed by city and county officials, civic club representatives and other prominent citizens as guests of the Shenango Valley Transportation at a dinner in The Castleton while the change was under way.

When the change was made it marked the end of a street car system launched 50 years ago and demonstrated that the city has taken another step forward. All of the persons who spoke at the banquet asserted now that the new company with a fleet of 13 modern buses has become operative the people of the community should exhibit appreciation by patronizing buses.

Moore General Manager
During the banquet which was opened by T. C. Moore, leading in the singing of "America," it was announced that Mr. Moore, who has been local superintendent of the New Castle Electric Street Railways, has been elevated to the bus company's board of directors and also promoted to the position of general manager.

William M. Muldoon, vice president of the Shenango Valley Bus company, presided as toastmaster.

He declared the gathering testified to the civic spirit so pronounced here. "This has made possible the transition," he declared, and said, "today marks the passage of street car system that has played a prominent part of 50 years in developing this section."

Today also marks the inauguration of a new transportation system which will enhance the community. He described the beginning of street car operations here in 1890, asserted no traffic problem was encountered in those times, but with the advent of automobiles and a two-track system in some local streets, the problem had become serious.

"Among the honored guests who helped play a major part in this are your councilmen," he said, and introduced them, following which he introduced Mark James, a representative of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The councilmen are J. D. Alexander, W. H. Dunlap, J. L. Fink and D. C. Davies.

Expect Special Session Call Shortly

Re-Districting Plan Suggested

Legislature Will Be Called For Purpose Of Acting On Proposal

OTHER MATTERS TO BE CONSIDERED

By JOHN PAGET
HARRISBURG, Dec. 12—Gov. Arthur H. James today was expected to convene a special session of the legislature within several days to enact a congressional reapportionment program adopted by the bi-partisan legislative committee after an eight-month dead lock.

Discarding all proposals previously considered, the 10-member committee agreed upon the following plan:

1. Abolish one democratic-controlled district and permit party legislators to select the district.
2. Eliminate one Republican-controlled district and permit party lawmakers to name the district.
3. Elect one congressman-at-large.

The agreement served to reduce Pennsylvania's delegation from 34 to 33 as required by the 1940 census.

Governor James hinted yesterday that the session of the 12th in the Commonwealth's history might be made today by the committee members expressed belief that the legislature would not meet until next Tuesday.

Members based their opinion on the fact that the Governor has stated his intention to include in the call anti-sabotage legislation along with several other non-controversial measures for consideration and that they did not believe the proposals had been drafted finally.

Rep. William L. Shaffer, Allegheny Democrat, indicated that neither party would abolish a district which was bordered by districts normally controlled by the opposition party.

"That would throw parties usually controlled by one party into a district having a majority of the other party tending to weaken the party now in control," was his explanation.

Pennsylvania's present congressional delegation is composed of 19 democrats and 15 republicans.

Legislative action designed to reduce the delegation, was launched April 15 when the so-called party bills were introduced in the legislature. But the assembly adjourned July 15 without reaching a decision. On September 17, Sen. Charles H. Ealy, Somerset Republican and President pro tempore of the senate, met with speaker of the democratic-controlled house Elmer Kilroy, Philadelphia, and selected the 10-member bi-partisan legislative committee that opened discussions October 1. The members struck an agreement ending the stalemate at the 11th.

detailed fashion Mrs. Green told of the work of the home during the past year. "Today," said Mrs. Green, "we have 21 boys and 16 girls in our home, and I am happy to report that our little family is all enjoying splendid health."

"Naturally we have our little trials and tribulations but we have been able to lift them out. We are deeply indebted to the officers of the board and the directors who have always shown a fine spirit of helpfulness. We are also indebted to the good people of New Castle for their kindness in past years."

Reports of the secretary and of this report pointed out the fact that the cost of living has advanced, putting additional burdens upon the home. Mr. Pennington thanked the officers, the directors and the chairman for their cooperation during the past year and expressed his confidence that the ensuing year would see the same fine spirit manifest.

The Margaret L. Henry Home is a home for children without parents or whose one parent is unable to support them. It was named for the late beloved Margaret L. Henry who started the work years ago.

St. John's Church Extends Call To Clairton Minister

St. John's Lutheran church, corner of North street and Neshannock avenue extended a call this morning to the Rev. A. E. Simon of Clairton, Pa.

The pastorate of St. John's church has been vacant since the death of Rev. P. E. Sough early in September. During the past three months services have been conducted by guest ministers and the Rev. J. H. Miller, Ph. D., retired Lutheran minister.

No answer has been received from Mr. Simon yet.

REVEAL DETAILS OF TREACHEROUS HAWAII ATTACKS

tion of news dispatches from Hawaii was enforced by censors soon after initial announcement of the Jap attack. Receipt of this dispatch indicates relaxation of the tight military censorship following arrival in Hawaii yesterday of Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox to take personal command of the U. S. Navy's retaliatory thrusts.

The army swung into action swiftly. Mobile units sped to every section of the city, posing anti-sabotage guards, taking charge of traffic and perfecting other steps necessary to meet the emergency.

Civilian defense organizations were equally quick. All members rushed to their posts. Police, auxiliary police, fire wardens and air raid wardens all fulfilled their duties efficiently, although only partially trained to meet the exigencies of a raid.

Residents united in saying the heavy death toll should be blamed upon the viciousness of the unexpected attack, rather than any omissions on the part of the defenders.

Doctors, volunteer nurses and other workers arrived at the hospitals simultaneously with the first ambulance-loads of wounded. Many light trucks were converted into ambulances quickly, as the extent of the raid became apparent.

The Jap planes deliberately bombed some residential sections, including crowded tenements jammed with helpless civilians. Some of the 49 civilian deaths and many of the injuries are attributable to direct hits. Others were caused by shrapnel from explosives rained down upon the city. A number of homes were ruined.

Emergency hospitals teemed with both pathetic and heroic sights. A shortage of operating tables soon developed, and doctors used borrowed kitchen tables.

Reasonable order was established within an hour following the initial attack, and during the entire disaster I failed to see a single instance of actual panic.

The first call for blood donors resulted in a long line of volunteers, and many citizens offered their homes for emergency hospitalization of the injured. Radio stations did yeoman service during the first two hours after the raid, instructing the populace in emergency conduct and summoning volunteers to duty.

Gov. J. B. Pendergast arrived at his office simultaneously with an emergency group of leaders, and quickly proclaimed a state of emergency and later martial law. Then the work of directing civilian defense began in earnest.

Since that fateful Sunday, Honolulu has been concentrating upon one job—effective defense and care of civilians. Rationing of goods and gasoline—as a conservation step and not because of a shortage—is proving effective.

Blackouts are held nightly, with all business firms closing early. However, all businesses are functioning.

JAPANESE TROOPS PLAN ATTACKS TO ENCLOSE MANILA

they plan to push northward from their reported beach head at Legaspi.

Even should they traverse the southeastern mountains, they would have to face American troops entrenched on three narrow isthmuses along the route before approaching provinces contiguous to Manila.

The army spokesman said: "The enemy has improved his strength in northern Luzon. However, the situation remains unchanged materially."

"A small force is reported to have pushed ashore at Legaspi but as yet this report is unconfirmed and further details are lacking."

Rumors of Jap parachutists landing at various points in the islands continue to be circulated, but absolutely no confirmation of any of these reports has been received in Manila. There also are no indications that the Japs are using transport planes to bring in troops.

Manila had two air raid alarms today, one at 4 a. m. and the other at 10 a. m. A heavy rain was falling, and the ceiling was low.

The early alarm was uneventful. Anti aircraft batteries opened fire during the second alarm, but no planes were seen and no bombs were dropped.

Comparatively Quiet

The night and morning in Manila were comparatively quiet—except for this correspondent who nearly was shot by Filipino soldiers as he stood atop a roof watching for Jap planes.

Suspecting that I might be a fifth columnist waiting to signal to raiders, the soldiers trained their guns upon me. I spent an exciting few minutes before my identity was established.

Prior to the reported Legaspi invasion, United States troops were pushing back and mopping up Japanese forces in the Philippines on the heels of the great American achievement in destroying the 29,000-ton battleship, Haruna.

The American soldiers poured a withering fire on Japanese troops who landed on beaches around Lingayen in northern Luzon.

An army communiqué said the invaders "are being disposed of and mopping up operations are in progress."

(At Washington, the war department's first communique of yesterday said determined American resistance had confined Japanese invasion attempts to the vicinity of Aparri, at the northernmost tip of Luzon. Later, the war department said there was reason to believe that successful defense against landing attempts in the north and northwest areas of Luzon was continuing.)

Damage Battleship

(The navy department announced that naval patrol planes had scored bomb hits on a second Japanese battleship off Luzon, leaving it badly damaged. It was identified as the 28,330-ton Kongo class.

In Washington it also was officially reported there were no further air attacks on Manila up to midnight Thursday.)

Manila heard three air raid warnings yesterday but no bombs were dropped. The enemy aircraft seemed to be on scouting duty.

However, American aircraft were busy and were officially reported to have driven a force of enemy bombers away from Manila.

An army spokesman said U. S. scout planes took off at noon Thursday, intercepted a formation of Japanese bombers, and drove them away from the city. The invading planes were last seen heading in a westerly direction.

Japanese Report

TOKYO (via official Japanese wireless) Dec. 12—A Japanese landing on the southern part of Luzon Island in the Philippines and a violent attack on Penang in the Straits Settlements were announced by Japanese Imperial headquarters in a war communique today.

The army section of Imperial headquarters said Penang was bombed violently during the morning and claimed one ship in the port was sunk and four seriously damaged.

The Japanese planes also attacked warehouses and port facilities, the communique stated.

The Domei (Japanese) news agency reported in a dispatch from a Japanese army air base in South China that large formations of Japanese army bombers this morning again "effectively" raided Hong Kong, attacking military objectives.

This report said the planes simultaneously scattered leaflets urging the Chinese population to revolt against "Anglo-American oppression" and to join the "tripartite crusade for liberation of greater East Asia."

Imperial headquarters announced conclusion of a military agreement between Japan and French Indo-China.

The pact was said to have been signed Monday by representatives of the Japanese expeditionary forces in Indo-China and the Indo-Chinese government. The agreement was said to have been based on the Japanese-Indo-Chinese common defense pact concluded last July.

WAR DEPARTMENT REPORT FOR DAY

In the first communique of the war, Gen. MacArthur of the eastern command disclosed that the Philippine army had succeeded in beating off attacks in the Vigan area but that the Japanese were continuing their onslaughts.

The province of Zamboales now being assailed by Japanese landing parties and troops is closer to Manila than any other points of landing thus far indicated in the official communique.

Some portions of the province are only a few miles from Manila.

GIRL HAS STUDIED AT 83 SCHOOLS IN LAST 11 YEARS

(International News Service) SACRAMENTO, Calif. — June Handke, 15, has attended 83 schools during the last 11 years, the latest in Sacramento, and has managed to keep up with her classmates.

June, who is the daughter of Joseph J. Handke, traveling circus man, started her education by attending three kindergartens at the age of 5. The family has been on the road since.

It might well be said she has a "wide" education, stretching from Saratoga, N. Y., where she attended a country school for only eight days during her short sojourn, to Los Angeles where her longest attendance record was established with five months at the Washington high school.

PRODUCTION TO BE SPEEDED UP

formulate a plan whereby all disputes could be settled amicably without stoppages.

William Green, President of the AFL, and Philip Murray, head of the CIO, were asked by the President to appoint six men each from various unions, while the industrial representatives will be named by the chairman of the advisory council of the commerce department.

"The first and essential objective of the conference," declared a White House statement, "will be to reach a unanimous agreement to prevent the interruption of production by labor disputes during the period of war."

Seek Continuous Operation
OPM Labor Chief Sidney Hillman asked Green and Murray to urge their constituent unions to institute a continuous-operation schedule immediately—making the necessary changes later and leaving all disputes that cannot be settled quickly to arbitration.

OPM's labor supply branch, which has already trained 1,700,000 workers in vocational schools and hundreds of thousands more in defense industries for specialized war-industry jobs, pressed its training campaign and planned broad extensions to soak-up dispossessed civilian-industry workers.

In consonance with this program, Hillman called a meeting today in Akron, O., of labor union and management representatives of the rubber industry. Thousands of rubber workers will lose their jobs this week, he pointed out, as a result of the rubber-freezing order which stops tire production for civilian use.

Other conferences are planned with labor and management representatives in the automobile industry—which, under orders issued yesterday by OPM, faces a 75 per cent production cut in February alone and possible eventual elimination for the duration of the war.

The Akron conference, and similar meetings will consider the problems involved in the lay-off, transfer, and rehiring of displaced workers, and plant conversion.

Thanks largely to the long-range training program of the labor supply branch, Hillman expects more than 2,000,000 workers to be absorbed in war industries in the next few months in addition to the more than 4,000,000 already engaged in war production.

Bus service for transportation has been established in New Castle today permanently. The first runs were made by the buses on Thursday afternoon. Some confusion resulted as to schedules, and there was some delay on some routes, but it is expected that a working schedule will be developed in a short time, whereby all routes will have buses running on regular time. Traffic appeared to be heavier than usual yesterday for the start of the bus line operation, due largely to the influx of Christmas shoppers downtown.

Expect Special Session Call Shortly

Re-Districting Plan Suggested

Legislature Will Be Called For Purpose Of Acting On Proposal

OTHER MATTERS TO BE CONSIDERED

By JOHN PAGET
HARRISBURG, Dec. 12—Gov. Arthur H. James today was expected to convene a special session of the legislature within several days to enact a congressional reapportionment program adopted by the bi-partisan legislative committee after an eight-month dead lock.

Discarding all proposals previously considered, the 10-member committee agreed upon the following plan:

1. Abolish one democratic-controlled district and permit party legislators to select the district.
2. Eliminate one Republican controlled district and permit party lawmakers to name the district.
3. Elect one congressman-at-large.

The agreement served to reduce Pennsylvania's delegation from 34 to 33 as required by the 1940 census.

Governor James hinted yesterday that the session call the 12th in the Commonwealth's history—might be made today but committee members expressed belief that the legislature would not meet until next Tuesday.

Members based their opinion on the fact that the Governor has stated his intention to include in the call anti-sabotage legislation along with several other non-controversial measures for consideration and that they did not believe the proposals had been drafted finally.

Rep. William L. Shaffer, Allegheny Democrat indicated that neither party would abolish a district which was bordered by districts normally controlled by the opposition party.

"That would throw parties usually controlled by one party into a district having a majority of the other party tending to weaken the party now in control," was his explanation.

Pennsylvania's present congressional delegation is composed of 19 democrats and 15 republicans.

Legislative action designed to reduce the delegation was launched April 17 when the so-called party bills were introduced in the legislature. But the assembly adjourned July 15 without reaching a decision.

On September 17, Sen. Charles H. Early, Somerset Republican and President pro tempore of the senate, met with speaker of the democratic controlled house Elmer Kilroy, Philadelphia, and selected the 10-member bi-partisan legislative committee that opened discussions October 1. The members struck an agreement ending the stalemate at the 11th.

The night and morning in Manila were comparatively quiet—except for this correspondent who nearly was shot by Filipino soldiers as he stood atop a roof watching for Jap planes.

Suspecting that I might be a fifth columnist waiting to signal to raiders, the soldiers trained their guns upon me. I spent an exciting few minutes before my identity was established.

Prior to the reported Legaspi invasion United States troops were smashing back and mopping up Japanese forces in the Philippines on the heels of the great American achievement in destroying the 29,000-ton battleship, Haruna.

The American soldiers poured a withering fire on Japanese troops who landed on beaches around Lingayan in northern Luzon.

An army communique said the invaders "are being disposed of and mopping up operations are in progress."

(At Washington, the war department's first communique of yesterday said determined American resistance had confined Japanese invasion attempts to the vicinity of Aparri, at the northernmost tip of Luzon. Later, the war department said there was reason to believe that successful defense against landing attempts in the north and north-west areas of Luzon was continuing.

Damage Battleship
(The navy department announced that naval patrol planes had scored bomb hits on a second Japanese battleship off Luzon, leaving it badly damaged. It was identified as of the 29,330-ton Kongo class.

In Washington it also was officially reported there were no further air attacks on Manila up to midnight Thursday.

Manila heard three air raid warnings yesterday but no bombs were dropped. The enemy aircraft seemed to be on scouting duty.

However, American aircraft were busy and were officially reported to have driven a force of enemy bombers away from Manila.

An army spokesman said U. S. scout planes took off at noon Thursday, intercepted a formation of Japanese bombers, and drove them away from the city. The invading planes were last seen heading in a westerly direction.

Japanese Report
TOKYO (via official Japanese wireless) Dec. 12—A Japanese landing on the southern part of Luzon Island in the Philippines, a violent attack on Penang in the Straits Settlements were announced by Japanese Imperial headquarters in a war communique today.

The army section of Imperial headquarters said Penang was bombed violently during the morning and claimed one ship in the port was sunk and four seriously damaged.

The Japanese planes also attacked warehouses and port facilities, the communique stated.

Hong Kong Bombed
The Domei (Japanese) news agency reported in a dispatch from a Japanese army air base in South China that large formations of Japanese army bombers this morning again "effectively" raided Hong Kong, attacking military objectives.

This report said the planes simultaneously scattered leaflets urging the Chinese population to revolt against "Anglo-American oppression" and to join the "tripartite crusade for liberation of greater East Asia."

Imperial headquarters announced conclusion of a military agreement between Japan and French Indo-China.

The pact was said to have been signed Monday by representatives of the Japanese expeditionary forces in Indo-China and the Indo-Chinese government. The agreement was said to have been based on the Japanese-Indo-Chinese common defense pact concluded last July.

In the first communique of the war, Gen. MacArthur of the eastern command disclosed that the Philippine army had succeeded in beating off attacks in the Vigan area but that the Japanese were continuing their onslaughts.

The province of Zambales now being assaulted by Japanese landing parties and troops is closer to Manila than any other points of landing thus far indicated in the official communique.

Some portions of the province are only a few miles from Manila.

GIRL HAS STUDIED AT 83 SCHOOLS IN LAST 11 YEARS

(International News Service) SACRAMENTO, Calif. — June Handke, 16, has attended 83 schools during the last 11 years, the latest in Sacramento, and has managed to keep up with her classmates.

June, who is the daughter of Joseph J. Handke, traveling circus man, started her education by attending three kindergartens at the age of 5. The family has been on the road since.

It might well be said she has a "wide" education, stretching from Saratoga, N. Y., where she attended a country school for only eight days—her shortest enrollment, to Los Angeles where her longest attendance record was established with five months at the Washington high school.

PRODUCTION TO BE SPEEDED UP

formulate a plan whereby all disputes could be settled amicably without stoppages.

William Green, President of the AFL, and Philip Murray, head of the CIO, were asked by the President to appoint six men each from various unions, while the industrial representatives will be named by the chairman of the advisory council of the commerce department.

"The first and essential objective of the conference," declared a White House statement, "will be to reach a unanimous agreement to prevent the interruption of production by labor disputes during the period of war."

Seek Continuous Operation

OPM Chief Sidney Hillman asked Green and Murray to urge their constituent unions to institute a continuous-operation schedule immediately—making the necessary changes later and leaving all disputes that cannot be settled quickly to arbitration.

OPM's labor supply branch, which has already trained 1,700,000 workers in vocational schools and hundreds of thousands more in defense industries for specialized war-industry jobs, pressed its training campaign and planned broad extensions to soak-up dispossessed civilian-industry workers.

In consonance with this program, Hillman called a meeting today in Akron, O., of labor union and management representatives of the rubber industry. Thousands of rubber workers will lose their jobs this week, he pointed out, as a result of the rubber-freezing order which stops tire production for civilian use.

Other conferences are planned with labor and management representatives in the automobile industry—which, under orders issued yesterday by OPM, faces a 75 per cent production cut in February alone and possible eventual elimination for the duration of the war.

The Akron conference, and similar meetings will consider the problems involved in the lay-off, transfer, and rehiring of displaced workers, and plant conversion.

Thanks largely to the long-range training program of the labor supply branch, Hillman expects more than 2,000,000 workers to be absorbed in war industries in the next few months in addition to the more than 4,000,000 already engaged in war production.

BUICK BUILDS FOR DEFENSE
Our assignment: Building Buicks for the defense effort.

ANY way you look at it, there's a long, long trail ahead of the next car you buy.

So in spite of all the sleek good looks and trim beauty this Buick has to recommend it, we frankly say: Better look a little deeper than sheer appearance.

The type of engine your next car has will have a lot to do with how efficiently you use the gasoline you buy.

And Buick's engine is not only more efficient because it is a valve-in-head, but also because it's a FIFTEEN straight-eight that squeezes extra power from every rationing of fuel.

Here's a drive-shaft that is a simple, sturdy steel rod, enclosed all the way from transmission to axle in a stout torque tube.

Buick springs—all coil springs—never lose their liveliness.

Buick connecting rods are sturdier. Buick main bearings go twice as long under equal loads. Even Buick wheels help get maximum mileage out of tires.

In a word, here's an out-of-the-ordinary car for out-of-the-ordinary times.

So don't be satisfied to look—don't even be content to listen; go try this Buick—thoroughly!

These days you need the best you can buy—and these days that's Buick.

ANY way you look at it, there's a long, long trail ahead of the next car you buy.

So in spite of all the sleek good looks and trim beauty this Buick has to recommend it, we frankly say: Better look a little deeper than sheer appearance.

The type of engine your next car has will have a lot to do with how efficiently you use the gasoline you buy.

And Buick's engine is not only more efficient because it is a valve-in-head, but also because it's a FIREBALL—straight-eight that squeezes extra power from every rationing of fuel.

Here's a drive-shaft that is a simple, sturdy steel rod, encased all the way from transmission to axle in a stout torque tube.

Buick connecting rods are sturdier. Buick main bearings go twice as long under equal loads. Even Buick wheels help get maximum mileage out of tires.

In a word, here's an out-of-the-ordinary car for out-of-the-ordinary times.

So don't be satisfied to look—don't even be content to listen; go try this Buick—thoroughly!

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

TEAMWORK OF TEACHER AND PARENT

This is the time of year when more parents than usual go to see the teacher. Many go to inquire about the child who didn't pass. Suppose you are going. What is your purpose? Is your first interest in your child or is it in yourself? Are you going to discover how you may help your child improve his grades in school, or are you going to abuse the teacher?

In the first place, you should remember that you did not hire the teacher, nor can you fire her. You probably may be able to get a little selfish satisfaction by saying ugly things to her, and by telling her she is responsible for your child's failure. But what have you gained? Nothing. You have lost tremendously—and you have done your child no end of harm.

Your child passes or he fails, learns or does not learn. His teacher does not pass him. He learns when he feels like learning.

Parent and Teacher Responsible
Both you and your child's teacher are pretty largely responsible for his learning attitude, and consequently for his success at school. Of course, neither you nor she can put new brain cells into his head.

If you go to see the teacher, you no doubt first scolded about her at home in your child's presence, and whatever regard he had for her you probably destroyed.

Without respect for her, how is he going to learn much at school? She is human just as you are human. Abused by you, she is inclined to feel less kindly toward the child. She may learn, indeed, to despise him and he will not become stronger mutual admirers. He will grow a poorer pupil of that teacher at least; she a poorer teacher of that child. He loses you, she loses him.

You pay taxes to support the schools; but by your big-headedness and feeble-minded folly you practically destroyed your own money as sure as if you had tossed it into a lake or burned it in a fire. Furthermore, you injured your child's character. By your example you taught him discourtesy and loss of self-control.

Show Poise and Breeding
Next time you go to see the teacher, be more sensible. Go to help your child. Say nothing unkind about or to the teacher. Wait several days, if necessary, until you have regained your self-control and poise. Then go to learn. Go to meet her calmly. Go to prove to her and to your child that you have been well bred and that you have character.

You may discover many things about your child: be appraised of his specific learning difficulties. You may find out ways of helping him at home, to improve his work at school. You also may be able to get over calmly to the teacher some important facts about the child which she ought to know.

Once your child discovers you and the teacher are cooperating to help him, he will acquire a higher respect for both of you. Find his school more attractive, his lessons easier with the result that his grades will be higher.

Solve Parent Problems
Q. What of the child of ten who just those foods she is accustomed to and refuses new and unfamiliar ones?

A. Expect her to eat a very small portion of every food served the family, even allowing her to decide upon the amount. If she resists, let her have no other food till she eats a bit of this one. Be satisfied if she chooses a portion no bigger than a soup bean. Her parents, of course, should also eat of every food served the family without any word about it.

We have a plaintive note from Santa Claus asking how he can get into the United States without tripping over the burglar alarm.

That reminded us that Christmas is coming and we will celebrate it. It will give no aid or comfort to our enemies to know that we can handle a war and a shopping list at the same time.

Right now all true Americans will work hard for the safety of our country.

Mrs. Newkale—"My dear, isn't that The Sextet from Lucia the orchestra is playing?"

"No, I think it is a selection from Rigoletto."

"I am positive it is The Sextet from Lucia."

Thereupon Mrs. Newkale goes to the orchestra stand and reads the placard posted in the space where the names of the selections played usually are placed. She returns to her partner.

"My dear, we are both wrong. It's The Refrain from Smoking."

LIFE'S LITTLE AGONIES
A theatrical touring company was forced to spend the night in a primitive village. You know—hick town.

Next morning one of them asked the landlady where he could wash.

"In the spring," she told him.

"But, madam," moaned the actor, "I said where, not when."

Answer: I think you were left in a spot. If he already had a partner for the next dance, he should have either found a partner for you or taken you to a seat among your friends. He should not have left you stranded in the middle of the floor. Let that be a lesson to you! The next time insist on being brought back to your friends as soon as you have finished dancing. Doubtless, if you had not given your permission to him, you would have had a partner for the next dance. Every girl must look out for her own interests.

Question: I know that we men should rise when a woman, in passing our restaurant table, stops to greet us but what about the women at the table? Should they rise too? Colleague.

Answer: No, unless those seated are very young and the visitor is elderly. The men, of course, should rise regardless of the visitor's age or sex and remain standing until he or she departs or is seated. Men need not rise for a man unless there are women at the table.

Cent. Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Official Washington is almost thankful that the Japanese launched their attack on the United States when they did. There's anything but a feeling of gratitude toward the Japs of course, but waiting to see what would happen that it was getting very hard on the nerves. The Honolulu raid and related incidents, ending the necessity for any further guessing, came as something pretty closely resembling relief.

Navy folk, it's true, are a trifle mortified at having been taken by surprise, with the Mikado's bombers actually flying over their objectives instead of being spotted as they approached. They promise, however, that the joke will speedily be on the Japs.

There's a deal of speculation as to whether or not Ambassador Nomura and his co-conspirator, Saburo Kurosu, were informed in advance from Tokyo, that their home government intended to strike just when it did. It's taken for granted that they knew what it was planning, but there's quite a general impression that they weren't looking for the overt act quite so soon. Their diplomatic staff certainly wasn't packed up and ready to scot for Nippon until several hours after the Honolulu raid.

There are fairly competent observers who believe that Nomura and Kurosu, aware that it would be suicidal for their country to tackle Uncle Sam, really tried to make terms that he'd accept, but that Tokyo wouldn't let 'em agree to the minimum that he insisted on.

Correspondents Caught Short
Washington Correspondents Matsuo Kato and C. H. Hawakami of Donal Japan's biggest news agency, assuredly were caught completely off base. Both were mixing nonchalantly with American newspapermen on the forenoon of the very day when the bombing a bit later was announced. The casualness of their manner was entirely too realistic to have been faked. Moreover, they made not the least attempt to conceal their perturbation when the news was broadcast.

As anyone who visits Japan quickly learns, it's perfectly possible for the islanders' military class to plan for and start a war, not only without consulting the civilian governmental groups, but even against their wishes. What corresponds to our war and navy departments is absolutely independent of the executive legislative judicial and diplomatic set-ups and, if interfered with by any of them, rather makes a practice of killing the leading red, white, and blue.

Nor is there any use in warning the militarists that they're committing suicide, on small provocation is part of their class creed; everybody's heard of that.

Japan is recognized as possessing a first-rate navy, but not fully the equal of America's strength in the Pacific, not to mention the other.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

Senator Chandler, Kentucky Democrat, calls for fleets of four-motored bombing planes with ocean-wide range.

"Sinking of the Prince of Wales and the attack on Hawaii emphasize importance of air power. We've got to get powerful long-range bombers."

Mayor LaGuardia of New York, civilian defense chieftain, demands better air raid precautions.

"I am not satisfied with the civilian defense forces anywhere."

Secretary of Navy Knox salutes the launching of two more destroyers at Boston.

"We must have ships and more ships; guns and more guns; men and more men, faster. There is no time to lose."

Gen. John J. Pershing, the beloved "Black Jack" Pershing who led his troops to victory in France 23 years ago, offers his services again in America's crucial hour.

"I hasten to offer my services, in any way in which my experience and my strength to the last ounce will be of help in the fight."

President Roosevelt to General Pershing: "You are magnificent."

CHRISTMAS THOUGHTS
The Christmas season means once and love is on the rise again. And mystery is at the door. As children watch delivermen.

The mothers rush from shop to shop. Again the busy needles fly. And everywhere that people stop. They say "how fast a year goes by!"

There's holly on the streets for sale. And some are offering mistletoe. Old folks are reading Dickens' tale. Of Scrooge and Christmas long ago.

Atar the nations small and great. Are fighting, land and sky and sea. And oh it seems with so much hate. That peace on earth can never be.

The World and the Mud Puddles

HOW ABOUT IT?

Some time ago a great female gorilla was captured in the jungles and brought to Havana and there placed under the care of one Tomas, a trainer of jungle beasts; particularly, of the monkey tribe. This gorilla sometimes known as "Madame Gargantua," was afterwards sold to a circus.

While living in Havana, Mrs. Marguerita Rowell made the acquaintance of "Toto," "Toto" and Tomas, her trainer, occupied the adjacent house. "Toto" had few restrictions and Tomas allowed the gorilla a great deal of freedom.

The Cuban, from whom Mrs. Rowell leased her house, smilingly warned her that she would have "Toto" for a neighbor, but this did not deter Mrs. Rowell, for she had always loved animals and was eager to make "Toto's" acquaintance. She says:

"I walked out on my balcony to enjoy a tropical morning. A blue haze drifted through the gorgeously colored trees, glistening with dew-like jewels in the iridescent sunlight. Birds of brilliant plumage greeted me with song. The indigo Caribbean contributing its share of beauty to the inspiring landscape, touched a far horizon."

"Suddenly my eyes fell on a huge black object, sitting on an adjacent roof, gazing at me contemplatively. It was 'Toto'."

"Good morning, 'Toto,' I called, but received no response until Tomas, the trainer, commanded 'Throw the senora a kiss.' I ventured closer. Tomas suggested I pick a red hibiscus from a nearby bush as a peace offering. She looked at me doubtfully as I handed her the flower, but consumed it with pleasure."

"From that moment we were friends. I taught her to peek-a-boo through those grotesque hands, count her fingers and dance. Each morning she would go through the whole performance dressed in socks and sweater, of which she was very proud, to her feminine instinct."

"I left Havana and later I learned that 'Toto,' each morning, until she was sold to the circus, stared at the empty balcony disconsolately, displaying a very human loneliness."

"Recently I visited the circus owning 'Toto' and had the opportunity of renewing the friendship. 'Toto' was still under the chaperonage of the faithful Tomas. I hurried to see my old friend. Tomas met me at the tent, eager to see 'Toto's' reaction."

"Hello Toto," I shouted through the glass air-conditioned cage. She looked at me unbelievably. Then began to throw kisses, count her fingers, peek-a-boo, dance and stand on her head, which always signified great pleasure."

"The circus attendants were amazed. The act was a complete surprise to them."

"Walking away, I looked back to see 'Toto' peering over the heads of the gathering crowd for a last glimpse of me. I wonder if that very sad expression meant a longing for blue skies, red hibiscus and freedom."

The Darwinian theory asserts that among man's ancestors in the process of evolution from proto-plasma, the monkey tribe was the last link.

HAPPYGRAMS

By ERICH BRANDIS

Paroled two weeks ago, Alonzo White is back in the same cell in the Seaside, N. Y. jail which he occupied eleven years ago, before being sent to state prison for burglary.

White, who is 32 years old, be-moaned his fate.

"I've never had a chance," he said when arrested for another burglary. "I came out of prison and got a dishwashing job. I lost it—and a man's got to eat. So what could I do? A friend told me to burglarize a certain house."

White was away. So I went and did it. Bad company and no break. That's my trouble."

Weakness always finds an alibi for its troubles.

Adversity is the stepping stone for success to strong men and the diving board to failure for weaklings.

You climb or fall on your own power, not on the breaks Fate or friends give you.

Bible Thought For Today

ocean. Besides, the Japs haven't the resources to keep their fleet effective, as it's put out of business, ship by ship, and Uncle Sam can keep his in operation, even regardless of a loss now and then—and keep increasing it, too.

Presumably the policy of the United States will be to blockade Nippon. The islands internal production is wholly insufficient to feed its population, lacking imports and, bottled up, it can't but starve to death shortly.

Doubtless there'll be air raids also, as nearly all its cities are built of bamboo and paper, they'll burn like kindling wood and pasteboard.

The campaign, it's reckoned, will be over in a matter of three to six months, so far as Japan is concerned, but not taking into account the possibility of hostilities in other directions.

And that, according to Washington predictions, will be the end of independent Nippon. Maybe China will get it. Maybe Russia will get some.

Mikado Helpless
Nobody is surprised that President Roosevelt's personal appeal to Mikado Hirohito failed to yield results. The Mikado is supposed to be a divinity, but he hasn't a word to say relative to his country's mundane policies, least of all relative to those of the Samurai, the military bunch. I'm not so sure the Samurai would assassinate him, like an ordinary human being, if he bothered 'em, but it's a cinch they wouldn't pay any attention to a thing he had to say except on the subject of heavenly issues.

Fighting the little cesses is a nuisance, naturally, and they're capable of putting up a mean tempo, but all the best judges forecast that it won't take long. Collateral developments, in Europe and North Africa, may be a different thing.

ocean. Besides, the Japs haven't the resources to keep their fleet effective, as it's put out of business, ship by ship, and Uncle Sam can keep his in operation, even regardless of a loss now and then—and keep increasing it, too.

Presumably the policy of the United States will be to blockade Nippon. The islands internal production is wholly insufficient to feed its population, lacking imports and bottled up, it can't but starve to death shortly.

Doubtless there'll be air raids also, as nearly all its cities are built of bamboo and paper, they'll burn like kindling wood and pasteboard.

The campaign, it's reckoned, will be over in a matter of three to six months, so far as Japan is concerned, but not taking into account the possibility of hostilities in other directions.

And that, according to Washington predictions, will be the end of independent Nippon. Maybe China will get it. Maybe Russia will get some.

Mikado Helpless
Nobody is surprised that President Roosevelt's personal appeal to Mikado Hirohito failed to yield results. The Mikado is supposed to be a divinity, but he hasn't a word to say relative to his country's mundane policies, least of all relative to those of the Samurai, the military bunch. I'm not so sure the Samurai would assassinate him, like an ordinary human being, if he bothered 'em, but it's a cinch they wouldn't pay any attention to a thing he had to say except on the subject of heavenly issues.

Fighting the little cusses is a nuisance, naturally, and they're capable of putting up a mean scrap, but all the best judges forecast that it won't take long. Collateral developments, in Europe and North Africa, may be a different thing.

COURT DECISION REVEALS WHEN A TIP IS NOT A TIP

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 12.—When is a tip not a tip? When it is given to a car hop, those pretty uniformed waitresses at drive-in eating stands. For then the tip becomes a part of her wages.

So declared a ruling written in the record of Superior Judge Charles

D. Ballard's court which declared that tips can be considered wages for the girls and that employers, while they must guarantee that the car hops make at least $16 a week, need not pay the girls anything if their tips exceed that amount.

GALLOWES ROOM IS TO BE CONVERTED INTO GYMNASIUM

(International News Service)
KANSAS CITY—The only hanging that will be done in the gallows room of the Jackson County court-house from now on will be on horizontal bars or flying rings, according to Sheriff Granville A. Richter.

The sheriff announced that the room, which has been unused since the state adopted lethal gas for executing the death penalty, is to be converted into a gymnasium where deputies may remove that old avocation about the waistline.

Legion Will Organize Air Raid Warning

Meetings Have Been Arranged For Sunday In Strategic Locations By Observers

ASK CITIZENS TO COOPERATE

Fred M. Alexander, chairman of the Aircraft Warning Service which will be supervised by the Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion, has issued a call for all Chief Observers and assistants to get their posts organized on Sunday, following receipt of word from Brigadier General John C. McDermott, U.S.A., Commanding this service throughout the nation.

Chairman Alexander has issued an appeal for men and women living in this vicinity of these air raid warning stations to cooperate and to attend these meetings and volunteer their services so that a 24-hour service can be maintained when the call comes for manning these stations.

The Chief Observers and their assistants will meet at the Legion Home at 1:30 o'clock, and will proceed to these stations for the purpose of organizing residents of the community and giving instruction. Enrollment will take place from 2 to 3 o'clock, followed by a period of instruction from 3 to 4 o'clock.

The location of the observation posts where these meetings will take place, and the Chief Observers are as follows:

New Castle Field Club—Harold L. Sampson, Chief Observer.
Grant City Public School—Charles E. Allen, Chief Observer.

FORMER COMRADE OF "BILLY THE KID" DIES AT 85

(International News Service)
ROSWELL, N. M., Dec. 12.—The West lost its last link with one of the most stirring chapters in pioneer history recently in the death of George W. Coe, comrade of "Billy the Kid" and sole survivor of the bloody Lincoln County cattle war.

The veteran rancher died at Roswell at the age of 85 following an attack of pneumonia. He had been ill about a week.

Coe, a member of the powerful McQueen faction during the Lincoln county war (1878-1879), sided with "Billy the Kid" (William F. Bonney) and was associated with the notorious outlaw during many of his daring escapades. After the "Kid" was shot to death by Sheriff Pat Garrett to bring the war to a close, Coe laid down his arms at the request of Territorial Governor Lew Wallace, famed author of "Ben Hur", and had lived in peace at his Glendale, N. M., home ever since.

REPORT BOOM IN CLIPPER TRAVEL THROUGH MIAMI

(International News Service)
MIAMI, Fla.,—International air travel through Miami during 1941 already has exceeded that of 1940.

Clippers carried into and out of Miami during the first ten months of this year a total of 81,425 passengers, compared with 65,000 for the first ten months of 1940 and with 77,248 for the entire year of 1940.

Intensified defense activities and government work in the Southern Americas were considered largely responsible for the general growth in inter-American air travel. To meet those demands and in answer to stimulating of hemisphere trade and growing interests of tourists, schedules have been increased on all of Pan American Airways routes serving Latin America through the Miami gateway.

The present navy of the United States grew from two tiny ships, the Alfred and the Columbus, the first ships of the Colonial Navy.

BIRTHDAYS OF FAMOUS AMERICANS

(Compiled by Encyclopaedia Britannica)

DECEMBER 12
1745—John Jay, statesman and first Chief Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court at New York City. He was an influential member of the First and Second Continental Congresses, but was absent when the Declaration of Independence was signed. He was one of three commissioners who negotiated peace with Great Britain in 1782. President Washington appointed him Chief Justice in 1789.

1786—William Learned Marcy, statesman, at Southbury, Conn. After serving in the War of 1812, as a captain, he was a member of the U. S. Senate, governor of New York, secretary of war, and secretary of state. He issued a famous circular to American diplomatic agents abroad, recommending that, whenever practicable, they should "appear in the simple dress of an American citizen."

1804—Arthur Brisbane, newspaper editor and writer, at Buffalo, N. Y. His editorials, which for more than two decades appeared in all the Hearst newspapers, won him a national reputation.

Daily Dozen

(From the Medical Society at the State of Pennsylvania)

Boils will be boils. Which mean they may always prove serious. Boils are common on the back of the neck where the collar rubs. Collars catch atmospheric dirt that comes down from above. Drainage from a discharging boil is highly infectious. A pimple may be squeezed by the fingers. Pus from this sore is wiped on handkerchief or shirt. It may spread the infection to other parts of the body. Other members of the family may come in contact. It is not uncommon that several in a family have boils. Persons with boils may otherwise be in good physical condition. Boils are no respecters of age, sex or occupation.

The first step in leading public opinion, Mr. Roosevelt, is to catch up with it.

Gaston Post, American Legion, has issued a call for all Chief Observers and assistants to get their posts organized on Sunday, following receipt of word from Brigadier General John C. Enrollment will take place from 2 to 3 o'clock, followed by a period of instruction from 3 to 4 o'clock.

The location of these meeting places will take place, and the Chief Observers are as follows:

New Castle Field Club—Harold L. Sampson, Chief Observer.
Grant City Public School—Charles E. Allen, Chief Observer.
Hickory Heights School—J. Fred Sheppard, Chief Observer.
Plainsboro School—Ralph T. Jordan, Chief Observer.
Seventh Ward Fire Station—Orville Potter, Chief Observer.

FORMER COMRADE OF "BILLY THE KID" DIES AT 85

ROSWELL, N. M., Dec. 12.—The West lost its link with one of the most stirring chapters in pioneer history recently in the death of George W. Coe, comrade of "Billy the Kid" and sole survivor of the bloody Lincoln County cattle war.

The veteran rancher died at Roswell at the age of 85 following an attack of pneumonia. He had been ill about a week.

REPORT BOOM IN CLIPPER TRAVEL THROUGH MIAMI

MIAMI, Fla., —International air travel through Miami during 1941 already has exceeded that of 1940.

Clippers carried into and out of Miami during the first ten months of this year a total of 81,425 passengers, compared with 65,000 for the first ten months of 1940 and with 77,248 for the entire year of 1940.

Intensified defense activities and government work in the Southern Americas were considered largely responsible for the general growth in inter-American air travel. To meet those demands and in answer to stimulating of hemisphere trade and growing interests of tourists, schedules have been increased on all of Pan American Airways routes serving Latin America through the Miami gateway.

The present navy of the United States grew from two tiny ships, the Alfred and the Columbus, the first ships of the Colonial Navy.

BIRTHDAYS OF FAMOUS AMERICANS

DECEMBER 12
1745—John Jay, statesman and first Chief Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court at New York City. He was an influential member of the First and Second Continental Congresses, but was absent when the Declaration of Independence was signed. He was one of three commissioners, who negotiated peace with Great Britain in 1782. President Washington appointed him Chief Justice in 1789.

1786—William Learned Marcy, statesman, at Southbridge, Mass. After serving in the War of 1812, as a captain, he was a member of the U. S. Senate, governor of New York, secretary of war, and secretary of state. He issued a famous circular to American diplomatic agents abroad, recommending that, whenever practicable, they should "appear in the simple dress of an American citizen."

1864—Arthur Brisbane, newspaper editor and writer, at Buffalo, N. Y. His editorials, which for more than two decades appeared in all the Hearst newspapers, won him a national reputation.

Daily Dozen

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Boils will be boils. Which mean they may always prove serious. Boils are common on the back of the neck where the collar rubs. Collars catch atmospheric dirt that comes down from above. Drainage from a discharging boil is highly infectious. A pimple may be squeezed by the fingers. Pus from this sore is wiped on handkerchief or shirt. It may spread the infection to other parts of the body. Other members of the family may come in contact. It is not uncommon that several in a family have boils. Persons with boils may otherwise be in good physical condition. Boils are no respecters of age, sex or occupation. The first step in leading public opinion, Mr. Roosevelt, is to catch up with it.

Pennsylvania To Streamline Parole System

New Plan Will Be Placed In Operation Next

REDUCE CRIME

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Pa.—Pennsylvania today is preparing to inaugurate one of the most modern and streamlined systems of parole in the nation.

In an effort to reduce crime by providing for a more efficient plan of supervision over convicts freed from custody on good behavior, Gov. Arthur H. James will soon appoint a five-member board of parole whose duty it will be to place the plan in operation by June 1, 1942.

Establishment of the new system was approved by the General Assembly earlier this year and a $400,000 appropriation was voted to finance it during the present biennium. The five members of the new parole board will all receive $10,000 a year, with the exception of the chairman, who will receive $10,500. Board members will hold office for four years, except at the outset when three members will be named by the governor for four years and the remainder for two years.

Civil Service Personnel
With the exception of the board members and secretary, the new parole system will be made up entirely of civil service personnel. Appointments will be subject to competitive examinations supervised by Pennsylvania's new Civil Service Commission.

The present State Board of Pardons, composed of the Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of Internal Affairs, Attorney General and Secretary of the Commonwealth, will continue to handle capital and life imprisonment cases and retain the authority to reduce by commutation, minimum sentences in other cases.

The new board is empowered to exercise its powers after the expiration of the minimum term of imprisonment fixed by the court or by the pardon board in a sentence which has been reduced by commutation.

Additional Parole Powers
However, it will also have the power to grant paroles on its own motion, "whenever in its judgment the interests of justice require it." In any case, its jurisdiction does not extend to persons sentenced for maximum terms of less than two years in prison.

The new parole system will be administered by a general Director of Parole appointed by the board at a salary of $7,500 a year. The state is to be divided for administrative purposes into not more than 10 districts headed by district supervisors receiving $5,000 annual salaries.

A Hatch Law was written into the act setting up the system and under it employees are forbidden to participate actively in politics. A prohibition against accepting political contributions from employees was also made part of the new law.

Must Study All Prisoners
Once the new system is in operation, judges must henceforth furnish the board within 30 days after a maximum sentence of two years or more has been imposed a complete record of the case. The board in turn is obligated to make a study of the prisoner and his behavior during incarceration.

No paroles are to be granted or applications for parole dismissed by the board unless at least one member of the board has first seen the prisoner within a year prior to that.

The courts will still retain their authority to place persons convicted of a criminal offense, other than first degree murder, on probation and to parole without supervision of the board persons sentenced for less than one year.

The board's jurisdiction does not cover juvenile delinquents placed in state institutions, persons imprisoned in county jails and workhouses by magistrates, and those incarcerated in default of payment of a fine or bail.

DISPUTES OPINION

THAT PRESENT-DAY
YOUTH IS SOFT

(International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 12.—There's nothing to the current opinion that the youth of the land is soft and that they are not as fit as their fathers in 1917, according to Commander F. C. Hutton, personnel officer of the Ninth Naval district.

"The Navy is highly satisfied with the quality of men it has been getting," Commander Hutton said. "Most of this talk about America's boys being 'softies' is just more of the 'good old days' stuff."

A super man is not required to fly a Navy plane, according to Commander Hutton.

"Of course, Navy requirements are high, but any normal, healthy boy with the educational requirements and the will to work can do it."

Lambeth Folk Dance On Despite Nazi Air Attacks

By CHARLES A. SMITH

LONDON, Dec. 12.—They're still dancing down Lambeth Way. Any time you're Lambeth Way you can still see them "doing of the Lambeth Walk" in the crypt of a church. Homeless children strut it to an old piano there.

The Germans, who once banned the "Lambeth Walk" as "degenerate," have dropped bombs at both ends of the famous Lambeth Walk. But they don't seem to have broken the spirit of the street, quintessence of Cockney life.

A reporter from a London newspaper who toured the "Walk" found these Cockney sparrows as tough and as chirpy as ever.

Cockneys Wiserack Defiance
The costers shout their wares and their wiseracks just as they used to do. "Roll up—my windows ain't been blown out," yelled the Cockney proprietor of an open air sweet stall.

Sadie Jay, who has been selling frocks and coats to the "little Lambeth gals" for fifteen years, said: "They still come along for dance dresses. And you should see the women who've lost all they possess. They come in with a joke on their lips to ask for a coat to keep out the cold."

"You should have heard these people singing in the 'Feathers'—that the 'Walk's' famous local pub—that night when the bombs were dropping around and they were carrying the injured. There's still a big population in the streets and courts round here. Lots of them evacuated at the beginning of the war, but have now come back."

COURT'S SESSION

(International News Service)

NEW YORK—Court sessions frequently have been disrupted by collapsing witnesses or outbursts of spectators.

But an unprecedented stoppage of the wheels of justice occurred in Queens County Court when Judge Charles S. Golden called a halt in proceedings because of the gnawing of a mouse on a reporter's shoe.

The assistant district attorney found he could not concentrate on his legal trend of thought because of the strange noise. After a search the mouse was discovered devouring the reporter's shoe nibble-by-nibble. The diligent reporter was not aware of the mouse's presence.

So at the request of the attorney, a recess was called while two court attendants rounded up the offending mouse.

Fred Mattle Has All Commemorative Stamps Of Country

Albert Street Man Has One Of
Few Complete Collections
In Country

One of the few complete collections of United States commemorative postage stamps in the country has recently been completed by a local man, Fred W. Mattle, of 1610 Albert street.

From the first commemorative issue—The Columbian—right up to the most recent special stamp, Mr. Mattle has a set of each issue complete, and mostly in mint or unused condition.

This collection has not been put together in a day—in fact, Mattle has been gathering stamps since he was 10-years old. He is one of very few collectors who can say that they purchased the old time stamps—the ones that are most valuable now at face value.

Mr. Mattle relates how, as a newsboy of 10, he began his collection by buying the Columbian stamps at the local postoffice. Since that time, the Columbian stamps have doubled and redoubled in value many times until today they are the most valuable of the U. S. stamps.

As a safeguard against its loss, the local man carries an insurance policy on the collection.

Besides the actual value of the stamps, Mr. Mattle has devoted many hours to mounting and cataloging the stamps, in order that they may be intelligently viewed.

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 12.—A regular army private on sentry duty near the Hunt Armory in Emerson street, fired three shots at a motorist who failed to heed his command to halt early today.

Neither of the two occupants of the car, William Truxell, 22, a defense worker, and his wife, Wilma, 22, was injured by the whining bullets, however.

Two of the pellets lodged in the side of the car, while the third struck just above the windshield. Mrs. Truxell said they misunderstood what the sentry shouted at them, and when they attempted to back the car, the soldier opened fire.

They were released by the corporal in charge after questioning.

Navy Pilot Killed In Georgia Crash

COLLEGE PARK, Ga., Dec. 12.—At least one man was killed early today when a plane, tentatively identified as a Navy plane from Pensacola, Fla., crashed and burned on the College Park golf course.

The wreckage was scattered over a wide area, apparently by the explosion of the fuel tanks.

Only one body, badly burned, was found in the wreckage, but two parachutes, one unopened, were found at the scene.

But an unprecedented stoppage of the wheels of justice occurred in Queens County Court when Judge Charles S. Colden called a halt in proceedings because of the gnawing of a mouse on a reporter's shoe.

The assistant district attorney found he could not concentrate on his legal trend of thought because of the strange noise. After a search the mouse was discovered devouring the reporter's shoe nibble-by-nibble. The diligent reporter was not aware of the mouse's presence.

So at the request of the attorney, a recess was called while two court attendants rounded up the offending mouse.

Fred Mattle Has All Commemorative Stamps Of Country

Albert Street Man Has One Of
Few Complete Collections
In Country

One of the few complete collections of United States commemorative postage stamps in the country has recently been completed by a local man, Fred W. Mattle, of 1610 Albert street.

From the first commemorative issue—The Columbian—right up to the most recent special stamp, Mr. Mattle has a set of each issue complete, and mostly in mint or unused condition.

This collection has not been put together in a day—in fact, Mattle has been gathering stamps since he was 10-years old. He is one of very few collectors who can say that they purchased the old time stamps—the ones that are most valuable now at face value.

Mr. Mattle relates how, as a newsboy of 10, he began his collection by buying the Columbian stamps at the local postoffice. Since that time, the Columbian stamps have doubled and redoubled in value many times until today they are the most valuable of the U. S. stamps.

As a safeguard against its loss, the local man carries an insurance policy on the collection.

Besides the actual value of the stamps, Mr. Mattle has devoted many hours to mounting and cataloging the stamps, in order that they may be intelligently viewed.

The navy soon will begin construction on 1950 low-cost house units for married enlisted and civilian personnel.

The recoverable oil in the U. S. Navy's petroleum reserve No. 1 in Kern County, Calif., has been estimated at 600 million barrels.

Pittsburgh Sentry Fires On Motorists

Man And Wife Fail To Stop
When Challenged, Bullets
Do Not Hit Them

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 12.—A regular army private on sentry duty near the Hunt Armory in Emerson street, fired three shots at a motorist who failed to heed his command to halt early today.

Neither of the two occupants of the car, William Truxell, 22, a defense worker, and his wife, Wilma, 22, was injured by the whining bullets, however.

Two of the pellets lodged in the side of the car, while the third struck just above the windshield. Mrs. Truxell said they misunderstood what the sentry shouted at them, and when they attempted to back the car, the soldier opened fire.

They were released by the corporal in charge after questioning.

Navy Pilot Killed In Georgia Crash

(International News Service)
COLLEGE PARK, Ga., Dec. 12.—At least one man was killed early today when a plane, tentatively identified as a navy plane from Pensacola, Fla., crashed and burned on the College Park golf course.

The wreckage was scattered over a wide area, apparently by the explosion of the fuel tanks.

Only one body, badly burned, was found in the wreckage, but two parachutes, one unopened, were found at the scene.

Nature is against the timid man. When he gets enough liquor to speak his mind, he forgets his wrongs or his tongue won't work.

Palmer Asserts He's Innocent

Testifies In Trial Before
Federal Court In Pittsburgh

NOT IN HARRISVILLE IS HIS ASSERTION

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 11.—Kenneth Palmer, 32-year-old ex-convict of Volant, Pa., assumed the burden of his own defense today, stoutly maintaining his innocence of any connection with the Harrisville First National Bank robbery last September.

The case entered its fourth day today after the government rested its case on the testimony of Edward L. Boyle, special agent of the F.B.I. assigned to the bank robbery.

Boyle told the jury of 11 women and one man of his conversation with Palmer in the Ellwood City hospital where he was recovering from bullet wounds sustained in a gun battle which followed the hold-up.

After the government rested its case, the defense moved for a directed verdict of "not guilty," maintaining that the prosecution introduced only circumstantial evidence. The court overruled the motion and ordered the trial to proceed.

Palmer, leaning heavily on a cane as result of his wounds, then took the stand. He told of working in Detroit, of being injured there in an industrial accident and of driving Albert Pardo and Earl Everett, both killed in the gun battle, to New Castle.

"They borrowed my automobile there," he said, "and drove off, coming back for me about two hours later. We drove away from New Castle then and it was shortly afterwards that we got into the shooting scrape."

Palmer maintained he was not in Harrisville, did not participate in the holdup or the shooting, and in no way had knowledge of it until it was over.

(International News Service)
LONDON, Dec. 12.—Ten of Premier Churchill's choicest Havana cigars have been auctioned to help the drive for "Aid to Russia." Total receipts from the ten cigars and box reached $30.10 pounds—just over $2,600—auctioned by a man smoking the cheapest variety of English cigars.

WARN DEMOCRACY MAY DIE IN U. S. OF INDIFFERENCE

(International News Service)

WESTWOOD, Cal. — Democracy will die in America as it died in Athens, of indifference. Unless Americans are forced to adopt an intelligently critical attitude toward government, Dr. Gordon S. Watkins, dean of the College of Letters and Science and Professor of Economics at the University of California at Los Angeles, declared.

He warned "if the constant expansion of governmental agencies into the area of economic enterprise" is permitted to continue the republican tradition will die."

He said four points of danger in present day America are:

1. Increasing belief in "magic" powers of the government.
2. Increasing tendency of citizens to look to governmental agencies for financial support.
3. Indifference to unprecedented public debt and taxation.
4. Abandonment of the responsibilities of citizenship and political power to a relative few.

UNIQUE MANPOWER PROBLEM

(International News Service)
LONDON—King George VI. of England, is faced with a manpower problem. Normally there are scores of "attendants" who appear with him on all public engagements. The smallest unit, the equey, in pre-war days composed of six has now been reduced to two: the Hon-ourable Piers Leigh and the Hon-ourable Commander Harold Camp-bell.

"They borrowed my automobile there," he said, "and drove off, coming back for me about two hours later. We drove away from New Castle then and it was shortly afterwards that we got into the shooting scrape."

Palmer maintained he was not in Harrisville, did not participate in the holdup or the shooting, and in no way had knowledge of it until it was over.

WARN DEMOCRACY MAY DIE IN U. S. OF INDIFFERENCE

(International News Service)
WESTWOOD, Cal. — Democracy will die in America as it died in Athens, of indifference, unless Americans are forced to adopt an intelligently critical attitude toward government, Dr. Gordon S. Watkins, dean of the College of Letters and Science and Professor of Economics at the University of California at Los Angeles, declared.

He warned "if the constant expansion of governmental agencies into the area of economic enterprise" is permitted to continue the republican tradition will die.

He said four points of danger in present day America are:

1. Increasing belief in "magic" powers of the government.
2. Increasing tendency of citizens to look to governmental agencies for financial support.
3. Indifference to unprecedented public debt and taxation.
4. Abandonment of the responsibilities of citizenship and political power to a relative few.

UNIQUE MANPOWER PROBLEM
(International News Service)
LONDON—King George VI, of England, is faced with a manpower problem. Normally there are scores of "attendants" who appear with him on all public engagements. The smallest unit, the equerry, in pre-war days composed of six has now been reduced to two: the Honorable Piers Leigh and the Honorable Commander Harold Campbell.

War Supplies Reach Allies
By Six Routes

Lend-Lease Munitions Being Rushed To Fighting
Fronts In Europe
And Asia

AMERICAN AID IS KEPT MOVING

By JACK VINCENT
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The United States today is keeping an increasingly large stream of war supplies moving to Europe and Asia over at least six routes, while American military strategists prepare for any eventuality in World War II.

Munitions produced under the lend-lease program are being sent to Russia via the North Atlantic to Archangel and also are moving across the Pacific to the Soviet ports of Nagasaki and Petropavlovsk-Kamchatski near the Japanese "sphere of influence" in the Near East.

Other supplies are going to Russia via the Red Sea and Port Said, where some American freighters have been under attack. The same route is being used to get supplies to Turkey. Huge quantities of arms also being stored up in an unnamed depot in the Near East for reserves for the British army in the middle east and Turkey if the southern war front is opened.

Bombers Are Being Flown

Bombers, both of the heavy and medium type, are being flown to England and to English forces in Africa via both the North and South Atlantic. The South Atlantic route, it is reported, is becoming of increasing importance and forecasts a move by the British to clear that continent of all Axis forces.

In addition, convoys are moving quantities of supplies direct to England despite German submarine warfare. According to lend-lease experts, England already has enough food on hand to last it through the winter. The same is true of oil and aviation gasoline. Bottoms formerly used to ship food now are being converted into hauling actual war supplies. In the case of oil, Britain recently released some oil tankers to the U. S. Maritime Commission.

Attempts also are being made to open up still another route—Murmansk, only 50 miles from the Finnish border and an all year round port. The drive to use Murmansk was started when the State Department asked Finland to make peace with Russia.

Plan To Aid Turkey

Military strategists are making preparations to help both Turkey and that country breaks with Germany and the Dutch East Indies if Japan moves south. The Dutch, it is reported, have been buying a large number of medium U. S. bombers for offshore work against any fleet that might attempt to attack it. The long-range bombing would be left up to the United States or Britain since a move against the Netherlands East Indies by Japan would lead to a collision between Britain and the Japanese, and possibly force the United States to act.

U. S. fliers already have been "loaned" to China to set up an air school in the interior of that country to train young Chinese to become bomber pilots. China, which has received only comparatively small amounts of American supplies, is destined to receive much greater quantities, according to lend-lease officials.

Thus the United States influence is being exerted on all fronts—England, Africa, Turkey, Russia, China, Russia, it is reported, is beginning to receive larger numbers of American planes. The Soviet army has asked for attack bombers, interceptors and pursuit ships rather than medium or heavy bombers and deliveries are being made by the British via Archangel, according to American officials.

STEEPLEJACK AND JUDGE STRIKE UP HAPPY BARGAIN

(International News Service)

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah.—Salt Lake City recently through a deal made with a steeplejack who had unwisely mixed gasoline with apple-jack.

For weeks the city had been looking for a man to paint two police radio towers and a pair of flagpoles, but to no avail. The other day, a defendant named Herbert Carson appeared before Judge Frank E. Moss on a drunken driving charge and told the court he was a steeplejack.

The judge saw a solution to the problem. He agreed to suspend a $200 fine and a 90-day sentence imposed on Carson if the latter would paint the two radio towers. Carson agreed. That still left the flagpoles unpainted.

Judge Moss reminded Carson that there was another charge—driving a car without an operator's license. With the proviso that a $10 fine for that count also be suspended, Carson agreed to paint the poles.

To top it off, Carson told the court he would supply the paint; if the court would forget the matter of costs.

Shoe Repair Work

Use 30,000 Cowhides A Month
To Keep Soldiers
Shod

(International News Service)

FORT WORTH, Tex. — Every forty-five to sixty days cobblers throughout the nation use up the equivalent of over 60,000 cowhides in keeping Uncle Sam's boys on good footing.

These figures give a small picture of the amount of leather needed by the Army in keeping over a million men's "kickers" in good order.

One Texas firm, Peter Brothers, Fort Worth, said they alone have repaired more than 200,000 pairs of soldiers' shoes since the first of the year. The leather required was equivalent to 12,000 cowhides, the manager declared.

This firm has had $250,000 worth of shoe building contracts at Camp Bowie, Camp Barkeley, Camp Wallace, Fort Sill (Okla.), and Sheppard Field, Texas.

But the private repair shops will soon lose the soldier work, for the Army is installing its own shops at the camps, furnishing its own cobblers.

A letter from George Washington, declaring the lack of naval strength, was read in the Continental Congress, November 1, 1775, and the next day $100,000 was appropriated for a naval force.

Military Hospital Is Built In South Pacific Island

(International News Service)

SUVA, Fiji.—A new military hospital for use of New Zealand forces stationed in Fiji was recently completed on the heights of Tamavua, on a splendid elevation commanding a view of the reef and Lailaita bay.

Buildings consist of four ward blocks built fan-wise toward the sea, each 180 feet long, and the main ward in each block is divided into bays with six beds in each bay.

There are two operating theatres, also departments for X-ray equipment, plaster setting, massage and therapeutic treatment. Nurses' quarters are in an adjacent two-story building.

The buildings have been designed and arranged so they can readily be adapted for other purposes after the war. The hospital staff quarters and services have been erected by the Fiji Public Works department, under supervision by personnel secured from the 18th army troop company, New Zealand Engineers.

A POLICE STATION CAN BE A VERY INTERESTING PLACE

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Monday at the Miami Beach police station have a habit of not being gloomy. In fact, the boys around headquarters have started calling it "lucky Monday."

Jacken to a recent washday which was quite typical. The day's star prisoner, Johnny Knapper, 19, of Yonkers, N. Y., held for car theft, amazed officers by calmly eating three 38 caliber bullets.

While Desk Sergeant G. W. Owens watched the impromptu show, his telephone rang, and a feminine voice inquired: "What time does the police station close? And are you open on Sundays?"

But to top off the dizzy dimes Miami police Chief of Detectives E. D. Carpenter, and asked if Miami Beach police desired one Sam Dorsey, Negro, wanted on the beach for suspected car theft.

"Sure," replied Chief Carpenter. "I'll send an officer right over for him."

"Okay," the Miami policeman said. "You'll find his body in the morgue—he was just shot to death."

WARTIME DISPLAY WINDOWS

LONDON.—Wartime London. In the display window of one of London's West End shops there reads a sign:

"Glass and China covered." In a nearby antique shop—that shows evidence of some damage suffered more than the share of a bomb's attention—the owner has put up this notice:

"Fine specimen, early English, very rare George VI. price $12.50. (value $15.00) which specimen for sale sold half-price."

And the specimen is an onion. The bureau of yards and docks is charged with all that relates to the design, construction and repair and maintenance of the U. S. Navy's public works.

War Supplies Reach Allies By Six Routes

Lend-Lease Munitions Being Rushed To Fighting Fronts In Europe And Asia

AMERICAN AID IS KEPT MOVING

By JACK VINCENT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The United States today is keeping an increasingly large stream of war supplies moving to Europe and Asia over at least six routes, while American military strategists prepare for any eventuality in World War II.

Munitions produced under the lend-lease program are being sent to Russia via the North Atlantic to Archangel and also are moving across the Pacific to the Soviet ports of Nagayo and Petropavlovsk-Kamchatski near the Japanese "sphere of influence" in the Near East.

Other supplies are going to Russia via the Red Sea and Port Said, where some American freighters have been under air attack. The same route is being used to get supplies to Turkey. Huge quantities of arms also being stored up in an unnamed depot in the Near East, for reserves for the British army in the middle east and Turkey if the southern war front is opened.

Bombers Are Being Flown

Bombers, both of the heavy and medium type, are being flown to England and to English forces in Africa via both the North and South Atlantic. The South Atlantic route, it is reported, is becoming of increasing importance and forecasts a move by the British to clear that continent of all Axis forces.

In addition, convoys are moving quantities of supplies direct to England despite German submarine warfare. According to lend-lease experts, England already has enough food on hand to last it through the winter. The same is true of oil and aviation gasoline. Bottoms formerly used to ship food now are being converted into hauling actual war supplies. In the case of oil, Britain recently released some oil tankers to the U. S. Maritime Commission.

Attempts also are being made to open up still another route—Murmansk, only 50 miles from the Finnish border and an all year round port. The drive to use Murmansk was started when the State Department asked Finland to make peace with Russia.

Plan To Aid Turkey

Military strategists are making preparations to help both Turkey if that country breaks with Germany and the Dutch East Indies if Japan moves south. The Dutch, it is reported, have been buying a large number of medium U. S. bombers for offshore work against any fleet that might attempt to attack it. The long-range bombing would be left up to the United States or Britain since a move against the Netherlands East Indies by Japan would lead to a collision between Britain and the Nipponese, and possibly force the United States to act.

U. S. fliers already have been "loaned" to China to set up an air school in the interior of that country to train young Chinese to become bomber pilots. China, which has received only comparatively small amounts of American supplies, is destined to receive much greater quantities, according to lend-lease officials.

Thus, the United States influence in being exerted on all fronts—England, Africa, Turkey, Russia, China, Russia, it is reported, is beginning to receive larger numbers of American planes. The Soviet army has asked for attack bombers, interceptors and pursuit ships rather than medium or heavy bombers and deliveries are being made by the British via Archangel, according to American officials.

STEEPLEJACK AND JUDGE STRIKE UP HAPPY BARGAIN

(International News Service)
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—Salt Lake City saved its taxpayers a bit of jack recently through a deal made with a steeplejack who had unwisely mixed gasoline with applejack.

For weeks the city had been looking for a man to paint two police radio towers and a pair of flagpoles, but to no avail. The other day, a defendant named Herbert Carson appeared before Judge Frank E. Moos on a drunken driving charge and told the court he was a steeplejack.

The judge saw a solution to the problem. He agreed to suspend a $200 fine and a 90-day sentence imposed on Carson if the latter would paint the two radio towers. Carson agreed. That still left the flagpoles unpainted.

Judge Moos reminded Carson that there was another charge—driving a car without an operator's license. With the proviso that a $10 fine for that count also be suspended, Carson agreed to paint the poles.

To top it off, Carson told the court he would supply the paint if the court would forget the matter of costs.

Special Shops Set Up By Army For Shoe Repair Work

Use 30,000 Cowhides A Month To Keep Soldiers Shod

(International News Service)

FORT WORTH, Tex. — Every forty-five to sixty days cobblers throughout the nation use up the equivalent of over 60,000 cowhides in keeping Uncle Sam's boys on good footing.

These figures give a small picture of the amount of leather needed by the Army in keeping over a million men's "kickers" in good order.

One Texas firm, Peter Brothers, Fort Worth, said they alone have repaired more than 200,000 pairs of soldiers' shoes since the first of the year. The leather required was equivalent to 12,000 cowhides, the manager declared.

This firm has had $250,000 worth of shoe building contracts at Camp Bowie, Camp Barkeley, Camp Wallace, Fort Sill (Okla.), and Sheppard Field, Texas.

But the private repair shops will soon lose the soldier work: for the Army is installing its own shops at all the camps, furnishing its own cobblers.

A letter from George Washington, deploring the lack of naval strength was read in the Continental Congress, November 1, 1775, and the next day $100,000 was appropriated for a naval force.

Military Hospital Is Built In South Pacific Island

(International News Service)

SUVU, Fiji—A new military hospital for use of New Zealand forces stationed in Fiji was recently completed on the heights of Tamavua, on a splendid elevation commanding a view of the reef and Laucaia bay.

Buildings consist of four ward blocks built fan-wise toward the sea, each 180 feet long, and the main ward in each block is divided into bays with six beds in each bay.

There are two operating theatres, also departments for X-ray equipment, plaster setting, massage and therapeutic treatment. Nurses' quarters are in an adjacent two-story building.

The buildings have been designed and arranged so they can readily be adapted for other purposes after the war. The hospital staff quarters and services have been erected by the Fiji Public Works department, under supervision by personnel secured from the 18th army troop company, New Zealand Engineers.

A POLICE STATION CAN BE A VERY INTERESTING PLACE

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Monday at the Miami Beach police station have a habit of not being gloomy. In fact, the boys around headquarters have started calling it "goofy Monday."

Harken to a recent washday which was quite typical. The day's star prisoner, Johnny

Knapper, 19, of Yonkers, N. Y., held for car theft, amazed officers by calmly eating three 38 caliber bullets.

While Desk Sergeant G. W. Owens watched the impromptu floorshow, his telephone rang, and a feminine voice inquired:

"What time does the police station close? And are you open on Sundays?"

But to top off the dizzy doings Miami police called Chief of Detectives E. D. Carpenter, and asked if Miami Beach police desired one Sam Dorsey, Negro, wanted on the beach for suspected car theft.

"Sure," replied Chief Carpenter. "I'll send an officer right over for him."

"Okay," the Miami policeman said. "You'll find his body in the morgue—he was just shot to death."

Some new system is inevitable. When machines do all the work, idle people can't earn money to buy what the machines make.

WARTIME DISPLAY WINDOWS

(International News Service)
LONDON—Wartime London: In the display window of one of London's West End shops there reads a sign:

"Glass and China riveted." In a nearby antique shop—that shows evidence of once having suffered more than its share of a bomb's attention—the owner has put up this notice:

"Fine specimen, early English, very rare George VI, price £12.6 (nearly $15), or would exchange for solid gold half-hunter."

And the specimen is an onion.

The bureau of yards and docks is charged with all that relates to the design, construction and repair and maintenance of the U. S. Navy's public works.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 12.—Republican House are blaming U. S. Sen. Joseph P. Guffey for the failure of the legislative congressional reapportionment committee to reach an agreement on redistricting the state. They say that at one of the meetings held recently by the bipartisan committee an agreement was reached to reshuffle some of the counties of southwestern Pennsylvania. The next day, however, the Democrats disagreed and unity flew out the window again. The Republicans contend that everything was settled until Pennsylvania's Democratic senator spoke against the plan.

That's the Republican version of what happened. The Democratic one is different. They say that on the day following the previous night's meeting at which the agreement is supposed to have been reached the conferees "even disagreed over what plans they had discussed." Disinterested observers feel that the plan will be approved by either side unless it occurs with the approval of the leaders of the respective parties. That is one of the reasons why the Republican senate refused to accept the Democratic Achenbach plan. Although the Wade plan approved by the senate never had a chance in the house, the Achenbach plan came within a few votes of being passed by the senate.

The "sub-national rumor mill" on Capitol hill continues to grind away. This time comes the report that Graybill Diehm, Republican chairman of Lancaster county, is being spoken of by T. Dunaway, just former Montgomery Pinchot leader, as the type of man needed by the C. O. P. for governor. Dunaway supported former Gov. Clifford Pinchot in his bid for a third nomination and has never been forgiven by the James administration. The amount of patronage received by the Lancaster county organization during the incumbency of the present governor has been null, but he has nevertheless managed to do all right.

A report without sound political foundation is waited capitolward from Pittsburgh. It is to the effect that: Republicans there are boosting Charles Graham for lieutenant governor on a ticket with U. S. Sen. James J. Davis for governor. Graham has already denied he has any gubernatorial ambitions. From the political standpoint, the two top Republican candidates on a ticket are never picked from the same part of the state.
Auditor General F. Clair Ross is now vacationing in Florida where he is recuperating from an attack of intestinal flu. The Democratic leader is expected to return in ample time for the gubernatorial campaign which should soon become activated. Ross is an unofficially avowed candidate for the Democratic nomination and is said to hold the backing of Democratic National Committeeman David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh. Opposing him is Senator Guffey.

Fire-Fighting Forces Formed

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 12.—The state council of defense today disclosed that plans are underway to organize auxiliary fire-fighting forces throughout the state to aid regular firemen during emergencies. Charles E. Clark, of Wayne, secretary of the State Firemen's Association, has been appointed chief fire warden.

CALLS SINGAPORE VITAL LINK IN U. S. FOREIGN POLICY

(International News Service)
WESTWOOD, Cal.—The United States Navy will be used to protect Singapore if necessary because Singapore has four vital functions in the American scheme of foreign policy.
This was the conclusion of Dr. H. Arthur Seiner, associate professor of political science at the University of California at Los Angeles, after a 20,000 mile tour of the Orient.
He said the British already have "prepared Singapore for eventual use by the American Navy," and explained the United States is ready to act to protect Singapore.

CAPT. MITCHELL BECOMES MAJOR

New Castle Artillery Officer Is Promoted To Higher Army Post

By JOHN BALL
(Special News Correspondent)
CAMP SHELBY, Miss., Dec. 6—Good news of his new advancement to a major artillery reached Captain George F. Mitchell this week as he laid breakfast at the Camp hospital, recovering from a recent amputation.

The War Department's order appointing the New Castle senior officer received at the 190th Field Artillery headquarters was presented by Colonel Samuel B. Wolfe, regimental commander at the major's bedside.

Major Mitchell, formerly commanding officer of the local battery "F" is now in command of the 2nd Battalion of which F Battery is a unit.

Last reports indicate that Major Mitchell was recovering favorably and anticipated his release from the hospital within a week.

Mrs. Roosevelt Replies To Hitler

Says She Has No Desire To Live In World Such As He Would Create

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, replying to Adolf Hitler Thursday declared she has no desire to live in a world such as he would create.

Arriving in San Francisco by train from Los Angeles in connection with her duties as assistant national director of defense, Mrs. Roosevelt was asked to comment on Hitler's speech in Berlin in which he attacked her "for refusing to live in a world as we national Socialists know it."

"I have no desire to live in a world such as Hitler created," was Mrs. Roosevelt's reply.
Mrs. Roosevelt upon her arrival was aware that Germany had declared war on the United States and we upon Germany.
"I don't think it changes the situation very much," she commented.
Mrs. Roosevelt, who wore black cotton stockings, was to meet with defense council officials of the San Francisco Bay District. She said the Los Angeles blackout Wednesday night was her "first blackout."

She described it as "a pretty good blackout."
Asked what she thought of the lines of men enlisting for army and navy service since Sunday's Japanese bombing of Honolulu, she replied:
"That is the way Americans usually react."
She advised the women of America to "go on with your job whatever it is and do whatever else you are asked to do."

Correspondents Held In Germany

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—The State department announced today word from Berlin had been received that American correspondents in Germany "are safe and well in a Villa at Wannsee" and would be released from custody as soon as information had been received that German newspaper correspondents in the United States had been released.

This information, the department said, was in a telegram from the American Charge d'Affaires in Berlin. The American official said that word to this effect had been received from an official of the German propaganda ministry.
Wannsee is in suburban Berlin.

Man Turns Lawyer, Gains His Freedom

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 12.—Milburn Dickey, of Josephine, Pa., studied law books during his imprisonment at Western Penitentiary and Thursday proved, citing superior court decisions that he had been illegally sentenced.
Dickey had been sentenced for a term of three to 10 years for forgery by Judge J. N. Langham, of Indiana, in 1930, and contended it was five years too long. He instituted habeas corpus proceedings, without a lawyer, and Judge W. Heber Ditchrich ordered his release.

Call Is Issued For 10,000 Nurses

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—The War Department Thursday issued a call for 10,000 nurses to fill existing vacancies in the immediate future.
Maj. Gen. James C. Magee, surgeon general issued the call for both regular army nurses and reserve nurses.

"Now that war has become a grim reality, the need of the armed forces cannot fail to become more acute," he said.

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 12.—Republicans are blaming U. S. Sen. Joseph P. Guffey for the failure of the legislative congressional reapportionment committee to reach an agreement on redistricting the state. They say that at one of the meetings held recently by the bi-partisan committee an agreement was reached to reshuffle some of the counties of southwestern Pennsylvania. The next day, however, the Democrats disagreed and unity flew out the window again. The Republicans contend that everything was settled until Pennsylvania's Democratic senator spoke against the plan.

That's the Republican version of what happened. The Democratic one is different. They say that on the day following the previous night's meeting at which the agreement is supposed to have been reached the conferees "even disagreed over what plans they had discussed." Disinterested observers feel that no plan will be approved by either side unless it meets with the approval of the leaders of the respective parties. That is one of the reasons why the Republican senate refused to accept the Democratic Acherman plan. Although the Wade plan approved by the senate never had a chance in the house, the Acherman plan came within a few votes of being passed by the senate.

The "gubernatorial rumor mill" on Capitol hill continues to grind away. This time comes the report that Graybiel Diehm, Republican chairman of Lancaster county, is being spoken of by T. Duncan Just, former Montgomery Pinchot leader, as the type of man needed by the G. O. P. for governor. Diehm supported former Gov. Clifford Pinchot in his bid for a third nomination and has never been forgiven by the James administration. The amount of patronage received by the Lancaster county organization during the incumbency of the present governor has been nil, but he has nevertheless managed to do all right.

A report without sound political foundation is wafted capitolward from Pittsburgh. It is to the effect that Republicans there are boosting Charles Graham for lieutenant governor on a ticket with U. S. Sen. James J. Davis for governor. Graham has already denied he has any gubernatorial ambitions. From the political standpoint, the two top-most candidates on a ticket are never picked from the same part of the state.

Auditor General P. Clair Ross is now vacationing in Florida where he is recuperating from an attack of intestinal flu. The Democratic leader is expected to return in ample time for the gubernatorial campaign which should soon become activated. Ross is an unofficially-avowed candidate for the Democratic nomination and is said to hold the backing of Democratic National Committeeman David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh. Opposing him is Senator Guffey.

Fire-Fighting Forces Formed

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 12.—The state council of defense today disclosed that plans are underway to organize auxiliary fire-fighting forces throughout the state to aid regular firemen during emergencies. Charles E. Clark, of Wayne, secretary of the State Firemen's Association, has been appointed chief fire warden.

CALLS SINGAPORE VITAL LINK IN U. S. FOREIGN POLICY

(International News Service)
WESTWOOD, Cal.—The United States Navy will be used to protect Singapore if necessary because Singapore has four vital functions in the American scheme of foreign policy.

This was the conclusion of Dr. H. Arthur Steiner, associate professor of political science at the University of California at Los Angeles, after a 20,000 mile tour of the Orient. He said the British already have "prepared Singapore for eventual use by the American Navy," and explained the United States is ready to act to protect Singapore.

CAPT. MITCHELL BECOMES MAJOR

(Special News Correspondent)
CAMP SHELBY, Miss., Dec. 6.—Good news of his new advancement to a major artillery reached Captain George F. Mitchell this week as he laid bedfast at the Camp hospital, recovering from a recent appendectomy.

The War Department's order appointing the New Castle senior officer received at the 190th Field Artillery headquarters was presented by Colonel Samuel B. Wolfe, regimental commander at the major's bedside.

Major Mitchell, formerly commanding officer of the local battery "F" is now in command of the 2nd Battalion of which F Battery is a unit.

Last reports indicate that Major Mitchell was recovering favorably and anticipated his release from the hospital within a week.

Mrs. Roosevelt Replies To Hitler

Says She Has No Desire To Live In World Such As He Would Create

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, replying to Adolf Hitler Thursday declared she has no desire to live in a world such as he would create.

Arriving in San Francisco by train from Los Angeles in connection with her duties as assistant national director of defense, Mrs. Roosevelt was asked to comment on Hitler's speech in Berlin in which he attacked her "for refusing to live in a world as our National Socialists know it."

"I have no desire to live in a world such as Hitler created," was Mrs. Roosevelt's reply.

Mrs. Roosevelt upon her arrival was aware that Germany had declared war on the United States and we upon Germany.

"I don't think it changes the situation very much," she commented. Mrs. Roosevelt, who wore black cotton stockings, was to meet with defense council officials of the San Francisco Bay District. She said the Los Angeles blackout Wednesday night was her "first blackout." She described it as "a pretty good blackout."

Asked what she thought of the lines of men enlisting for army and navy service since Sunday's Japanese bombing of Honolulu, she replied:

"That is the way Americans usually react." She advised the women of America to "go on with your job whatever it is and do whatever else you are asked to do."

Correspondents Held In Germany

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—The State department announced today word from Berlin had been received that American correspondents in Germany "are safe and well in a Villa at Wannsee" and would be released from custody as soon as information had been received that German newspaper correspondents in the United States had been released.

This information, the department said, was in a telegram from the American Charge D'Affaires in Berlin. The American official said that word to this effect had been received from an official of the German propaganda ministry. Wannsee is in suburban Berlin.

Man Turns Lawyer, Gains His Freedom

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 12.—Mildred Dickey, of Josephine, Pa., studied law books during his imprisonment at Western Penitentiary and Thursday proved, citing superior court decisions that he had been illegally sentenced.

Dickey had been sentenced for a term of three to 10 years for forgery by Judge J. N. Langham, of Indiana, in 1930, and contended it was five years too long. He instituted habeas corpus proceedings, without a lawyer, and Judge W. Heber Dittich ordered his release.

Call Is Issued For 10,000 Nurses

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—The War Department Thursday issued a call for 10,000 nurses to fill existing vacancies in the immediate future.

Maj. Gen. James C. Magee, surgeon general issued the call for both regular army nurses and reserve nurses.

"Now that war has become a grim reality, the need of the armed forces cannot fail to become more acute," he said.

Shenango Pottery Announces Bonus

All Employees Over One Year
In Service To Share In 1941 Profits

In a statement today, James M. Smith, Jr., vice president of the Shenango Pottery, announced a profit sharing plan for employees which will give every employee who has served more than one year a bonus for Christmas. The bonus will amount to ten dollars per year for the first two years worked by an employee and five dollars per year for each year thereafter, up to a maximum of ten years.

Employees who have left for service with the armed forces of the United States are included in the plan and their checks will be mailed to their military address.

Today each employee received a copy of the following letter:

We are very glad to be able to announce a 1941 wage bonus for all employees who have been with us for more than one year. This bonus is figured at a rate of ten dollars for each of your first two full years of continuous service, plus five dollars for each additional year up to ten years, plus your prepaid social security tax. If you feel that there has been any mistake made in figuring your bonus, please report to the payroll office.

For your information, the same bonuses are being sent to all employees who went directly from here into the armed services of the United States.

Best wishes for 1942 do not mean much today, for we are now in our most dangerous war, and the outlook is far from happy. However, if each one of us does just a little bit more than his part, we can win. You can help by using all or part of this check to buy defense bonds.

Very truly yours,

Army Recruiting May End Soon Says Sergeant Tighe

Men Not Desiring To Enter Air Corps Accepted For General Service Now

Men wishing to enlist in the air corps, are urged to do so this week, as there is a great possibility that recruiting service may be terminated by the United States Army, Sergeant Owen Tighe stated today, following receipt of the latest recruiting orders from the Pittsburgh recruiting office, headquarters for the local area.

In fact, men enlisting now, who do not wish to enter the air corps, are being accepted for general service only, and must go into the branch of service that the Army authorities specify, just as the selective service men now do, he stated further.

In the event that the recruiting offices are closed, men will be inducted into the service through the Selective Service boards.

Those enlisting now must sign up for the duration of the war, plus an additional six months.

According to Captain Andersen, this meeting will be open to the public and anyone may try for a Bible.

MARION GOODWIN IS IN ATLANTIC FLEET

According to word received by Mrs. Frank Boren of Wampum-New Galilee road, her son, Marion L. Goodwin, is now serving with the Atlantic fleet as first class gunner aboard the U. S. S. Nashville.

The letter stated that the local youth is well and safe. He enlisted in the navy in January, 1939, and was assigned to the Pacific fleet and has spent three months each at the islands of the Philippine and Hawaiian group and at Midway.

In all of his travels, Mrs. Boren states The New Castle News has followed him and has been a welcome companion.

If we didn't exaggerate, people would be deceived. "The car turned over twice" may be true, but it fools people who have learned to deduct three turns.

Bessemer Police Chief Favors Sale Of Christmas Seals

Archie A. Shoup Tells Of Work Done By Funds Raised By Seal Campaign

In urging the support of every citizen in the current drive for the sale of Christmas Seals, being carried on by the Lawrence County Tuberculosis Society, Archie A. Shoup, chief of police for Bessemer, made the following statement:

"Tuberculosis can be prevented. What can we do to protect ourselves and the children of our households against the disease which still kills more persons between the ages of 15 and 45 than any other?"

"Tuberculosis comes from tuberculosis. Exposure to persons who are grossly infected must be prevented. But how to find those persons? Only by a thorough medical examination of the family, especially for the growing children, can we be sure there is no such exposure taking place.

"Our family physicians should be our counselors in health and their friendly advice will aid in prolonging life. Every member of our family should get such an examination every year. The seeds of tuberculosis are scattered throughout the population. People can transmit it before they even know they have it. To wait for the development of outright symptoms may be too late. This is the crux of the theoretical knowledge which I ask you to make practical by annual health examinations of your entire family.

"There are a great many different instruments at work in public health for the control of tuberculosis. There are sanatoria and clinics; there are improvements in the X-ray which make early diagnosis more certain; there is the tuberculin test which screens out from large groups those who are infected and should be carefully studied and watched. There is the little Christmas Seal, raising money to support the work of more than 1,600 tuberculosis associations throughout the country. Their aim is to make available to all the people the knowledge which is abundantly at hand, sufficient in extent to solve the problem of this disease if used by everyone.

"When you buy and use Christmas Seals you become a partner in a campaign for health and happiness for all. Indeed, your Christmas Seals help to make this a winning campaign."

World War Draft Records Discarded

Old Records Destroyed In Answer To Need For Office Space

By WILLIAM L. UMSTEAD
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—A frenzied search for office space in the crowded nation's capital recently resulted in the destruction of 21 million World War I draft folders, containing the records of Americans who registered but were not inducted into the armed services in 1917-1918.

Uncle Sam undertook the big destruction job of removing the mementos of the war against Kaiser Wilhelm to make room for a new war department building.

After the World War, 24,500,000 cover sheets, bearing the records of drafted men were brought to Washington from the various states and stored in the Army War College. It required 20,000 four-drawer filing cabinets to hold the veritable mountain of records. These cabinets occupied seven large buildings.

In place of a row, the filing cabinets would stretch 50 miles or if grouped together would cover ten acres.

Guam Governor, Reported Taken, Is Related Here

George McMillin Is Cousin Of Assistant City Mechanic M. L. McMillin

George McMillin, governor of Guam, who was reported yesterday to have been taken prisoner by the Japs along with the naval detachment of the island, comes from a pioneer Lawrence county family, and is a cousin of assistant city mechanic M. L. McMillin, of Newshamock avenue.

His father, Charles McMillin, was born at old Big Run Falls, but moved to Youngstown, O., when a young man, and it was here that Governor McMillin was born. He has a number of other relatives in the county in addition to M. L. McMillin.

He is a veteran of the World War, having served with the naval service during the first great conflict with Germany and her allies.

Coast Attacks On U. S. Likely

So Declares Pierre J. Huss
Who Recently Returned From Berlin

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—Hitler's declaration of war on the United States carried with it simultaneously orders to his submarines, surface naval craft and Luftwaffe to strike on sight and blitz everything American.

I know that for a fact after eight years in Berlin covering the Fuehrer's trail. He never does anything by halves and each declaration of major importance like the war on us has been followed in the past or mostly preceded by action long prepared before the blow. It can be taken for granted that his military forces were lined up and ready weeks before Japan struck, so that it is merely a question of time and opportunity before the first clash between the military spearheads of Germany and America.

U-boats by the dozen, in large and small tonnage, have been rolling into service off numerous assembly plants within the Reich since Roosevelt's re-election, when Hitler came to the conclusion that he and Roosevelt had a war to fight. Ten per cent might be an underestimate but not too high. Probably half of these are capable of long-distance service, refitted and motored by shadow ships out on the ocean. Those submarines not only are apt to show in the Pacific to help Japan sink warships like the Prince of Wales but sooner or later are going to appear right off the American shores, snatching their deadly loads at ships over here. Every lane between here and England will be with them, instructed and ordered by Hitler to attempt to rip us wide open even at the sacrifice of the U-boat and men. That is the way he works, fair or foul.

String Quartet Pleases Crowd

Program Presented As Part Of Metropolitan Concert
Guild Course

Five young men, instrumentalists, lifted a crowd of New Castle citizens from the worries of war to the Elysian fields of musical delight, for a time Thursday night when the Metropolitan Concert Guild presented its second number of the season. The Curtis String Quartet and Abram Chasins, pianist, presented a program of chamber music and piano numbers that were sheer delight.

It has been years since a chamber music four has played in New Castle, but the Curtis Quartet made up in part the omission from programs of such type of music. Two violins, a first and second, a viola and cello composed the quartet and they played together like some four part instrument.

The program was in three sections. In the first the quartet played Dohnanyi's "Quartet" in D Flat Major, P.15 in three movements. It was rich musical fare, packed with the vitamins of musical perfection, if we might borrow from the field of food chemistry but throughout the quartet displayed an artistry and a workmanship that comes only from gifted and hard working musicians.

Mr. Chasins had the second division of the program and played three numbers. He opened with a melody by Gluck-Chasins, followed with Chopin's "Impromptu in F Sharp Major" and closed with Mendelssohn's "Variations Series, Op. 34."

The three numbers were his announced program but the audience insisted upon more and he played almost another program as encores, finishing with his own composition, "Rush Hour in Hong Kong". Chasins plays with fire and zeal, with intelligence and discrimination. He is a true artist and a discerning one. The closing group was a quintet in which the quartet and Mr. Chasins joined. The number was Brahms' "Piano Quintet in F Minor, Op. 34" in four movements. It was a grand closing to an evening of artistry and with regret the audience finally allowed the artists to leave the platform.

SGT. CHARLES SNYDER TAKING AIR COURSE

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Snyder, of 123 Hillcrest avenue, that their son, Sgt. Charles Snyder, has been sent from Bowman Field, at Louisville, Ky., to Lowry Field, Denver, Colo., where he will take an advanced course in aerial photography.

He is a graduate of Lowry Field, and of late has been instructor in chemistry at Bowman Field, his home base. He was the only one from Bowman Field selected to take this advanced technical course.

Bootleg Coal Industry Wanes

Depression-Born Illegal Business Hit By Quota Production Plan Of James

HARD COAL FIELD LAWS EFFECTIVE

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Dec. 12.—The depression-born "bootleg" hard coal industry that once produced more than 5,000,000 tons of anthracite annually is on the wane in Pennsylvania.

Estimates of mining officials indicate that production valued at approximately $20,000,000 in depression years, has been slashed almost in half with a corresponding decline in employment.

As rapidly as one illegal hole closes, authorities make certain it will not be re-opened. In 1940 Gov. Arthur H. James inaugurated the quota production plan to level the output and later saw it enacted into law with provisions for legitimate mines to absorb free-lance miners and the formerly illegal yield of coal holes.

At one time there were 10,041 working in 3006 bootleg mines producing more than 5,000,000 tons a year as compared with the 50,000,000 tons marketed by legitimate companies. Earning from $3 to $4 daily, they supported approximately 30,000 wives and children.

Dump trucks hauled the coal, illegally mined on property owned by the big operators, to 348 bootleg breakers—valued at more than $1780 each—for processing. Two thousand trucks hauled the coal to outlets in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland.

While during depression years residents of the hard coal region generally were sympathetic to the efforts of out-of-work miners to eke out a living from mining near-surface coal on company property, conditions brought about the gradual reduction of bootleg mining.

They included ordinances in Pennsylvania and nearby states outlawing illegally mined coal; a tardy stand by the U.M.W.A. against bootleg operations; resentment by the miners against so-called "foreign capital" being sent into the lower anthracite fields to construct breakers and set-up equipment in order to engage in the industry; cooperation between the U.M.W.A., the state and the legitimate operators in the emergency program; and the departure of hundreds of miners from the coal regions for army service or for jobs in the defense industries.

A further burden upon bootleg coal trucks was imposed by the shortweight coal law enacted by Gov. Arthur H. James. The law, administered by the department of internal affairs, makes it mandatory for the trucker to obtain a certified weighmaster's certificate testifying that the consumer will get full weight.

FORMER RESIDENT IMPROVED

Californian Would Form Guerilla Units

Would Form Rejected Men Into Branch Of State Guard

(International News Service)

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—Citing the effectiveness of guerrilla warfare, Edgar Watson of San Francisco has suggested such units reorganized in California as a branch of the State Guard, to include persons not eligible for enlistment in armed forces. "Men rejected because they cannot meet weight, height or other minor technical requirements," Watson said in a letter to Governor Culbert L. Olson "want to serve the state in some more actively militant way than as fire wardens or airplane spotters."

"Probably you will agree," he said, "at least 25 per cent of Russia's stubborn resistance has been due to citizen guerrilla warfare. I would like to suggest the formation of a civilian arm of the State Guard to be named the California State Emergency Corps."

In explaining the plan, Watson suggested the corps be divided into two departments—the guerrilla division and the intelligence division.

No Drilling Required

Men would not be required to drill for the guerrilla division, he said, but would be taught to shoot expertly with rifles bearing telescopic sights, make land mines and traps from odds and ends available in the vicinity; block highways; back-fire wooded areas; render materials, food, water and structures useless to the enemy; steal and destroy cars, trucks, motorcycles, tanks and planes; tap telephone lines; board ships and fire or bomb them. They would also be taught to memorize the terrain of their station until they could cover it swiftly in the dark.

Woman Member Of Congress Votes For War Action

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Rep. Jeannette Rankin (R) of Montana, who voted against American entrance into the first World War and against the declaration of war against Japan on Monday, on Thursday was applauded by the House when she merely voted "present" on the war resolutions naming Germany and Italy.

By her move, she made the votes of both Houses of Congress unanimous in including Germany and Italy in this country's war against Japan. She received scattered applause when on Monday she had been hissed on the House floor for voting against the declaration against Japan.

New Draft Quota Expected In State

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 12.—A survey of state selective service headquarters revealed today that 66,144 Pennsylvanians were inducted into the army as of Dec. 1.

Acting Selective Service Director Col. B. F. Evans also announced that 76,767 men were registered 1-A of Nov. 20, and subject to immediate call to arms.

Pennsylvania's new gross quota is expected to come from national draft headquarters within the next two weeks, Col. Evans added. The state's present gross quota is 191,742 men.

In order to draw selectees from all 422 local boards, present net quotas will be disregarded and calls will be based on the number of 1-A registrants available in each local board. Following receipt of the new gross quota, the system will revert back to the quota plan.

VEGETABLE CLUBS AID FAMILY FOOD SUPPLY

A partial summary of records shows that in 4-H sweet corn clubs where each member planted two pounds of seed, an average of 24 dozens were used by the family and 35 dozens were sold giving a net return of $13.05 per member for corn sold. In 4-H tomato clubs with 50 to 100 plants, an average per member of 404 pounds were used by the family and 864 pounds sold. This made a net return of $15.20 for each 4-H club member for tomatoes sold.

PRODUCING CLEAN EGGS
CUTS LABOR BILL

Many poultrymen today practice the use of the "built-up" or "deep" litter which insures dry litter conditions the year around and represents a great saving in labor and cost of litter material, to say nothing of its effect on the soiled egg problem. Straw is most commonly used for this purpose because it is most readily available. Shavings, sawdust, and hulls and excelsior produce less dirty eggs than other materials when used as nest litter. Earthen gathering in the morning, than some folks practice is important, since there is greater soiling of morning laid eggs by droppings deposited in the nests. In extremely cold weather more frequent gathering will prevent eggs cracking or freezing in the hen house.

SPREAD CHRISTMAS CHEER WITH COLOR

Now is the time to plan for those holiday decorations. Christmas decorations for the home are one expression of that deep current of Christmas spirit that we sense in every American this year.

Belonging to this festive occasion
the Christmas tree, the wreath, the festoon, the star, the candle, and the cross.

The use of these have rescended to from ancient festivals and celebrations, reminds Miss Boneita Gordon, "the economics extension representative of the Lawrence County Agricultural Extension Association. Colors associated with the Christmas season are the green of holly leaves and trees, the red and gold of warm fires, the white of snow, the blue of cold winter skies, and silver reminding us of moonlight and stars. We select these colors that contrast with the background against which our decorations are to be placed.

There's a wealth of materials from which to make holiday decorations. Available materials are evergreens and their cones, red berries, seed pods, and dried grasses. These can be procured from the woods, the home garden, or the florist. They are best used in their natural state, although variation or accent grasses, pods, and pine sprigs that have been dyed or whitened with paint are

For a new inter-burn candles, use old tin cans. To be bathed with sprigs of holly on a sparkling glass mirror is an unforgettable place. A few red berries can be put with the green. Coast Attacks On U. S. Likely

So Declares Pierre J. Huss Who Recently Returned From Berlin

By PIERRE J. HUSS, International News Service Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—Hitler's declaration of war on the United States carried with it simultaneously orders to his submarines, surface naval craft and Luftwaffe to strike on sight and blitz everything American.

I know that for a fact after eight years in Berlin covering the Fuehrer's trail. He never does anything by halves and each declaration of major importance like the war on us has been followed in the past or mostly preceded by action long prepared before the blow. It can be taken for granted that his military forces were lined up and ready weeks before Japan struck, so that it is merely a question of time and opportunity before the first clash between the military spearheads of Germany and America.

U-boats by the dozen, in large and small tonnage, have been rolling into service off numerous assembly plants within the Reich since Roosevelt's declaration when Hitler came to the conclusion that he and Roosevelt had a war to fight. Ten per cent might be an underestimate but not too high. Probably half of these are capable of long-distance service, refitted and mothered by shadow ships out on the ocean. Those submarines not only are apt to show in the Pacific to help Japan sink warships like the Prince of Wales but ships or later are going to appear right off the American shores, snapping their deadly loads at ships over here. Every lane between here and England will team with them, instructed and ordered by Hitler to attempt to rip us wide open even at the sacrifice of the U-boat and men. That is the way he works, fair or foul.

String Quartet Pleases Crowd

Program Presented As Part Of Metropolitan Concert Guild Course

Five young men, instrumentalists, lifted a crowd of New Castle citizens from the varieties of war to the Elysian fields of musical delight, for a time Thursday night when the Metropolitan Concert Guild presented its second number of the season. The Curtis String Quartet and Abram Chasins, pianist, presented a program of chamber music and piano numbers that were sheer delight.

It has been years since a chamber music four has played in New Castle, but the Curtis Quartet made up in part the omission from programs of such type of music. Two violins, a first and second, a viola and cello composed the quartet and they played together like some four part instrument.

The program was in three sections. In the first the quartet played Dohnanyi's "Quartet in D Major, Op. 15" in three movements. It was rich musical fare, packed with the vitamins of musical perfection, if we might borrow from the field of food chemistry but throughout the quartet displayed an artistry and a workmanship that comes only from gifted and hard working musicians.

Mr. Chasins had the second division of the program and played three numbers. He opened with a melody by Gluck-Chasins, followed with Chopin's "Impromptu in F Sharp Major" and closed with Mendelssohn's "Variations Series, Op. 54."

The three numbers were his announced program but the audience insisted upon more and he played another program as encores, finishing with his own composition, "Rush Hour in Hong Kong". Chasins plays with fire and zeal, with intelligence and discrimination. He is a true artist and a discerning one.

The closing act was a quartet in which the quartet and Mr. Chasins joined. The number was Brahms' "Piano Quintet in F Minor, Op. 34" in four movements. It was a grand closing to an evening of artistry and with regret the audience finally allowed the artists to leave the platform.

Suggests Plan To Save Steel

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 12—Revallidation of Pennsylvania license plates beyond their normal one-year life was suggested today by Auditor General F. Clair Ross as a means of saving approximately 1-100 tons of steel annually.

Ross said he realized that 1942 plates were on hand but that the steel could be saved next year by "working out some plan whereby old plates can be revaluated for another year by the simple expedient of attaching a small plate, inaugurating a windshield sticker, or by some similar plan."

German Alien Held In West

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 12—A German alien who tried to escape capture by the veterans guard and patrol during blackout hours early today was found to possess an American Express company letter of credit "for amounts up to $10,000" when turned over to the federal bureau of investigation.

He was identified as John Von Lintig, 58, Portland. Members of the patrol arrested Lintig at 4:45 a. m. near the waterfront where he made a futile attempt to get away.

At police headquarters, Lintig who was dressed as a laborer told various stories, detectives said. He admitted visiting Germany twice in the last three years and South America once. He said he came to Portland three years ago.

He said that he had earned the $10,000 as a laborer. He was carrying a German passport at the time of his arrest.

Batista Changes Old Traditions

Postpones Sunday Observance If It Falls On National Holiday

TABOOS RANK OF GENERAL IN ARMY

(International News Service). HAVANA, Cuba—President Fulgencio Batista, already famous for shattering traditions in Latin America, has broken another with a simple decree.

He has ruled that when a legal holiday falls on Sunday, then it shall be Sunday, not the holiday, that shall be postponed.

Actually, only the legal aspects of Sunday will be observed on Monday, such as the closing of businesses, houses, and industries which will be required to pay employees enjoying the holiday.

Batista, in his decree, pointed out that to postpone the holiday, by "legal fiction" altered the historical tradition of a day of rest and robbed workers of a paid day of rest.

In the matter of holidays Batista broke another tradition by reducing the number of legal holidays to four—a move later adopted by the Constituent Assembly.

List of Legal Holidays
They are: February 24, "Grito de Bayamo," commemorating the War of Independence in 1895; May 20, commemorating the establishment of the Republic in 1902; October 10, "Grito de Aca," commemorating the start of the ill-fated ten-year war in 1895, and December 7, which is set aside as a "Day of Mourning" in memory of all who died in Cuba's battle for liberty.

On the day of mourning there are no shows, movies, night clubs, dances or private entertainments, but even any broadcasting and citizens, by tradition, are not supposed to tune in on foreign stations.

Most outstanding of the traditions broken by Batista was his declaration immediately following the revolutions of 1933 when he declared disgustedly that the Cuban Army would no longer be an "army of generals."

As Chief of the Army he took the rank of colonel, and to this day there are no generals. There are not even any admirals.

The head of the Navy is a colonel.

Radio Operator On Board Pan
American Training Ship
Is Drowned

(International News Service)
MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 2.—Two aviators were burned to death and a radio operator was drowned Thursday when a Pan American Airways training ship, apparently out of control, plunged into Biscayne bay three miles from Virginia Key south of Miami.

The dead men were identified by Pan American officials as J. C. Barrett, Jr., pilot of the plane; CAA Inspector Holland, and W. S. Sorenson, radio operator.

Their light plane struck the water not far from a large boat, and led to earlier reports by a Pan American pilot that a seagoing vessel was afire.

Authorities could ascertain no cause for the crash—the first such Pan American light plane accident in more than eight years.

Suggest Library As Raid Shelter

Massive Construction Of Downtown Building Provides
Ideal Protection

While it is unlikely that this city will be subject to air raids, it is always a wise precaution to prepare for the unforeseen.

In this respect, Louis F. Wadlinger, head of the custodial force at the New Castle Free Public Library, states that the main library building would undoubtedly be a safe spot for downtown shoppers and workers to seek shelter from air raids.

The massive construction of the building makes it a regular fortress. The roof is constructed of concrete 10 inches in thickness and reinforced with steel. Between the roof and the first ceiling is an airspace of about six feet and the first ceiling is of concrete and steel.

The second floor is built of eight inch thick concrete and steel and the first floor is built of 10-inches of concrete and steel. In addition to this, the walls of the entire building are 24 inches in thickness and of granite construction.

According to Wadlinger, the building will be thrown wide open to the public should any fear of a raid in this vicinity arise. Wadlinger suggests that persons seeking shelter there should do so in the basement where seating arrangements are available for more than 200 persons, in the assembly room and the garden center.

In addition to the regular inside entrances to the basement rooms, there are three outside doors that lead directly to this portion of the building and will be open.

Wadlinger states that later on, should the need arise, the library board will make arrangements to keep the building open throughout the night.

Jap "Suicide Pilots" May Have Sunk Ships

EDITOR'S NOTE: James R. Young, for ten years chief of the International News Service Bureau in Tokyo, writes in the following article that bombing planes manned by "suicide pilots" may have wrought destruction of the Prince of Wales and the Repulse.

By JAMES R. YOUNG
Noted Author and Far Eastern Expert.
Written Expressly for International News Service

Were the Prince of Wales and the Repulse, proud and mighty units of the British navy, sent to the bottom of the South China Sea by Japanese "suicide" pilots?

It is certainly a possibility considering the dramatic precedent for such wartime harri Kari established in the four-year-old Sino-Japanese conflict.

Four years ago the Japanese were hamstrung, helpless, unable to advance at Shanghai against the stubborn and courageous resistance of the Chinese defenders. Attack after attack was blunted and hurled back by the Chinese troops operating under General Von Paukenhausen's military strategy.

From the Japanese most forward positions one day there sallied a strange party—three Japanese soldiers, jaws set and faces like flint, carrying a 20-foot bamboo pole bent under the load of a score of dynamite sticks.

Blown To Kingdom Come
The bowlegged trio advanced at the double as they left the Japanese positions, then broke into a fast run once in the open. They were sprinting as they crashed themselves head-on with their deadly explosive into the Chinese bunkers.

There was a roar, a flame, a terrific hole blown into the Chinese lines although the Japanese themselves had been blown to kingdom come. It was easy then for their Japanese fellow soldiers to charge through and roll back the Chinese defenders.

The Japanese sacrificial patriots became fabled heroes in Tokyo, statues of the three bombardiers were cast. Plays, radio shows and songs immortalized them.

It is possible, then, that Japanese pilots felt a like urge when sent out to attack the British squadron in the Pacific. From my knowledge of their fanaticism in this war—to them a holy mission ordained from on high—I believe it possible that bombing planes carrying three to five men and full racks of bombs might have been crashed purposely into the British ships.

In all probability the Japanese pilots were based at Camranh Bay, Saigon, French Indo China. German airmen probably were not among the attacking flyers, but much of the Japanese air equipment is German-built in the factories at Nagoya and Kobe where Nazi technicians have been supervising and coordinating airplane production for the last year.

a solvent company, following which he introduced Executive Vice President R. N. Graham of the S. V. T. company.

Graham Heard

Mr. Graham expressed his deep gratification that so many business men had left their business to attend the banquet in celebration of the inauguration of buses, and he asserted that some of you or someone connected with you will ride these buses.

He stated that not as many persons now are carried by transportation companies as formerly and said that "we appreciate your interest and plan to give you the best possible transportation."

"These buses are modern. Eight are operated by Diesels and five type as 'gas-operated' and will be driven by 'gas.' The smaller used on the less traveled lines" he explained.

Mr. Graham said the type in service here have been successful in many cities and between 400 and 500 buses now are in service.

"You can depend upon these men operating street cars to operate buses and I am sure you will be patient while they are picking up knowledge of this new business."

"One thing I wish you to realize and that is the Shenango Valley Transportation is a small plant." He said he does not expect the company to realize a gross revenue of $150,000 in 1942.

"In order to give good service the business must be watched carefully. We cannot run a bus to every man's door. Mr. Moore is the general manager. We will give you a good job of transportation and I wish now to thank you for your assistance," he concluded.

Among those present was Thomas Flanagan of Sharon who is the general manager of the company's system in Sharon.

The banquet was closed with everybody facing the United States flag and led by General Moore in singing America.

men by stretching the draft ages. Hershey bluntly announced that "we undoubtedly are going to consider the registration of women."

Administration leaders predicted final senate action on the pending $10,000,000,000 military appropriation bill before nightfall. This measure would provide funds for constructing an estimated 4,050 new navy war planes, and a vast horde of tanks, anti-aircraft guns, anti-tank guns and other munitions. It also carried funds for expanding airplane factories and increasing the nation's munitions industries, besides constructing new wartime buildings in Washington.

The bill passed the house last week, carrying $8,244,000,000 for national defense. Following senate passage it must be returned to the house for approval of the sums added by the senate—since Japan, Germany and Italy declared war on the United States—before going to Mr. Roosevelt for his signature.

Negotiate With Russia

Immediately on the heels of the war declarations against Germany and Italy which plunged the United States finally into the second world war, President Roosevelt, Secretary of State Hull and lend-lease generalissimo Harry Hopkins negotiated earnestly with Soviet Russia through the newly-arrived ambassador, Maxim Litvinoff. The Moscow envoy gave assurances that Russia would fight to the end against Germany, but was silent on what assistance the Soviets might give the United States and Great Britain against Japan.

On the home front, President Roosevelt moved to stop further strikes and lock-outs by calling organized labor and industrial management into conference next week to reach a unanimous agreement to prevent the interruption of production by labor disputes during the period of the war.

And OPM labor chief Sidney Hillman called on Presidents William Green of the American Federation of Labor and Philip Murray of the congress of industrial organizations to urge their unions to get their men working on a 24-hour-a-day, seven-day-a-week production schedule in defense plants.

Knox In Hawaii

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox was in Hawaii, to personally direct future operations in the Pacific battle front. Presumably, he was getting the facts for President Roosevelt and the American public about the Pearl Harbor engagement Sunday in which the Japanese inflicted a devastating blow to the American Pacific fleet.

There was still agitation in congress for a full disclosure of the results of the Pearl Harbor battle, but senate naval committee chairman Walsh—after consultation with the president—said "our navy will be able to take care of itself and will be able to match the Japanese navy."

General Hershey, the selective service director, in calling for sweeping expansion of compulsory service by both men and women, said: "I don't visualize 5 or 6 million men marching off to war, but we must try to be ready through a measured approach to the problem."

"We undoubtedly soon are going to consider the registration of women."

As of Jan. 1, 1942, Hershey said there would be 900,000 draftees in the army in addition to regulars and the National Guard.

He estimated a million A-1 men still remain in the first draft pool, plus an additional 750,000 would be called to the colors with minor physical adjustments such as teeth, etc.

Another explanation is that dictators had five-year plans while we keep trying plans hatched in five minutes.

Plan Permanent Air Raid Warden Force For City

Meeting Sunday At Court House For Purpose Of Organization

Formation of the nucleus of a permanent force of 100 air raid wardens for New Castle will come at a public meeting called for the court house by the Junior Chamber of Commerce on Sunday, December 14 at 2:30 p. m. President John P. Brinton of the junior chamber said today.

The young businessmen's organization has taken upon itself the task of forming the air raid protection unit.

Major Frank A. Webber, commanding Co. B of the Pennsylvania Reserve Defense Corps here, will be the rally speaker. He will tell the duties of air raid wardens and emphasize their importance.

Selection of the 100 wardens may require several days, but applications will be taken on Sunday. Brinton said that within a short time, too, his organization will be able to announce the heads of the auxiliary firemen and auxiliary police and leaders for the war-time bombing squads, rescue squads, medical force, nurses' corps, emergency food and housing, drivers' corps, messengers, road repair crew, demolition and clearance squads and the decontamination crews.

He said 3,000 volunteers will be sought for the various services. Each of the 100 air raid protectors, he explained, will serve a group of 500 citizens here.

BUSINESS BOOMS AS ARMY SPENDS

(International News Service)
CAMP POLK, La.—The largest real estate deal in modern history in which patriotic citizens freely donated more than 20,000 acres of land to the United States Army for maneuvers, has proved to be a boomerang loaded with prosperity.

The deal that was uniquely closed with simple appeals to patriotism rather than cash settlements has sent the war games area of Louisiana and Texas booming.

The natives, frankly, are startled, pleased, amazed and, as one country storekeeper put it, "How long will this good thing last?"

With an army payroll of more than $550,000 per day the merchants really have something to work on. To top that, the army quartermaster is making daily purchases that will run into millions of dollars.

School Boy Writes Of Bird Army On Square

In a recent assignment to his biology class in the senior high school, N. R. Casillo asked his pupils to write an essay on bird life. Hustus Stevens, a pupil in Mr. Casillo's class returned an essay upon the sparrows which have set up house-keeping in the trees upon the public square.

The essay has an element of humor, shows some keen perception and it written succinctly. It follows:

"As a prospective voter in this thriving metropolis of ours, I heartily advocate the removal of that little colony of our fine feathered friends that moved in and took possession of the Diamond in our downtown district. If you were ever within a block or two of this menace to society in the early evening, you will know what I mean. It is a shame to insult Lincoln's Gettysburg address and the defenders of our country by allowing these para-

into which they crowded, and I do mean crowded.

"It is awfully hard to estimate the number of birds, but on the night that I was there, there were easily two or three thousand of them. As it was dark you could not tell a lot about the trees, but most of them seem to be sycamores. And thereon they subside into the arms of Morpheus and all is peaceful until the next morning at dawn. Again there is a convention until they scatter off in all directions looking for breakfast.

"There appear to be but two choices in dealing with this problem: either cut down the trees or turn over the Diamond to the English sparrows."

SISTER-IN-LAW DIES IN SOUTH POINT, O.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bowman, of 926 Harrison street, have been called to South Point, Ohio, on account of the death of the former's sister-in-law, Mrs. Grover C. Bowman.

David E. Campbell Dies At Sharpsville

Word has been received here of the death Thursday night, after a long illness, of David E. Campbell, 65 of 10th street, Sharpsville.

Mr. Campbell, who was a native of Lawrence county, and leaves a number of relatives in this vicinity, will be buried on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 from a Sharpsville funeral home.

A veteran of the Spanish-American war, the deceased leaves his widow, four children, and several grandchildren.

Manners must be suited to the company. Be courteous to a roughneck or roughneckness and it seems an invitation to be shoved around. The greatest compliment to a radio orator is to believe what he says when he doesn't believe it himself.

travelled to Alaska and other parts of the Americas. He is somewhat of a hunter and I take pleasure now in presenting the honorable mayor, Charles B. Mayne, New Castle's first citizen."

His Honor responded by stating he did not know he was scheduled to talk, jestingly declaring that had he known such he would not have been present, explaining: "I don't like to talk to an audience which knows me. Mr. Muldoon doesn't know me. R. N. Graham, executive vice president, does. I have been doing business with him for years and years."

Mayor Mayne described how council, the solicitor and he have been working with Mr. Muldoon and Mr. Moore for 14 months and explained that there yet remain some details to be worked out and requested the people to be patient regarding extensions.

"This is a business problem and all routes must pay or they cannot continue. I want you gentlemen to tell the people to patronize the buses. The city will receive a certain revenue from the operation, hence city officials are interested," he said.

CITY SOLICITOR

Mr. Muldoon introduced City Solicitor White as a gentleman, a scholar and one of the best Third Class city lawyers in the state, to which the solicitor replied that he is very much interested in the change and gave a graphic description of yesteryear's cars and trailers.

"Everyone appreciates what is being done. New Castle is a 'homey' place. People take interest in each other' whereupon Solicitor White referred to racial justice and described with the passing of the tin mill some years ago, men lost their employment."

He said "had not the war come we would yet be faced with that great calamity of social injustice." "To some, today is one of grief" he said. "We changed the transportation system and I hope the community can say with pride we did this without jinking any men with out-moded machinery."

Turning to Mr. Muldoon, Solicitor White said: "I congratulate you in meeting this problem." He asserted Mr. Muldoon 'stayed with it' and added "he has worked with the city in a great cooperative way. I congratulate you and your company."

Walter Duff

"The next gentleman I wish to introduce was chairman of the utility committee of the GNCA 12 months ago. Through efforts of himself and committee the initial meeting was brought about. I present Walter W. Duff."

"I think I may accept this opportunity for the GNCA and people to congratulate the Shenango Valley Transportation and city council for consideration of this project." Mr. Duff said following which Past President Norman Clark of the GNCA, who was of much assistance was introduced.

"I'm delighted to see this new system. It speaks well for the community. The company and council are to be congratulated," he said.

"The next speaker has been a tremendous force here where he has spent his entire life and has developed one of the greatest newspapers in western Pennsylvania. I now present Fred L. Rentz."

Mr. Rentz Speaks

Mr. Rentz said: "I think this company is paying a compliment to our city. They would have been justified in saying 'We're through' because they have not made any money. They have been like some other businesses. They could not do any better."

"They have confidence in New Castle and we should appreciate this. I have lived here all my life. I know every man who has been connected with the transportation system. They are real men and do the right thing by this city."

"Let us help the company. Do not 'hammer'. I am happy to see the change come" said Mr. Rentz who is president and managing editor of The News. He concluded with a witty story which fitted the occasion.

Mr. Muldoon said the next man was one who was convinced that an insolvent company could be made

Bootleg Coal Industry Wanes

HARD COAL FIELD LAWS EFFECTIVE

By JOHN PAGET International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Dec. 12.—The depression-born "bootleg" hard coal industry that once produced more than 5,000,000 tons of anthracite annually is on the wane in Pennsylvania.

Estimates of mining officials indicate that production valued at approximately $20,000,000 in depression years, has been slashed almost in half with a corresponding decline in employment.

As rapidly as one illegal hole closes, authorities make certain it will not be re-opened. In 1940 Gov. Arthur H. James inaugurated the quota production plan to level the output and later saw it enacted into law with provisions for legitimate mines to absorb free-lance miners and the formerly illegal yield of coal holes.

At one time there were 10,041 working in 3000 bootleg mines producing more than 5,000,000 tons a year as compared with the 50,000-600 tons marketed by legitimate companies. Earnings from $3 to $4 daily they supported approximately 20,000 wives and children.

Dump trucks hauled the coal, illegally mined on property owned by the big operators, to 348 bootleg breakers—valued at more than $17,800 each—for processing. Two thousand trucks hauled the coal to outlets in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland.

While during depression years residents of the hard coal region generally were sympathetic to the efforts of out-of-work miners to eke out a living from mining near-surface coal on company property, conditions brought about the gradual reduction of bootleg mining.

They included ordinances in Pennsylvania and nearby states outlawing illegally mined coal, a treaty signed by the U.M.W.A. against bootleg operations; resentment by the miners against so-called "foreign capital" being sent into the lower anthracite fields to construct breakers and set-up equipment in order to engage in the industry; cooperation between the U.M.W.A., the state and the legitimate operators in the emergency program, and the departure of hundreds of miners from the coal regions for army service or for jobs in the defense industries.

A further burden upon bootleg coal trucks was imposed by the shortweight coal law enacted by the 1941 legislature and approved by Gov. Arthur H. James. The law, administered by the department of internal affairs, makes it mandatory for the trucker to obtain a certified weighmaster's certificate testifying that the consumer will get full weight.

FORMER RESIDENT IMPROVED

Word has been received that Mrs. Merwyn Campbell, of Pinkney, Mich., has recovered sufficiently to return to her home. She had been confined to the Michigan Sanatorium for sixteen months, and is now getting along nicely.

Mrs. Campbell was formerly Miss Eloise Berquist, daughter of the late Rev. and Mrs. E. J. Berquist, formerly of this city.

Warns of 'Slavery'

Californian Would Form Guerilla Units

Would Form Rejected Men Into Branch Of State Guard

(International News Service) SACRAMENTO, Cal.—Citing the effectiveness of guerrilla warfare, Edgar Watson of San Francisco has suggested such units reorganized in California as a branch of the State Guard, to include persons not eligible for enlistment in armed forces.

"Men rejected because they cannot meet weight, height or other physical requirements," Watson said in a letter to Governor Culbert L. Olson, "want to serve the state in some more actively militant way than as fire wardens or airplane spotters."

"Probably you will agree," he said, "at least 25 per cent of Russia's stubborn resistance has been due to citizen guerrilla warfare. I would like to suggest the formation of a civilian arm of the State Guard, to be named the California State Emergency Corps."

In explaining the plan, Watson suggested the corps be divided into two departments—the guerrilla division and the intelligence division.

No Drilling Required

Men would not be required to drill for the guerrilla division, he said, but would be taught to shoot expertly with rifles bearing telescopic sights; make land mines and traps from odds and ends available in the vicinity; block highways; backfire wooded areas; render materials, food, water and structures useless to the enemy; steal and destroy cars, trucks, motorcycles, tanks and planes; tap telephone lines; board ships and fire on them. They would also be taught to memorize the terrain of their station until they could cover it swiftly in the dark.

Tells Gripping Story Of Rescue Of 72 Men Adrift In Atlantic

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 19.—The gripping story of how 72 men from the British light cruiser, Dunedin, survived after their ship went down in the Atlantic was related here today by Edward L. Bresson, chief engineer of the American freighter Nishimaha, which picked up the men four days and three nights after the sinking.

The men were picked up in mid-Atlantic near the Equator, he said, and put ashore at Trinidad. The British announced the loss of the 4,800-ton ship yesterday.

"All the men were in extremely bad shape when we pulled them aboard," Bresson said. "About half of them had suffered horrible bites from dogfish which flew out of the water and tore pieces of their flesh from their bodies."

"One of the sailors had a large chunk taken from his chest, and died five minutes later, his mates told us. Only a few of them had as much as a drop of water during the four days. On one of the rafts there were 34 men, one gallon of water and a can of sea biscuits."

"The men told me how some of them had stayed on the raft for a couple of days, then suddenly dove off, saying 'goodbye'."

"In spite of the fact that cooler heads warned against drinking salt water, some were driven by thirst to try it. They went out of their heads and had to be knocked insensible to keep them quiet."

"One seaman, known only as Butler, was the hero of the whole thing in his mates' eyes."

"He sort of organized their plight so that the rafts could be kept together. With ropes they managed to salvage before their ship went down, they tied four rafts together, then linked the three others with ropes."

"One group of men on another raft, and so far as I know never gave up, insisted on remaining alone. But this fellow Butler swam around in the oil-coated water around his ship and dragged others aboard the rafts. Afterwards, when one of the men on his raft died, he would swim to an overcrowded raft and assist one of the survivors to his raft."

"He never lost his head, and we practically had to put him to bed when we got him aboard our ship. He still wanted to stay up and help his mates."

Warns West Faces Threat Of Serious Power Shortage

Federal Official Says An Increase Of Power Facilities Is Needed

(International News Service)
DENVER.—Based on present power capacity and anticipated needs of the national defense program, the west faces a power shortage that may approximate 2,000,000 kilowatts by 1945.

That was the opinion voiced in Denver by Harry W. Bashore, assistant-commissioner of the United States Bureau of Reclamation, who came from Washington, D. C., to discuss reclamation problems with S. O. Harper, chief engineer of the Denver office.

"However, the Bureau of Reclamation is ready to formulate an all-out program for the supply of additional power," Bashore said. "The bureau has submitted to Secretary Ickes a list of potential multiple-purpose power projects which have a total capacity of 9,000,000 kilowatts."

"These projects could be completed for use from 1943 to 1947. Their completion, of course, would be contingent on making the necessary priority authorization and funds available."

Bashore pointed out increased power is needed for military establishments, for increased production in defense industries and for development of mining resources in the west.

Babson Discusses Farm And Railroad Problems Of Nation

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright—1941—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

BABSON
Stopping the Leaks

NEW YORK CITY, Dec. 12.—"I wish I had the pull with the county agent that John Jones on the other side of town has." "The present plan of helping agriculture is very unfair to the honest farmer." "I got a check for $125 today for doing something which I have done every year for 20 years." "Can't some farm aid plan be devised of which the crooks can't take advantage, something not only fool-proof but burglar-proof."

The above are a few extracts from letters recently received. As a result, I have been studying the farm problem. I find that the Federal government is now returning each year about $1,000,000,000 to the farmers in the form of various kinds of bonuses. Politics, carelessness, and even injustices have crept into this distribution. These troubles can increase every year until pandemonium reigns. The distribution of this money can become so complicated and create so much hard feeling—neighbor against neighbor and all against the government—congress will sometime lose its patience and wipe out the whole business.

It is for the interests of farmers, therefore, to quit the policy of "Let's get all we can while the getting is good." Instead they should seek some fool-proof simple method of accomplishing better results with more fairness and less waste.

The problem has become further complicated by President Roosevelt allowing the railroad employees a wage increase of $325,000,000 with the sub-rosa promise to the railroads of a further rate increase when lower freight rates are needed. I, therefore, want to tell of a plan which will save both the farmers and the railroads. I will call it the Prince Plan after the name of Frederick Prince who first suggested it. It should interest every taxpayer as well as every farmer and railroad bondholder. Politicians, however, will not like it; neither will some county agents and labor leaders.

Needed: Lower Freight Rates

Instead of paying the farmer on the present set-up which encourages him to plant as little as possible, the Prince Plan allows him to plant all he wishes, but gives him a reduction in railroad rates and protection against unfair foreign competition. Interview 100 farmers and 95 of them will tell you that they could make a fair profit on their products if it were not for transportation costs. The difficulty is that the farmers and live stock raisers are suffering from too high freight rates. In many instances the freight amounts to more than the price of the product at the farm. This plan also gives farmers freedom to raise what they wish and to sell for what they wish.

The railroads will reply: "But we are as hard-up as the farmers. Just now we are making money, but after the war we will be in worse condition than ever. We need higher, rather than lower, freight rates. To add to our troubles our railroad employees have now been given a raise which will cost us over $300,000,000 more a year." I reply by saying that we do not want the railroads to lose a dollar. The government should send the railroads a check each month equal to the amount the railroads reduce their freight rates for the benefit of the farmers and increase their wages for the benefit of the Brotherhoods.

Four Advantages

As you see, this lower-freight rate plan has several advantages: (1) It treats all farmers alike, whether Republicans or Democrats. (2) It eliminates arguments with the county agents. (3) It greatly reduces the cost of supervision. (4) It saves taxpayers' money. In short, instead of having to get information from millions of farmers and mail millions of checks, it would be necessary for the government only to mail a few hundred checks. Under this plan all parties—farmers, railroads, labor and consumers would be better off. In the end, the farmers' well-being and the nation's well-being are one and the same thing. Only as more is produced, is there more to divide in the form of wages, salaries, interest on savings accounts and dividends.

The whole system of restricting production to build up prices, or of raising railroad freight rates to increase income is "cock-eyed". We get richer as a nation only as we produce more and reduce costs, not as we produce less and raise prices, wages or freight rates. The farmer, who is willing to live out on the prairie away from the advantages of the city, should receive some compensation for doing this. The natural way to compensate him is through rebating freight rates, not by raising them. Perhaps my best argument in favor of this plan is the fact that most market gardeners, fruit growers and others living close to the cities are making money now. In other words, it is the freight rates that are raising havoc with the farmers and now we are talking about raising them more!

What About Foreign Competition?

Some exporting bounty that will protect the farmer from foreign competition should also be considered, perhaps something like the McNary-Hauser Bill. This provides a certain rebate, or subsidy, on what is sold abroad below a reasonable price. No politics or unfairness could work into such a program. The government knows exactly what is being exported and where it is going. They can base checks thereon and distribute the money, as Senator McNary has so well worked out. The details of this, I am now discussing. The two, however, must go together. One is the "lock" and the other is the "key"; one the "hatchet" and the other the "handle".

Pilots Prepare To Have Flying License Renewed

Several New Castle fliers have started to comply with the government regulations to have their flying licenses renewed, it was learned today.

First step in the renewal is to have pictures taken and secure character references. Until the licenses are renewed all airplanes here and throughout the country are grounded.

PLEXIGLAS IS USED TO MAKE AIRPLANE 'NOSES'

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA — Plexiglas — one of the newer plastics—is being transformed into airplane "noses" that can withstand the screaming winds of six-mile-a-minute flight.

At the Bristol plant of the Rohm and Haas company a crew of workmen is fashioning the crystal-clear substance into vari-shaped windows and enclosures for the new Martin B-26 bombers. They're also making dome-like "noses" five feet in diameter to fit in front of fuselages, and to provide openings for gun-mount and bomb release.

Through this plexiglas structure, the five-man gun crew can draw increased vision and range of sight. Plexiglas—which couldn't be molded into such big shapes accurately, anyway, company spokesmen explained.

While the new plastic isn't bullet-proof, it can withstand severe blows. If fractured by shells, it breaks into dull, noncutting pieces. Plexiglas is known technically as a synthetic acrylic resin and it was developed six years ago.

EXCITEMENT HITS MONKEY COLONY AT 'FRISCO ZOO

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO—The Battle of Monkey Island was called off recently and citizens returned to their normal jabbering and caper-cutting. Strife in the monkey colony at San Francisco's Zoological Gardens came without warning. Eight new monkeys, smug with having graduated from the experimental laboratories of the Hooper Foundation, had been sent to the island.

Upon arrival, invaders were thrown into the water, chased up trees and from rock to rock. It was a free-for-all with no holds barred until Carey Baldwin, zoo director, and his assistants rounded up the invasion-resisters and tossed them into concentration camps. Later new arrivals were released in groups of three or four. Nothing violent happened.

"I think all they wanted to do was to make it clear who was running the island," Mr. Baldwin said.

SLEEP WALKERS PRESENT PROBLEM TO BRITISH ARMY

(International News Service)
LONDON—Humorous and tragic instances have resulted from the antics of sleep walkers in the British Armed Forces.

There was the soldier, who in the night, left his bed, dressed, polished his buttons, and went on sentry duty—still asleep.

A more tragic instance was that of a young airman, who it was stated at an inquest, "baled out" of a bedroom window to his death.

There are, however, instances, outside of the Forces.

A schoolboy on the eve of an important cricket match, was seen by his astonished parents, scoring imaginary runs up and down the hallway.

After a time, he shouldered his bat, and marched sedately to his room.

A German actress, Anny Aslers, in one scene from a London production, had to climb through a window to meet her lover. Apparently she was thinking of this scene when she fell from the bedroom window of a London hotel to her death.

The U. S. Navy will consume approximately 12,480,000 pounds of ham and 4,680,000 pounds of bacon in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1942.

What better gift than that of clear vision? Our scientifically correct lenses give that.

'Take It Easy' Is Advice Given To Middle-Aged

(International News Service)
COLUMBUS, O. — Persons approaching middle age were cautioned by Ohio Health Director R. H. Markwith to ignore to some extent the call of spring and to "take it easy" if they wish to grow old gracefully—or, in fact, if they wish to grow old at all.

"Live within your physical resources," Dr. Markwith warned. "At this time of year, men in particular are inclined to forget that their bodies are not as young as they once were. They rush home from work, take a lawnmower, a rake or a set of golf clubs, and work or play until they reach the point of exhaustion.

"Exercise should be taken in small doses, particularly by those who have let themselves get out of condition. It's better to mix a little rest with a little exercise."

"It's an unpleasant fact, but we must learn to face it. While our minds may be as alert as ever, possibly at their peak, our bodies are failing."

Claim Bomb Hits On British Ships Off Libyan Coast

(International News Service)
ROME, Dec. 12.—Bomb hits by German planes on a British cruiser and destroyer off the Libyan coast were announced by the Italian high command today.

"The fleet formation which on Dec. 10 shelled Derna was intercepted by German airmen, who again scored hits on a cruiser and torpedo destroyer," the war communiqué said.

The high command reported continued fighting west of the Libyan port of Tobruk and said new enemy tank-supported attacks were repulsed.

Increased artillery activity also was reported in the Bardia area and the region of Sollum in northwestern Egypt.

In the Bir Hacheim sector, it was claimed, German and Italian dive-bombers attacked enemy war machines and vehicle columns.

"Naval batteries opened fire on the cruiser and it is believed she was hit," the announcement added.

German Wireless Claims British Ships Are Sunk

In addition, two guard vessels and another tanker were seriously damaged by torpedoes," the Nazi communiqué claimed.

On the Russian front, the communiqué said, there was "only local fighting."

(Editor's note: The Russian high command announced new Soviet advances on the central and southern sectors of the Russian front.)

LESS "SYMPATHY" FOR SIGHTLESS URGED

(International News Service)
PUEBLO, Colo.—A courageous appeal for less "sympathy" for the sightless was made in Pueblo by Helen Keller, noted blind and deaf author-lecturer, on her recent speaking tour of Colorado.

Miss Keller, whom Mark Twain once linked with Napoleon as the "greatest conquerors in history"—Napoleon because of his military conquests, Miss Keller because she conquered almost insurmountable handicaps—declared that the blind suffer not so much from lack of sight as from a wrong attitude towards them by a large part of the public. Many persons handicap them still further, she declared, by taking the attitude that because the blind cannot see they are unable to do anything.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

TAKE PRECAUTION WHEN STORING TRACTOR

Tractor owners may want to take a few precautions before storing their tractor for the winter. A little time spent now may mean dollars saved next spring. The tractor should be stored inside a shed or barn with the wheels on some old boards. If it is equipped with rubber tires, the weight should be taken off them by jacking up the wheels. The air cleaner and oil filter should be serviced. The bearings should be filled with a supply of grease to drive out dirt and seal them against air and moisture. The crankcase should be drained and refilled with new oil. Then the motor should be run to circulate the oil to all the moving parts.

The fuel tanks are then drained, since fuel left in all winter will form a gummy residue which clogs screens and carburetor jets when the motor is again started. The radiator is drained, flushed with a radiator cleaner, and then flushed with clean water and drained. All drain plugs should be removed and added to the frame.

The spark plugs are removed and about two tablespoons of heavy motor oil poured into each cylinder. After the motor is turned over several times, the spark plugs are replaced. The exhaust pipe is covered or stopped with a rag. Remove the storage battery, charge it, store in a warm place and check it every month.

IMPROVED BULLS BOOST DAIRY RETURNS

Dairymen in all sections of Pennsylvania have increased the efficiency of their herds through cooperative ownership of purebred bulls. In most of these herds the production and returns from one cow is equal to that of two average dairy cows.

A specific example of how improved dairy sires have boosted dairy herd returns, some from County Agent McCulloch in Clinton county. A survey made in that county ten years ago showed that only 28 per cent of the dairy sires in use in three townships were registered and only 15 per cent of the sires had dams with known production records. At the present time 44 per cent of the sires in these three townships are registered and 24 per cent of the sires have dams with records. Furthermore, the dairy sire improvement has spread over the entire county.

It is interesting to note that the average annual production per cow in bull association herds in Clinton county is 9,603 pounds of milk and 366 pounds of fat, in herds using sons of bull associations the average production is 7,591 pounds of milk and 293 pounds of fat, and the annual average production of all other cows in the county is only 4,600 pounds of milk and 178 pounds of fat.

The returns from these three groups is interpreted in a dollar and cents way in a recent study of cow testing association records. The cow with an average production of 9,600 pounds of milk, made a return above feed cost of $144, while the cow with an average production of 7,500 pounds of milk, made a return above feed cost of $88; and those with an average of 4,600 pounds of milk returned only $47.

With this information it is easy to see that if all the cows in Clinton county were as good as those in bull association herds, farmers there could have had the same income with 2,012 fewer cows.

A partial summary of records shows that in 4-H sweet corn clubs where each member planted two pounds of seed, an average of 24 dozens were used by the family and 85 dozens were sold giving a net return of $15.95 per member for corn sold.

In 4-H tomato clubs with each member growing between 50 to 100 plants, an average per member of 404 pounds were used by the family and 864 pounds sold. This made a net return of $13.20 for each 4-H club member for tomatoes sold.

PRODUCING CLEAN EGGS CUTS LABOR BILL

Soiled eggs, which give the poultryman extra work, can be reduced by good management practices. Soiled eggs usually result from wet litter conditions in the hen house, an insufficient number of nests or amount of nest litter.

Many poultrymen today practice the use of the "built-up" or "deep" litter which insures dry litter conditions the year around and reduces a great saving in labor and cost of litter material, to say nothing of its effect on the soiled egg problem. Straw is most commonly used for this purpose because it is most readily available. Shavings, sawdust, oat hulls and excelsior produce less dirty eggs than other materials when used as nest litter. Earlier gathering in the morning than some folks practice is important since there is greater soiling of morning laid eggs by droppings deposited in the nests. In extremely cold weather more frequent gathering will prevent eggs cracking or freezing in the hen house.

There is nothing the poultryman can do to improve the quality of an egg after it is produced. There is much he can do, however, to maintain the quality after it has been delivered to his care.

SPREAD CHRISTMAS CHEER WITH COLOR

Now is the time to plan for those holiday decorations, Christmas decorations for the home are one expression of this happy current of Christmas spirit that we sense in every American this year.

Belonging to this festive occasion are the Christmas tree, the wreath, the festoon, the star, the candle, and the cross.

The use of these have recommended to us from ancient festivals and celebrations, reminds Miss Bonella Gordon, home economics extension representative of the Lawrence County Agricultural Extension Association. Colors associated with the Christmas season are the green of branches and trees, the red and gold of warm fires, the white of snow, the blue of cold winter skies, and silver reminding us of moonlight on snow. We select these colors that blend with the background against which our decorations are to be placed.

There's a wealth of materials from which to make holiday decorations. Suitable materials are evergreens and their cones, red berries, seed pods, and dried grasses. These can be secured from the woods, the home grounds, or the florist. They are best used in their natural state, although for variation or accent grasses, pods, and pine sprigs that have been silvered or whitened with paint are suitable. Fluffy or flat bows of red and snap to wreaths, baskets, and gift boxes. Tinkling bells may be fastened to a swag of evergreen branches and placed on a door. Old sleigh bells decorated with green sprigs give unusual pleasure as a decoration. Candlelight is appropriate and effective on the Christmas dinner table. Use your favorite candle holders or make inexpensive ones of painted heavy wooden blocks on well-balanced legs. For a new interest, burn candles of rolled brown wax in these. A low jumbo candle, weathered with sprigs of evergreen, a sparkling glass mirror, is an effective table piece. A few red berries may be put with the green. Lighted candles at the holiday season constantly remind us that we are playing with fire. To prevent possible accidents in the home, we must take every precaution for the safety of our families.

Will Japs Seek To Establish Basis In Aleutian Islands?

The World At War. How The Allies, Axis Nations Line Up

This comprehensive map of the world at war shows the lineup of the nations of the world in World War II. Axis versus Allies. The Axis nations are in black. The Allied nations (South America is placed on the Allied side) are shaded. On the European continent, only Spain, Portugal, tiny Switzerland and Sweden are neutral. Mexico, not at war, is considered one of the Allies.

Upper map shows the proximity of the Aleutian islands, part of continental United States, to Japan proper—2,208 miles. Fear has been expressed that the Japanese may invade these islands, seeking to establish bases there as a threat to Canada and the United States. Inset map, lower right, gives a closeup of Alaska and the Aleutians, showing U. S. air bases at Dutch Harbor and Sitka.

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
LONDON, Dec. 12.—British military authorities said today that enemy activity in North-western Malaya now is confined to patrols and that reports of Japanese landings in the Kuala Trengganu and Dungun regions are unconfirmed.
In the Kedah area of Northern Malaya, they said, the enemy has "infiltrated forward" and British forces have withdrawn to prepared positions.
Air attacks on Penang were said to have been fairly heavy, but authorities said no military damage had been caused in that straits settlements metropolis.
In the face of Japanese pressure on Hong Kong, they said, British forces have withdrawn to advance positions nearer Kowloon.
Authorities said they had no information regarding the extent of operations conducted by Chinese forces known to be near the Hong Kong frontier.

NEW TOOL MAY END 'ACHILLES' HEEL' OF TANKS

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA—A new defense tool capable of eliminating the "Achilles' heel" of combat tanks was demonstrated at the National Metal Congress and Exposition in Philadelphia recently.

The vital spot on a tank, experts explained, has always been the track pin, holding together the heavy treads of the endless track on which the tank rolls. The new tool was revealed as an electrical induction surface hardening unit capable of making track pins tougher.

When a pin gives way, the experts added, the track breaks and stalls, usually putting the tank out of action. But hardening the surface of the pins by the new induction method has resulted in greater resistance to wear and to the normal shock of combat.

A development of the Ohio Crankshaft company, Cleveland, O., the process reportedly is revolutionizing the science of metallurgy.

Dr. H. E. Helling, chairman, presided and the following commissioners attended the meeting—Tom Sleighter, Paul Luther, Mrs. J. D. Sartwell and Gerald Reid. Others attending were Miss Vivian Schuster and Miss Ann Czar and Playground Director Denny Schill.

The commission approved the 1942 Budget which will be submitted to council for approval after the first of the year. An audit of the Playground account will be made very shortly and the report published.

Upon a unanimous vote of the commission, the secretary was instructed to ask the swimming pool study committee appointed by the borough council for a copy of its findings.

Mrs. J. D. Sartwell brought up the problem of taking care of the boys throughout the winter months and the commission heartily agreed to make a major problem of the community until a full time person could be employed to supervise the boys.

Playground Supervisor Denny Schill informed the commission that the trend of playground work this year will be of the depression type and play whereby the children will be made to create their own playground equipment and handicraft display work. This is due to manufacturers not being able to manufacture equipment due to priority work for defense.

Mr. Schill stated this was the best type of playground work for children and that now as never before we must use the type of recreation that will develop our boys and girls physically.

Local Rotarian, Edward Geddes, who is employed in the industrial engineering department of the National Tube company, gave a talk on his work.

Radio Operator On Board Pan
American Training Ship
Is Drowned

(International News Service)
MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 11.—Two aviators were burned to death and a radio operator was drowned Thursday when a Pan American Airways training ship, apparently out of control, plunged into Biscayne bay three miles from Virginia Key south of Miami.

The dead men were identified by Pan American officials as J. C. Barrett, Jr., pilot of the plane; G. A. Inspecter Holland, and W. S. Sorenson, radio operator.

Their plane struck the water not far from a large boat, and led to earlier reports by a Pan American pilot that a seagoing vessel was afloat.

Authorities could ascertain no cause for the crash—the first such Pan American high plane accident in more than eight years.

Suggest Library As Raid Shelter

Massive Construction Of Downtown Building Provides
Ideal Protection

While it is unlikely that this city will be subject to air raids, it is always a wise precaution to prepare for the unforeseen.

In this respect, Louis F. Wadlinger, head of the custodial force at the New Castle Free Public Library, states that the main library building would undoubtedly be a safe spot for downtown shoppers and workers to seek shelter from air raids.

The massive construction of the building makes it a regular fortress. The roof is constructed of concrete 10 inches in thickness and reinforced with steel. Between the roof and the first ceiling is an airspace of about six feet and the first ceiling is of concrete and steel.

The second floor is built of eight inch thick concrete and steel and the first floor is built of 10-inches of concrete and steel. In addition to this, the walls of the entire building are 24 inches in thickness and of granite construction.

According to Wadlinger, the building will be thrown wide open to the public should any fear of a raid in this vicinity arise. Wadlinger suggests that persons seeking shelter there should do so in the basement where seating arrangements are available for more than 200 persons. In the assembly room and the garden center.

In addition to the regular inside entrances to the basement rooms, there are three outside doors that lead directly to this portion of the building and will be open.

Wadlinger states that later on, should the need arise, the library board will make arrangements to keep the building open throughout the night.

Mexico Plans Swift Action

To Move Against Reported Japanese "Fifth Columnists" In Country

WAR DECLARATION AGAINST AXIS NEAR

(International News Service) MEXICO CITY, Dec. 12.—Under direction of President Manuel Avila Camacho, the Mexican government mapped ruthless, swift action today against reported Japanese "fifth columnists" moves in lower California.

Numerous reports, not all of which were fully verified, said that bands of armed Japanese nationals have appeared in lower California.

Other advices received by the government state armed Japanese fishing boats have put in at isolated harbors and inlets along the uneven lower California coast.

The Mexican defense ministry instructed commanders of all military garrisons in the affected regions to launch immediate investigations.

Gov. Francisco Mugica of the northern part of lower California prepared to fly to Ensenada from Mexico City. He had come to the capital to report to President Avila Camacho.

The ministry of Gobernacion (which corresponds roughly to the U. S. department of interior) stated about 4,500 Japanese are residents of the Mexican west coast. They are scattered through the states of Sinaloa, Sonora, Colima and Jalisco.

Suspects Motives

Five hundred more have been living in the Mexico City region. All 5,000 are suspected of being involved in a major fifth column movement against Mexico. Former president Gen. Lazaro Cardenas is preparing to deal with this reported threat.

Cardenas is under instructions to hasten to lower California to take charge of the situation there because of the convergence of thousands of Japanese upon that area.

The government took action after severing diplomatic relations with Germany and Italy. A declaration of war against the Reich and Italy is expected in the near future. Mexico already is at war with Japan.

Southern Pacific Railway officials announced heavy bookings had been made for west coast points by Japanese nationals, especially for Mazatlan and Manzanillo. The latter is a hotbed of Nipponese political and commercial activity.

All these reservations have been cancelled by Mexican authorities.

Lower California is a long coastal strip extending below the southern end of the American state of California. A few days ago United States authorities granted the Mexican government permission to send troops to this area over American soil.

Speed Christmas Gifts To Britain

Red Cross Sending Tons Of Yuletide Gifts To Cheer English Holiday

Bomb-wracked England's plans for a merry Christmas rapidly are being strengthened by the American Red Cross with tons of Yuletide gifts ranging from 50,000 bauble-filled stockings to a fleet of 45 utility trucks being readied to play an important part in holiday deliveries.

In its Christmas shopping this year the American Junior Red Cross is not forgetting the British children. In addition to providing gift stockings they have packed and shipped 50,000 Christmas boxes. To make the Christmas season a bit more cheerful in the raid shelters, American Juniors have made a grant of £1,200 for the purchase in England of children's play equipment.

The utility trucks are being used to distribute clothing, most of it made by American Red Cross volunteers, to the thousands of evacuees distributed throughout the country, and to the rest centers and shelters.

These vans and the 12 previously given to the W. V. S. have also been put to various emergency uses.

Uncover 1852 Mail Robbery

Mr. and Mrs. James Hough demonstrate how they fished almost 200 pieces of mail, all dated 1852, from a hole in the wall of their apartment in Philadelphia. All the letters had been opened and were from England, Ireland and the United States. Postoffice theory is that the letters are part of a mail train robbery in 1852.

PENNSYLVANIA'S SUPER-HIGHWAY HAS MADE GOOD

(International News Service) HARRISBURG — The Pennsylvania Turnpike has observed its first birthday and the financial returns for its initial year of operation appear to justify its construction.

The Harrisburg to Pittsburgh super-highway began its second year October 1, although the receipts for September have not been disclosed. It is conservatively estimated that fares totaled $300,000, making the annual income in excess of $2,930,000.

The results of the first year of operation have been so favorable that Turnpike officials now are aiming at complete liquidation of the bonded indebtedness within 17 years. The experiment in high speed motor travel was built at a cost of $70,000,000.

A CITY OF LAKES

(International News Service) LONDON — Wartime London is becoming a city of lakes as well as parks. This is due to anti-fire precautions.

Besides the tanks of water now to be found in most main thoroughfares, the fire services have flooded open spaces cleared by demolition squads.

In Old Bond street between two shop fronts you can come across what appears to be an open-air swimming pool. It is there, however, storing thousands of gallons of water as a precaution against possible future fire-blitzes.

Jap "Suicide Pilots" May Have Sunk Ships

EDITOR'S NOTE: James R. Young, for two years, chief of the International News Service Bureau in Tokyo, writes in the following article that bombing planes may have wrought destruction of the Prince of Wales and the Repulse.

By JAMES R. YOUNG
Noted Author and Far Eastern Expert
Written Expressly for International News Service

Were the Prince of Wales and the Repulse, proud and mighty units of the British navy, sent to the bottom of the South China Sea by Japanese "suicide" pilots?

It is certainly a possibility considering the dramatic precedent for such war-time action established in the four-year-old Sino-Japanese conflict.

Four years ago the Japanese were hamstrung, helpless, unable to advance at Shanghai against the stubborn and courageous resistance of the Chinese defenders. Attack after attack was blunted and hurled back by the Chinese troops operating under General Von Paulkhausen's military strategy.

From the Japanese most forward positions one day there sallied a strange party—three Japanese soldiers, jaws set and faces like flint, carrying a 20-foot bamboo pole bent under the load of a score of dynamite sticks.

Blown To Kingdom Come
The bowlegged trio advanced at the double as they left the Japanese positions, then broke into a fast sprint as they crashed themselves head-on with their deadly explosive into the Chinese bunkers.

There was a roar, a flame, a terrific hole blown into the Chinese lines although the Japanese themselves had been blown to kingdom come. It was easy then for their Nipponese fellow soldiers to charge through and roll back the Chinese defenders.

The Japanese sacrificial patriots became fabled heroes in Tokyo, statues of the three bombers were cast. Plays, radio shows and songs immortalized them.

It is possible, then, that Japanese pilots felt a like urge when sent out to attack the British squadron in the Pacific. From my knowledge of their fanaticism in this war—to them a holy mission ordained from on high—I believe it possible that bombing planes carrying three to five men and full racks of bombs might have been crashed purposely into the British ships.

In all probability the Japanese pilots were based at Cam Ranh Bay, Saigon, French Indo China. German airmen probably were not among the attacking fliers, but much of the Japanese air equipment is German-built in the factories at Nagoya and Kobe where Nazi technicians have been supervising and coordinating airplane production for the last year.

on the United States—before going to Mr. Roosevelt for his signature.

Negotiate With Russia

Immediately on the heels of the war declarations against Germany and Italy which plunged the United States finally into the second world war, President Roosevelt, Secretary of State Hull and lend-lease generalissimo Harry Hopkins negotiated earnestly with Soviet Russia through the newly-arrived ambassador, Maxim Litvinoff. The Moscow envoy gave assurances that Russia would fight to the end against Germany, but was silent on what assistance the Soviets might give the United States and Great Britain against Japan.

On the home front, President Roosevelt moved to stop further strikes and lock-outs by calling organized labor and industrial management into conference next week to reach a unanimous agreement to prevent the interruption of production by labor disputes during the period of the war.

And OPM labor chief Sidney Hillman called on President William Green of the American Federation of Labor and Philip Murray of the Congress of Industrial Organizations to urge their unions to get their men working on a 24-hour-a-day, seven-day-a-week production schedule in defense plants.

Knox In Hawaii

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox was in Hawaii to personally direct future operations in the Pacific battle front. Presumably, he was acting the facts for President Roosevelt and the American public about the Pearl Harbor engagement Sunday in which the Japanese inflicted a devastating blow to the American Pacific fleet.

There was still agitation in Congress for a full disclosure of the results of the Pearl Harbor battle, but Senate naval committee chairman William Walsh—after consultation with the president—said "our navy will be able to take care of itself and will be able to match the Japanese navy."

General Hershey, the selective service director, in calling for sweeping expansion of compulsory service by both men and women, said:

"I don't visualize 5 or 6 million men marching off to war, but we must try to be ready through a measured approach to the problem."

"We undoubtedly soon are going to consider the registration of women."

As of Jan. 1, 1942, Hershey said there would be 800,000 draftees in the army in addition to regulars and the National Guard.

He estimated a million A-1 men still remain in the first draft pool, plus an additional 750,000 would be called to the colors with minor physical adjustments such as teeth, etc.

Another explanation is that draftees had five-year plans while we keep trying plans hatched in five minutes.

Plan Permanent Air Raid Warden Force For City

Meeting Sunday At Court House For Purpose Of Organization

Formation of the nucleus of a permanent force of 100 air raid wardens for New Castle will come at a public meeting called for the court house by the Junior Chamber of Commerce on Sunday, December 14 at 2:30 p. m., President John P. Brinton of the Junior chamber said today.

The young businessmen's organization has taken upon itself the task of forming the air raid protection unit.

Major Frank A. Webber, commanding Co. B of the Pennsylvania Reserve Defense Corps here, will be the rally speaker. He will tell the duties of air raid wardens and emphasize their importance.

Selection of the 100 wardens may require several days, but applications will be taken on Sunday.

Brinton said that within a short time, too, his organization will be able to announce the heads of the auxiliary firemen and auxiliary police and leaders for the war-time bombing squads, rescue squads, medical force, nurses' corps, emergency food and housing, drivers' corps, messengers, road repair crew, demolition and clearance squads and the decontamination crew.

He said 3,000 volunteers will be sought for the various services. Each of the 100 air raid wardens, he explained, will serve a group of 500 citizens here.

BUSINESS BOOMS AS ARMY SPENDS

(International News Service)

CAMP POLK, La.—The largest real estate deal in modern history in which patriotic citizens freely donated more than 20,000.00 acres of land to the United States Army for maneuvers, has proved to be a booming loaded with prosperity.

The deal that was uniquely closed with simple appeals to patriotism rather than cash settlements has sent the war raucous area of Louisiana and Texas booming.

School Boy Writes Of Bird Army On Square

In a recent assignment to his biology class in the senior high school, N. R. Casilio asked his pupils to write an essay on bird life. Husus Stevens, a pupil in Mr. Casilio's class returned an essay upon the sparrows which have set up house-keeping in the trees upon the public square.

The essay has an element of humor, shows some keen perception and is written succinctly. It follows:

"As a prospective voter in this thriving metropolis of ours, I heartily advocate the removal of that little colony of our fine feathered friends that moved in and took possession of the Diamond in our downtown district. If you were ever within a block or two of this menace to society in the early evening, you will know what I mean. It is a shame to insult Lincoln's Gettysburg address and the defenders of our country by allowing these parasites to live on the same hallowed ground whereon are placed these immortal symbols of liberty.

"If so-called bird lovers think so much of this horde of cheerful little chirpers they must own or have an interest in a dry cleaning establishment or else they have an enemy in the street cleaning department."

One evening I strolled down around the Diamond early to look them over, but it sounded like a Democratic convention and looked even worse. Most of the birds seemed to be engaged in some sort of gymnastics, the way they were hopping around.

"I went down again about 10 o'clock and it was as quiet as a graveyard on Halloween. They had evidently bedded down for the night. I noticed that certain trees seemed to be favorites. Out of eight or nine trees they had chosen five into which they crowded, and I do mean crowded.

"It is awfully hard to estimate the number of birds, but on the night that I was there, there were easily two or three thousand of them. As it was dark you could not tell a lot about the trees, but most of them seem to be sycamores. And thereon they subside into the arms of Morpheus and all is peaceful until the next morning at dawn. They scatter off in all directions looking for breakfast.

"There appear to be but two choices in dealing with this problem: either cut down the trees or turn over the Diamond to the English sparrows."

traveled to Alaska and other parts of the Americas. He is somewhat of a hunter and I take pleasure now in presenting the honorable mayor, Charles B. Mayne, New Castle's first citizen.

His Honor responded by stating he did not know he was scheduled to talk, jestingly declaring that had he known such he would not have been present, explaining: "I don't like to talk to an audience which knows me. Mr. Muldoon doesn't know me. R. N. Graham, executive vice president, does. I have been doing business with him for years and years."

Mayor Mayne described how council, the solicitor and he have been working with Mr. Muldoon and Mr. Moore for 14 months and explained that there yet remain some details to be worked out and requested the people to be patient regarding extensions.

"This is a business problem and all routes must pay or they cannot continue. I want you gentlemen to tell the people to patronize the buses. The city will receive a certain revenue from the operation, hence city officials are interested," he said.

CITY SOLICITOR

Mr. Muldoon introduced City Solicitor White as a gentleman, a scholar and one of the best Third Class city lawyers in the state, to which the solicitor replied that he is very much interested in the change and gave a graphic description of yesterday's cars and trailers.

"Everyone appreciates what is being done. New Castle is a 'honey' place. People take interest in each other" whereupon Solicitor White referred to social justice and described with the passing of the tin mill some years ago, men lost their employment.

He said "had not the war come we would yet be faced with that great calamity of social injustice." "To some, today is one of grief" he said. "We changed the transportation system and I hope the community can say with pride we did this without jangling any men with out-moded machinery."

Turning to Mr. Muldoon, Solicitor White said: "I congratulate you in meeting this problem." He assured Mr. Muldoon "stayed with it" and added "he has worked with the city in a great cooperative way. I congratulate you and your company."

Walter Duff

"The next gentleman I wish to introduce was chairman of the utility committee of the GNCA 12 months ago. Through efforts of himself and committee the initial meeting was brought about. I present Walter W. Duff."

"I think I may accept this opportunity for the GNCA and people to congratulate the Shenango Valley Transportation and city council for consideration of this project." Mr. Duff said following which Past President Norman Clark of the GNCA, who was of much assistance was introduced.

"I'm delighted to see this new system. It speaks well for the community. The company and council are to be congratulated," he said.

"The next speaker has been a tremendous force here where he has spent his entire life and has developed one of the greatest newspapers in western Pennsylvania. I now present Fred L. Rentz."

Mr. Rentz spoke "I think this company is paying a compliment to our city. They would have been justified in saying 'We're through' because they have not made any money. They have been like some other businesses. They could not do any better."

"They have confidence in New Castle and we should appreciate this. I have lived here all my life. I know every man who has been connected with the transportation system. They are real men and do the right thing by this city."

"Let us help the company. Do not hammer. I am happy to see the change come" said Mr. Rentz who is president and managing editor of The News. He concluded with a witty story which fitted the occasion.

Mr. Muldoon said the next man was one who was convinced that an insolvent company could be made a solvent company, following which he introduced Executive Vice President R. N. Graham of the S. V. T. company.

Graham Heard

Mr. Graham expressed his deep gratification that so many business men had left their business to attend the banquet in celebration of the inauguration of buses, and he asserted that some of you or someone connected with you will ride these buses.

He stated that not as many persons now are carried by transportation companies as formerly and said that "we appreciate your interest and plan to give you the best possible transportation."

"These buses are modern. Eight are operated by Diesels and five type as gas-operated and will be driven by gas." The smaller used on the less traveled lines" he explained.

Mr. Graham said the type in service here have been successful in many cities and between 400 and 500 buses now are in service.

"You can depend upon these men operating street cars to operate buses and I am sure you will be patient while they are picking up knowledge of this new business."

"One thing I wish you to realize and that is the Shenango Valley Transportation is a small plant. He said he does not expect the company to realize a gross revenue of $150,000 in 1942."

"In order to give good service the business must be watched carefully. We cannot run a bus to every man's door. Mr. Moore is the general manager. We will give you a good job of transportation and I wish now to thank you for your assistance," he concluded.

Among those present was Thomas Flanagan of Sharon who is the general manager of the company's system in Sharon.

The banquet was closed with everybody facing the United States flag and led by General Moore in singing America.

The buses will be housed temporarily in the street car barns here.

men by speeding the draft ages. Hershey bluntly announced that "we undoubtedly are going to consider the registration of women."

Administration leaders predicted final senate action on the pending $10,000,000,000 military appropriation bill before nightfall. This measure would provide funds for constructing an estimated 4,050 navy war planes, and a vast horde of tanks, anti-aircraft guns, and tank guns and other munitions. It also carries funds for expanding airplane factories and increasing the nation's munitions industries, besides constructing new wartime buildings in Washington.

The bill passed the house last week, carrying $8,244,000,000 for national defense. Following senate passage it must be returned to the house for approval of the sums added by the senate—since Japan, Germany and Italy declared war

New Draft Bill Will Be Framed

All Men From 18 To 65 Are To Be Registered It Is Indicated

MEN 19-45 WILL FACE ACTION CALL

By GRIFFING BANCROFT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Speaker Rayburn today announced that congress will start work immediately on an act to require all men in the United States from 18 to 65 to register, with those between 19 and 45 to be liable for active service to raise an army of 4,000,000.

Rayburn said the measure has been requested by the War department and Chairman May (D) Ky., announced his military affairs committee will start hearings on it tomorrow. He predicted speedy approval.

Rayburn said the purpose in registering all males from 18 to 65 was for the purpose of "giving the government an overall picture of the nation's manpower."
The act will provide that only those between 19 and 45 will be liable for active service, Rayburn explained.
While congress has some objection to changing the present draft minimum from 21 to 18 on the grounds that "we'll be taking in babies" Rayburn said that a trained man will not be sent into action until he has had a year of training so that the 19-year-old will have had a year of training by that time.
It was estimated by members of the military affairs committee that there are some 50,000,000 men between 18 and 65 and about 25,000,000 between 18 and 45.

War-Taime Blackout All Along California Coast, Anti-Sabotage Drive Starts

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—With war-time blackouts continuing and citizens rushing in unprecedented numbers to enroll for civilian defense, a drastic crackdown on German and Italian nationals on the Pacific Coast was anticipated momentarily.

A charge of "deliberate sabotage" against a major army air base in Arizona, focused the anti-sabotage drive in the southwest while in San Francisco, and other California cities, the FBI tightened up their surveillance of enemy aliens.
Three Italian schools in San Francisco, accused of teaching "obedience to Il Duce," were closed today. Italian and German language newspapers continued to be published, however.

A campaign was launched to replace signs in Italian in the big San Francisco Italian colony.
There was a possibility that funds of Italian and German nationals might be frozen. As a result there has been a heavy withdrawal of bank deposits.

San Diego and its great naval base, a few miles north of the Mexican border, were blacked out under navy orders for nearly two hours before dawn today. No announcement of reasons for the blackout was made but in Los Angeles, where a one hour and nine-minute "alert" was in effect early this morning, Col. H. S. Fuller of the army information service, said unidentified planes had been sighted.

New Program Of Financing To Be Needed

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—A huge new program of taxation and war finance operations was forecast today by Sen. George (D) Ga., chairman of the senate finance committee.

First steps in the program, expected to include lifting the debt limit and raising at least $5,000,000,000 more a year in taxes, were to be taken at a conference between George, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, and Chairman Doughton (D) N. C., of the house ways and means committee.

George outlined a tentative program which includes:
1. Increased taxation and non-defense economy.
2. Maintenance of the profit system and private enterprise.
3. Individual sacrifices and economies, and bond-buying.
4. Rigid price control.
"We must realize a changed situation," George said. "The individual can't do everything that he has done. Unless we do realize that we face one of the greatest crises in history, it may become a disaster to the American people."
While saying increased taxes are necessary, George warned against experiments.
"We must double and redouble our war production," he said. "We must maintain the highest taxes possible, consistent with our paramount duty of maintaining war production and food, clothing, shelter and drugs, which are essential to life."

No Mardi Gras Result Of War

First Cancellation Of New Orleans Carnival Since Last World War

(International News Service)
NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 12.—War today caused a cancellation of the New Orleans Mardi Gras—the most famous carnival celebration in all America.
Cloaked behind the secrecy of the masks and the unknown krewes, a nameless chairman of the carnival organization emerged today to announce that all major parading organizations, and sponsors of 28 balls have decided to cancel all plans for the Mardi Gras.

This marks the second time that war has cast its shadow over the gala pageant which in years past has made New Orleans truly a city of fun, of spanked costumes, of clowns and of laughter.
The last time the carnival was cancelled was back in 1917 when America, like today, took up arms against Germany.

Bessemer Police Chief Favors Sale Of Christmas Seals

Archie A. Shoup Tells Of Work Done By Funds Raised By Seal Campaign

In urging the support of every citizen in the current drive for the sale of Christmas Seals, being carried on by the Lawrence County Tuberculosis Society, Archie A. Shoup, chief of police for Bessemer, made the following statement:

"Tuberculosis can be prevented! What can we do to protect ourselves and the children of our households against the disease, which still kills more persons between the ages of 15 and 45 than any other?"

"Tuberculosis comes from tuberculosis. Exposure to persons who are grossly infected must be prevented. But how to find those persons? Only by a thorough medical examination of the family, especially for the growing children, can we be sure there is no such exposure taking place."

"Our family physicians should be our counselors in health and their friendly advice will aid in prolonging life. Every member of our family should get such an examination every year. The seeds of tuberculosis are scattered throughout the population. People can transmit it before they even know they have it. To wait for the development of our right symptoms may be too late. This is the crux of the theoretical knowledge which I ask you to make practical by annual health examinations of your entire family."

"There are a great many different instruments at work in public health for the control of tuberculosis. There are sanatoria and clinics; there are improvements in the X-ray which make early diagnosis more certain; there is the tuberculin test which screens out from a large group those who are infected and should be carefully studied and watched. There is the little Christmas Seal, raising money to support the work of more than 1,600 tuberculosis associations throughout the country. Their aim is to make available to all the people the knowledge which is abundantly at hand, sufficient in extent to solve the problem of this disease if used by everyone.

World War Draft Records Discarded

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—A frenzied search for office space in the crowded nation's capital recently resulted in the destruction of 21 million World War I draft folders containing the records of Americans who registered but were not inducted into the armed services in 1917-1918.

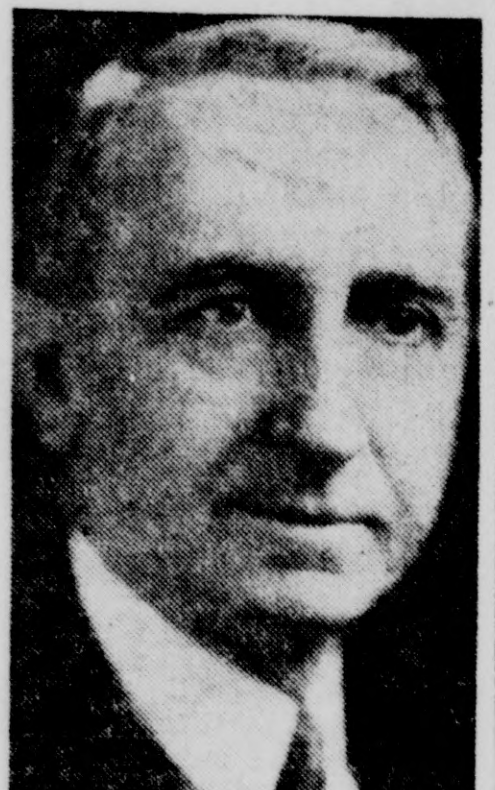

Uncle Sam undertook the big destruction job of removing the memories of the war against Kaiser Wilhelm "to make room for a new war department building."

After the World War, 24,500,000 cover sheets, bearing the records of drafted men were brought to Washington from the various states and stored in the Army War College. It required 20,000 four-drawer filing cabinets to hold the veritable mountain of records. These cabinets occupied seven large buildings, placed in a row, the filing cabinets would stretch 50 miles or if grouped together would cover ten acres.

Guam Governor, Reported Taken, Is Related Here

George McMillin Is Cousin Of Assistant City Mechanic M. L. McMillin

George McMillin, governor of Guam, who was reported yesterday to have been taken prisoner by the Japs, along with the naval detachment of the island, comes from a pioneer Lawrence county family, and is a cousin of assistant city mechanic M. L. McMillin, of Neshaanock avenue.

His father, Charles McMillin, was born at old Big Run Falls, but moved to Youngstown, O., when a young man, and it was here that Governor McMillin was born. He has a number of other relatives in the county in addition to M. L. McMillin.

Babson Discusses Farm And Railroad Problems Of Nation

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright-1941—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

NEW YORK CITY, Dec. 12.—I wish I had the pull with the county agent that John Jones on the other side of town has. . . . The present plan of helping agriculture is very unfair to the honest farmer.

BABSON

"I got a check for $125 today for doing something which I have done every year for 20 years. . . . Can't some farm plan be devised of which the crooks cannot take advantage, something not only fool-proof but burglar-proof?"

Stopping the Leaks
The above are a few extracts from letters recently received. As a result, I have been studying the farm problem. I find that the Federal government is now returning each year about $1,000,000,000 to the farmers in the form of various kinds of bonuses. Policies, cash advances, and even injustices have been made to this distribution. These bonuses can increase every year until pandemonium reigns. The distribution of this money can become so complicated and create so much hard feeling—neighbor against neighbor and all against the government—congress will sometime lose its patience and wipe out the whole business. It is for the interests of farmers, therefore, to quit the policy of "Let's get all we can while the getting is good." Instead they should seek some fool-proof simple method of accomplishing better results with more fairness and less waste.

The problem has become further complicated by President Roosevelt allowing the railroad employees a wage increase of $225,000,000 with the sub-zero promise to the railroads of a further rate increase when lower freight rates are needed. I, therefore, want to tell of a plan which will save both the farmers and the railroads. I will call it the Prince Plan after the name of Frederick Prince who first suggested it. It should interest every taxpayer as well as every farmer and railroad bondholder. Politicians, however, will not like it; neither may some county agents and labor leaders.

Needed: Lower Freight Rates
Instead of paying the farmer on the present set-up which encourages him to plant as little as possible, the Prince Plan allows him to plant all he wishes, but gives him a reduction in railroad rates and protection against unfair foreign competition. Interview 100 farmers and 98 of them will tell you that they could make a fair profit on their products if it were not for transportation costs. The difficulty is that the farmers, fruit growers and live stock raisers are suffering from too high freight rates. In many instances the freight amounts to more than the price of the product at the farm. This plan also gives farmers freedom to raise what they wish and to sell for what they wish. The railroads will reply: "But we are as hard-up as the farmers. Just now we are making money, but after the war we will be in worse condition than ever. We need higher, rather than lower, freight rates. To add to our trouble, our railroad employees have now been given a raise which will cost us over $300,000,000 more a year." I reply by saying that we do not want the railroads to lose a dollar. The government should send the railroads a check each month equal to the amount the railroads reduce their freight rates for the benefit of the farmers and increase their wages for the benefit of the Brotherhoods.

Four Advantages
As you see, this lower-freight rate plan has several advantages:

(1) It treats all farmers alike, whether Republicans or Democrats.
(2) It eliminates arguments with the county agents. (3) It greatly reduces the cost of supervision. (4) It saves taxpayers' money. In short, instead of having to get information from millions of farmers and mail millions of checks, it would be necessary for the government only to mail a few hundred checks. Under this plan all parties—farmers, railroads, labor and consumers would be better off. In the end, the farmers' well-being are one and the same thing. Only as more is produced, is there more to divide in the form of wages, salaries, interest on savings accounts and dividends.

The whole system of restricting production to build up prices, or of raising railroad freight rates to increase income, is "cock-eyed." We get richer as a nation only as we produce more and reduce costs, not as we produce less and raise prices, wages or freight rates. The farmer, who is willing to live out on the prairie away from the advantages of the city, should receive some compensation for doing this. The natural way to compensate him is through rebating freight rates, not by raising them. Perhaps my best argument in favor of this plan is the fact that the most market gardeners, fruit growers and others living close to the cities are making money now. In other words, it is the freight rates that are raising havoc with the farmers and now we are talking about raising them more!

What About Foreign Competition?
Some exporting bounty that will protect the farmer from foreign competition should also be considered, perhaps something like the McNary-Baugh Bill. This provides a certain rebate or subsidy on what is sold abroad below a reasonable price. No politics or unfairness could work into such a program. The government knows exactly what is being exported and where it is going. They can base checks thereon and distribute the money, as Senator McNary has so well worked out. The details of this, I am now discussing. The two, however, must go together. One is the "clock" and the other is the "key," one the "hatchet" and the other the "handle!"

PLEXIGLAS IS USED TO MAKE AIRPLANE 'NOSES'

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA — Plexiglas — one of the newer plastics — is being transformed into airplane "noses" that can withstand the screaming winds of six-mile-a-minute flight.

At the Bristol plant of the Rohm and Haas company a crew of workmen is fashioning the crystal-clear substance into van-shaped windows and enclosures for the new Martin B-26 bombers. They're also making dome-like "noses" five feet in diameter to fit in front of fuselages, and to provide openings for gun-mount and bomb release.

Through this plexiglas structure, the five-man gun crew can draw increased vision and range of sight. Plexiglas is less than half as heavy as glass—which couldn't be molded into such big shapes accurately, anyway, company spokesmen explained.

While the new plastic isn't bullet-proof, it can withstand severe blows. If fractured by shells, it breaks into dull, nonpenetrating pieces. Plexiglas is known technically as a synthetic acrylic resin and it was developed six years ago.

cently and citizens returned to their normal jabbering and caper-cutting. Stifle in the monkey colony at San Francisco's Zoological Gardens came without warning. Eight new monkeys, smug with having graduated from the experimental laboratories of the Hooper Foundation, had been sent to the island.

Upon arrival, invaders were thrown into the water, chased up trees and from rock to rock. It was a free-for-all with no holds barred until Carey Baldwin, zoo director, and his assistants rounded up the invasion-registers and tossed them into concentration camps. Later new arrivals were released in groups of three or four. Nothing violent happened.

"I think all they wanted to do was to make it clear who was running the island," Mr. Baldwin said.

SLEEP WALKERS PRESENT PROBLEM TO BRITISH ARMY

(International News Service)
LONDON—Humorous and tragic instances have resulted from the antics of sleep walkers in the British Armed Forces.

There was the soldier, who in the night, left his bed, dressed, polished his buttons, and went on sentry duty—still asleep.

A more tragic instance was that of a young airman, who it was stated at an inquest, "baled out" of a bedroom window to his death.

There are, however, instances, outside of the Forces.

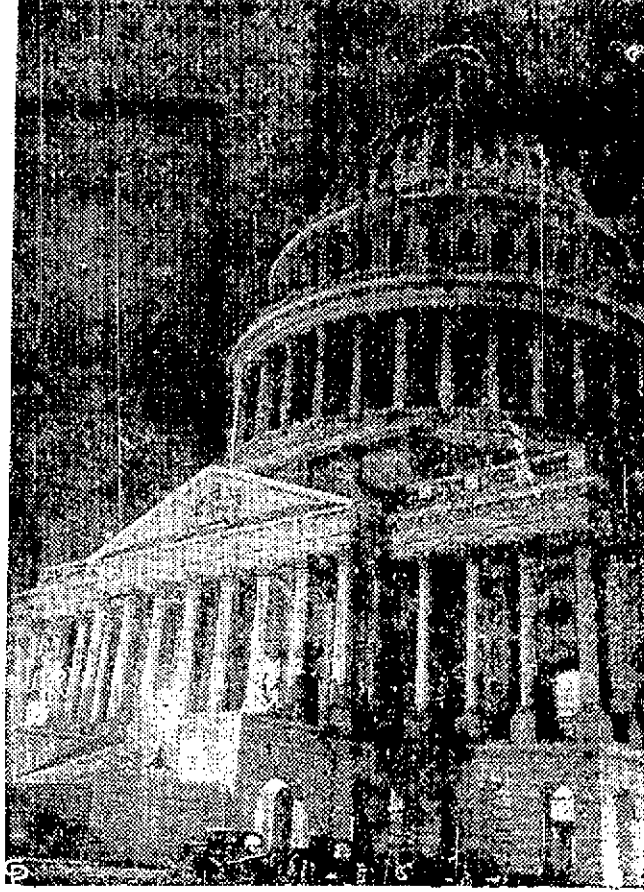

A schoolboy on the eve of an important cricket match, was seen by his astonished parents, snoring imaginarily runs up and down the hallway.

After a time, he shouldered his bat, and marched sedately to his room.

A German actress, Aunty Aslers in one scene from a London production, had to climb through a window to meet her lover. Apparently she was thinking of this scene when she fell from the bedroom window of a London hotel to her death.

The U. S. Navy will consume approximately 12,480,000 pounds of bacon in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1942.

CAPITOL DOME BLACKED OUT

The war was driven home to Washingtonians and visitors in the nation's capital when the normal floodlighting of the Capitol dome was abolished as a precautionary measure. 'Take It Easy' Is Advice Given To Middle-Aged

(International News Service)
COLUMBUS, O. — Persons approaching middle age were cautioned by Ohio Health Director R. H. Markwith to ignore to some extent the call of spring and to "take it easy" if they wish to grow old gracefully—or, in fact, if they wish to grow old at all.

"Live within your physical resources," Dr. Markwith warned. "At this time of year, men in particular are inclined to forget that their bodies are not as young as they once were. They rush home from work, take a last-minute, a cake or a set of golf clubs, and work or play until they reach the point of exhaustion."

"Exercise should be taken in small doses, particularly by those who have let themselves get out of condition. It's better to mix a little rest with a little exercise."

"It's an unpleasant fact, but we must learn to live with it. While our minds may be as alert as ever, possibly at their peak, our bodies are failing."

License Plate Steel Problem

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 12.—Difficulty in obtaining steel needed for 1943 license plates was advanced by Gov. Arthur H. James today as another reason for summoning the legislature into special session soon. Changing the law governing buying of materials and setting up a new purchasing board appear necessary, the governor said during his press conference. Under the law the state is required to advertise bids before making purchases, he said, but the only way the Commonwealth can get materials now is to order at the market price and pay on delivery.

AMERICANS IN LONDON URGED TO JOIN HOME GUARD

(International News Service)
LONDON—The First American Squadron of the London Home Guard is appealing to members of the American Community here to volunteer and help swell the ranks. So many of the younger members have joined the British army, the Royal Navy, the R. A. F., the Fleet Air Arm and the Transatlantic Ferry Pilot Service that the unit is now below strength. Brigadier-General Wade H. Hayes, commanding the squadron, pointed out that members need take no oath of allegiance and that their American citizenship is not affected. The squadron is fully equipped with arms and vehicles supplied by American friends and is thoroughly trained for special service under officers of the Brigade of Guards.

Claim Bomb Hits On British Ships Off Libyan Coast

(International News Service)
ROME, Dec. 12.—Bomb hits by German planes on a British cruiser and destroyer off the Libyan coast were announced by the Italian high command today.
"The fleet formation which on Dec. 10 shelled Derna was intercepted by German aircraft, who again scored hits on a cruiser and torpedo destroyer," the war communiqué said.
The high command reported continued fighting west of the Libyan port of Tobruk and said new enemy tank-supported attacks were repulsed.
Increased artillery activity also was reported in the Bardia area and the region of Sollum in northwestern Egypt.
In the Bir Hachim sector, it was claimed, German and Italian dive-bombers attacked enemy war machines and vehicle columns.
"Naval batteries opened fire on the cruiser and it is believed she was hit," the announcement added.

LESS "SYMPATHY" FOR SIGHTLESS URGED

(International News Service)
PUEBLO, Colo.—A courageous appeal for less "sympathy" for the sightless was made in Pueblo by Helen Keller, noted blind and deaf author-lecturer, on her recent speaking tour of Colorado.

Miss Keller, whom Mark Twain once linked with Napoleon as the "greatest conquerors in history"—Napoleon because of his military conquests, Miss Keller because she conquered almost insurmountable handicaps—declared that the blind suffer not so much from lack of sight as from a wrong attitude towards them by a large part of the public. Many persons handicap them still further, she declared, by taking the attitude that because the blind cannot see they are unable to do anything.

Sir Walter Raleigh was believed as a spy.

American Correspondent On Repulse Describes Sinking Of Warships

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—A dramatic account of the sinking of the British battleship Prince of Wales and the battle cruiser Repulse was given at CBS news headquarters in New York today from Cecil Brown, CBS American correspondent who was aboard the Repulse.
Brown, who was rescued and taken back to Singapore, wrote:
"The Japanese pressed the attack home with all the daring of the British raid at Taranto. I saw six Japanese bomber planes shot down in a burst of flames 500 yards distant.
"Admiral Sir Tom Phillips, commander-in-chief of the far eastern fleet, and Capt. Leach of the Prince of Wales were last seen sliding into the water from the bridge of the Wales."
Brown reported that Capt. William Tennant of the Repulse spoke this message through the ship's microphone when it was evident the vessel was sinking:
"All hands on deck. Prepare to abandon ship. God be with you."
"There was no panic aboard the Repulse," said Brown. He reported that as the final blow was delivered one sailor exclaimed:
"Here they come again; let's get 'em."
Brown concluded his account with this tribute:
"I've seen British troops in action wherein they displayed all the courage in the world, but the courage of the sailors aboard the Repulse and Wales during the attacks was unparalleled."
Here is how the two warcraft appeared to Brown in their final plunge:
"The stern of the Repulse rose in the air like an ugly red wound and quickly slid below the surface.
"I saw a number of heads bobbing near the stern when the ship took the final plunge, but it was unlikely that they escaped the draw."
"I saw the Wales lay over on its

Portugal Suspends Visa Grants To All American Travellers

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull today announced that Portugal is suspending visa grants for Americans in Europe who wish to proceed to Lisbon for the purpose of trying to obtain transportation from that port to the United States.
Portugal's action, Hull said, does not apply to Americans proceeding to Europe from the United States.
The Portuguese government's decision is understood to have been prompted by the desire to prevent the crowding of that country with foreigners, including Americans, who arrive in Portugal with the hope of finding some means of transportation to the United States.
The restriction on the granting of visas is understood to apply to British and other foreigners as well as Americans.

Gloria Vanderbilt Planning To Wed

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, 17-year-old heiress to a $4,000,000 fortune, will be the Christmas day bride of Pasquale (Pat) Di Cicco, Hollywood's actor's agent, who three years ago told a court that he possessed only $4.
The happy couple confirmed the news today after Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, Gloria's mother, announced the engagement. The wedding will take place at the Santa Barbara mission in Santa Barbara, Calif., they said.
Di Cicco, 32, is the son of the late Pasquale Di Cicco, Sr., who came to America from Italy 55 years ago to establish a large truck farm in suburban Queens. Before his death in 1924, he was known as the "broccoli king."

IT'S A SCORE.—And Goalie Bert Gardiner of the Canadians still is hunting for the disc. Scene is Chicago.

High Quintet Playing Farrell

New Castle High Basketball Team Will Seek Third Win Tonight

New Castle high school basketball team will go to Farrell tonight for its third game of the pre-league season. New Castle, having won the first two games, will try hard to make it three in a row tonight.

New Castle has already disposed of Youngstown South and the Alumni in the first two games, both by overwhelming scores. Tonight New Castle is looking for stiffer competition.

Same Starting Lineup
Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh intimated today that he would start the same five that began the two previous tilts, with Ross and Lee at the forwards, Cooper at center and Zukowsky and Parou at the guards.

The next home game is on Tuesday night, December 16, with Youngstown East High playing here. Next Friday night Sharon High will play here.

The New Castle team will leave for Farrell tonight at 6 o'clock from the local bus terminal.

RACE SEASON DATE

The 1942 racing season in Illinois likely will open at the Aurora track on April 27.

The moon rises, crosses the meridian, and sets on an average of about 50 minutes later each day. This is due to the fact that its revolution about the earth carries it forward, or toward the east, at such a rate that it gains about 12 degrees on the sun daily.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Russell Baxter, local middleweight, doesn't believe in permitting frost to gather beneath his brogans. After scoring a TKO over Les Leasure in the third round in the Arena, Wednesday night, he packed his Gladstone and travelled to Youngstown, last night where he outboxed Henry Jackson in five fast, two minute rounds. Leasure will not be able to box for a month. The cut he sustained was a deep laceration and will take time to heal.

Because some Georgia Tech grid-ders may be called to service, the football game with California U at Berkeley, Calif., December 27, has been called off. Reports that Duke was ready to abandon its trip to the Rose Bowl were denied in Durham, N. C., today. The University of Texas administration, athletic council and grid-ders are unanimous in a decision to not play a post-season game.

Billy Conn, former light-heavyweight boxing champion expects to join the navy within a few days. Joe Muba, Virginia Military Institute, has been named captain of the 1942 Cadet football team. He lives in McKees Rocks. Mitchell Pechet, 22, playing hockey with the Horne's has left the club to join the Royal Canadian Air Force. National A. A. U. boxing championship tourney will be held in Boston, April 13-17, inclusive.

ATHLETES' COUSINS

PROS ARMY BOUND

Johnny Clement and Joe Kuharich, players with the professional Cardinals, soon will be in the army.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Touching a few sports bases:—

With the war still in the almost unbelievable category, the Lawrence County Sportsmen's association has undertaken a "Minute Men" spirit. President Andrew Dodds and Secretary H. N. Drio are busily engaged mapping out devious ways in which the organization can aid Uncle Sam in winning the crucial skirmish.

"While most of the members may not be fit for military service," Dodds pointed out today, "we can do a lot in times such as these. Life in the outdoors has toughened us beyond our years and we do know what to do with a rifle. We must win and, speaking for the organization, we sportemen will do everything in our power to help bring victory to these shores."

Two New Castleites are among the cash prize winners of a recent duck pin bowling carnival sponsored by a Chicago bowling firm. In the "regular" class, Helen Ritenour, of 323 Quest street, is $40 richer as the result of her technique in topping the small fellows. Harry Richards, whose residence is listed as 457 1/2 East Washington street, copped a similar award in the "Star" pin spillers' class.

Westminster college will spend most of its time on the road during the current bounce season. The Titans, who open the regular campaign against Carnegie Tech in Pittsburgh Saturday night, will play 13 of their 21 battles on foreign courts. . . . Regis McAuley, the ex-New Castle high back, is now employed by a packing house firm in Cleveland. The crack back, who weighed 135 then, now scales 170 pounds.

Madison Square Garden's initial twin bill is scheduled for Saturday. Crack Long Island faces twice beaten Oregon while C. C. N. Y. flips against Oklahoma A. & M. Long Island has already piled up seven straight wins. . . . Chicago university ranks as "very weak" in Big Ten basketball circles.

It cost Cornell university approximately $61,000 to field its 1941 gridiron combo. The books, however, show a net profit of $147,269. . . . Penn State and Michigan State have signed a home and home football series, starting in 1943. . . . Bucky Walters was the "work-horse" of the Cincy Reds' squad last season. The classy right-hander, who won 19 and lost 15, hurled 302 innings.

Pitt university's football team still has a lot of box office appeal. During the recent season, the Panthers attracted 176,000 customers in six home engagements. Duquesne lured 79,786 fans in four frays played on Forbes field. . . . Hockey is gradually developing into a big time sport in colleges. No less than 85 institutions foster the ice game.

INS Names All-State Collegiate Grid Team

(International News Service) Football players from Pitt, Penn and Duquesne dominated the voting for International News Service's all-Pennsylvania college team for 1941, released today.

Back—Gene Davis, Penn. Back—George Gonda, Duquesne. Back—Walter Zirnisky, Lafayette. Back—Len Krouse, Penn State.

Enemy Activity In Northwestern Malaya Confined To Patrols Is Report

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
LONDON, Dec. 12.—British military authorities said today that enemy activity in Northwestern Malaya now is confined to patrols and that reports of Japanese landings in the Kuala Trengganu and Dungun regions are unconfirmed. In the Kedah area of Northern Malaya, they said, the enemy has "infiltrated forward" and British forces have withdrawn to prepared positions. Air attacks on Penang were said to have been fairly heavy, but authorities said no military damage had been caused in that straits settlements metropolis. In the face of Japanese pressure on Hong Kong, they said, British forces have withdrawn to advance positions nearer Kowloon. Authorities said they had no information regarding the extent of operations conducted by Chinese forces known to be near the Hong Kong frontier.

NEW TOOL MAY END 'ACHILLES' HEEL' OF TANKS

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA—A new defense tool capable of eliminating the "Achilles' heel" of combat tanks was demonstrated at the National Metal Congress and Exposition in Philadelphia recently.

The vital spot on a tank, experts explained, has always been the track pin, holding together the heavy treads of the endless track on which the tank rolls. The new tool was revealed as an electrical induction surface hardening unit capable of making track pins tougher.

When a pin gives way, the experts added, the track breaks and stalls, usually putting the tank out of action. But hardening the surface of the pins by the new induction method has resulted in greater resistance to wear and to the normal shock of combat.

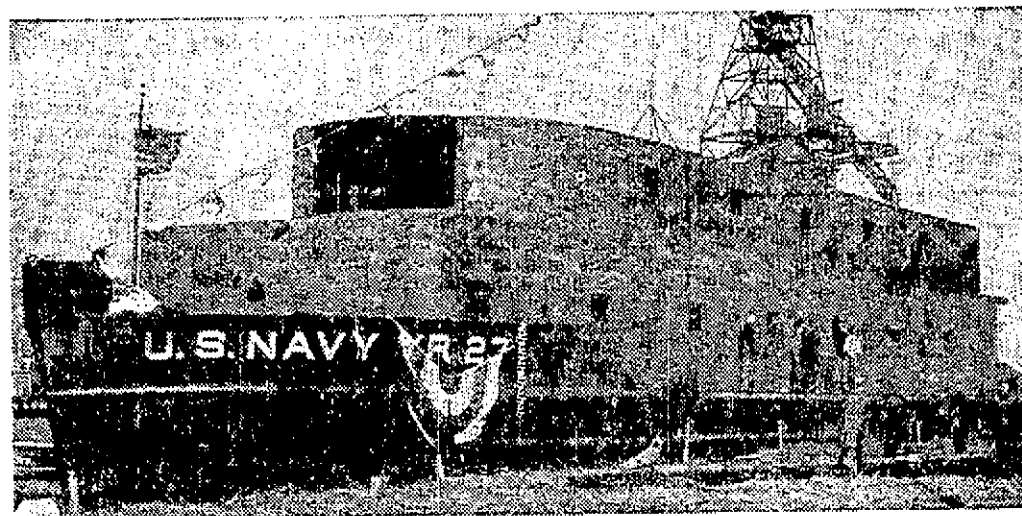

A development of the Ohio Crankshaft company, Cleveland, O., the process reportedly is revolutionizing the science of metallurgy.

Titans To Meet Carnegie Tech

Collegiate Basketball Season
To Open At Pittsburgh
Saturday Night

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Dec. 12.—Out here in New Wilmington the Westminster cagers are pretty sure that they can keep the long losing-streak of the Carnegie Tech Titans free from a win when the two quintets meet in Pittsburgh Saturday night. It will be first game of the 1941-42 season for the Blue and White cagers.

Warm-up games against the Golden Pheasants of Farrell and the Sheet and Tube five of Youngstown have served to test the Titan strength, and Coach Washabaugh has not been disappointed in the pre-season showing of the Titan courtmen.

If last season was "the best in Titan history", with 29 wins out of 31 games, this year the Titans will have to come through with a no-loss record in order to justify the strength they should exhibit with the same "staying five" as last year. The Westminster lads, however, are not looking at the "end of the season". They are, once more, taking "a game at a time". They aren't even taking it for granted that they can defeat Tech, although they admit they have an edge.

Several freshmen may be seen in action against Tech, with the finger probably pointing at "Goldie" Goldblum, former South high scholastic star; Bill McIlhenny, Canonsburg forward; Miles Renzik, Etta forward; and Don Bennett, E. Liverpool forward who towers six feet three.

Coach Washabaugh's policy throughout this year will be to play his secondary players as much as possible providing his first string men can pile up the lead. With all except Dumire of the starting five graduating this year, Coach Washabaugh will be forced to give as much experience as possible to his second five.

Starters against Tech will probably be Charles Riel and Lee Fox, forwards; Stan Wask, center; and Joe Spak and Dale Dumire, guards. These are the "war-horses" of last year that brought a state championship to the Blue and White campus.

Junior Managers To Meet Tonight

There will be a meeting of the junior church league managers at the "Y" tonight at 8 o'clock. It was announced by William "Butch" Winters.

Formation of a junior league will take place at the meeting tonight and all adult representatives at the meeting must have an authorization from their minister.

Production of textiles and shoes in the United States have been stabilized at near record levels, the Department of Commerce reports.

Only 6, She Bowls 150 Scores

Only six years old, "Twinkle" Watts, movie and bowling star of Santa Monica, Cal., averages 150 and has rolled games over 200. She uses a 10-pound ball and has swell form, as you can see. She is shown at Forest Hills, N. Y.

Zivic-McCoy To Battle Tonight

Young Kid McCoy From Detroit Battles For Welterweight Recognition

By JACK MAHON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—The age-old story of the old and the new will be told at Madison Square Garden again tonight when Young Kid McCoy, a boy out of Detroit with his eyes on the world's welterweight championship, meets champion Fritz Zivic in a 10-round bout. McCoy, strong and ambitious, probably will enter the ring a 7 to 5 favorite over the Pittsburgher who held the crown until last summer and who has been unable to untrack himself ever since giving it up.

This is supposed to be the first round in an elimination tourney to decide just who champion Freddie (Red) Cochrane will meet in the first defense of the title he won from Zivic in New York on Feb. 20.

Elimination Bout

Cochrane and his title are safe in the naval reserve and Promoter Mike Jacobs is utilizing the opportunity to get a couple of good matches out of the burlap before asking Red to seek a furlough.

If McCoy wins tonight he will be paired with Ray Robinson, unbeaten Harlem sensation, Jan. 16 for the right to meet Cochrane. If Zivic wins, however, that and two cents will allow him to buy a morning paper to read of his glory. He will not be given a return match with Robinson because Ray's manager doesn't want it. How this makes tonight's fight the opener of a welterweight title elimination tourney, therefore, is something for a real genius to figure out.

Every good man seems generous to his family, but outsiders can't tell whether he is free-handed or weak on defense.

Grove City Floor Team Will Open Season Saturday

To Meet Case Floor Team At Grove City Gym In
First Game

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, Pa., Dec. 12.—First appearance of the Grove City college basketball squad here Saturday evening will be against a Case school, Cleveland, that makes up in height what it lacks in experience. On the relatively small floor, Coach Loveless' squad will be at a decided disadvantage in meeting a team whose starting lineup averages more than six feet two inches. None of the Grover regulars can match Case's average, and both regular forwards are under five feet ten inches.

Coach Jeff Carlin of Case is expected to start a sophomore center, Basisti, from Coshocton, O., who stands six feet seven inches. Another sophomore is Schreiber, six feet three. The other probable starters, holdovers from last year, are Mikar, six feet; Keto, six feet two inches; and Clark, six feet one inch.

With seven lettermen available, Coach Loveless has only one problem in selecting a starting lineup for the opening. Easton, Sharon sophomore, who appeared in many games last year, is giving Bob Hutcheson of Butler a battle for a guard berth. His play has improved steadily, and only his lack of height keeps him from being a stand-out. For the other posts, last year's regulars have fought off the freshmen competition. Walt Moore, Grove City, and Bob Hulton of York are the senior forwards; Jack Fowler of Farrell the senior center, and Bill Towle of Greenville the senior guard. George Steck, sophomore from Oil City, has assured plenty of action in the opener.

If the Grover squad can continue the pace set in pre-season work, the outlook for a successful season is promising.

Most people are optimists. They wouldn't forget to pay the doctor if they expected to need him again.

Rifle Club Will Go To McDonald

The New Castle Rifle club will go to McDonald, O., tonight for a Penn-Ohio league shoot with the McDonald club. It was announced by George Finley, president of the club. All members are to meet at the corner of Grant and Jefferson streets at 7 o'clock to make the trip to the Ohio city.

CRIPPLED YOUTH SAVES TWO BOYS FROM DROWNING

(International News Service)

KALISPELL, Mont.—Dean Logan, 17-year-old graduating senior at Kalispell high school, is a true but no longer an unsung hero today. Dean refused to tell anybody that, despite a crippled arm, he saved two 13-year-old boys from drowning in the icy Flathead River on a recent Sunday. Instead, he changed his clothes and went right on to baccalaureate services.

But the boys, Donald Mathieson and Leo Kizer, were not silent about it. They revealed how Logan swam to their rescue when a raft on which they were playing was caught by a swift current and plunged into the water just above the Kalispell rapids. Logan swam to a sand bar and as the raft shot by, urged the boys to jump. They held on to him and he fought his way to shore with his burden.

FAIR or FOUL By LAWTON CARVER INS Sports Editor

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service
Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—Aside from all other wars and rumors of wars there is going to be some more fireworks in the National League pennant race next baseball season. Rough and tough battling is traditional with that circuit, but it reached a new high for recent years last season when the Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals looked each other in the eye and started their knockdown dragout in the stretch. It may be even more so in 1942.

The Dodgers won't relinquish their hold on the pennant without clawing, biting and slugging under the able leadership in these niceties of Manager Leo Durocher and the Cards won't give in easily in their pursuit of the title they should have won last year and probably will capture next. But it won't be a pink tea from late July on when they begin to flatten out for the run home.

Dodgers Looking Up

The Dodgers are looking up for that renewal of hostilities with the Cards and the rest. They are making trades that look like the groundwork for still more deals in an effort to get the all around balance they lacked last season, and if they can build up enough to stay anywhere close to the top—as they undoubtedly will and perhaps even win—they will be tough as ever. Tough and as eager as ever for getting down and wallowing with rivals, the umpires, spectators and even innocent bystanders.

The Cards, of course, are in the happy position of having just about all the talent they will need for a half dozen years. Soon as one of their players grows old, becomes fatigued, or wears out they send him away and bring up a replacement equally good from one of their innumerable farms.

The Dodgers and Cards, undoubtedly contenders in their league, may, of course, be struck down from still another direction—the war. There is no telling how many of their young men will be available for baseball duty when next season opens. So far they have not been vitally hit.

Indians Hard Hit

Over in the other circuits, hostilities are having a direct bearing on the outlook. Loss of Bob Feller, now in the navy, removes a potential 30-game winner from the Cleveland Indian roster and probably removes the Indians from contendership. He was their one big standby in the supposed renaissance forming under the leadership of Manager Lou Boudreau, the boy wonder.

The New York Yankees, who will be favored to repeat, may lose some players, too, but none to compare with Feller as a main cog in the setup is likely to go soon. The Yankees conceivably could spread-eagle the field again.

While none of this guesswork is guaranteed to standup more than a few hours, it looks as though the American again must be a one-team race and that the shooting will be over in the other league with the Dodgers and Cards pulling the triggers—unless by that time some of their better stars are pulling triggers on other fronts.

New Draft Bill Will Be Framed

All Men From 18 To 65 Are To Be Registered It Is Indicated

MEN 19-45 WILL FACE ACTION CALL

By GRIFFING BANCROFT
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Speaker Rayburn today announced that congress will start work immediately on an act to require all men in the United States from 18 to 65 to register, with those between 19 and 45 to be liable for active service to raise an army of 4,000,000.

Rayburn said the measure has been requested by the War department and Chairman May (D) K. announced his military affairs committee will start hearings on it tomorrow. He predicted speedy approval.

Rayburn said the purpose in registering all males from 18 to 65 was for the purpose of "giving the government an overall picture of the nation's manpower."

The act will provide that only those between 19 and 45 will be liable for active service. Rayburn explained.

While congress has some objection to changing the present draft minimum from 21 to 18 on the grounds that "we'll be taking in babies" Rayburn said that a trainee will not be sent into action until he has had a year of training so that the 19-year-old will have had a year of training by that time.

It was estimated by members of the military affairs committee that there are some 50,000,000 men between 18 and 65 and about 25,000,000 between 19 and 45.

U. S. Interested In French Fleet

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull today said the United States government is following with interest the rumors and reports concerning the Axis getting control of the French fleet.

He added, however, that he had nothing particularly new on the subject beyond the rumors. He indicated that American Ambassador William Leahy at Vichy, is making inquiries concerning them.

JUNK YARD SCENE OF FIRE THURSDAY

Firemen were called to the Pittsburgh Coal and Junk Company, 701 Moravia street, at 5:35 o'clock Thursday evening, where a shack housing the shears used to cut up metal caught fire from an overheated stove. A loss of around $200 was sustained.

Two false alarms were sounded, one from Box 39 at 9:20 p. m. Thursday, and another from Box 83 at 7:45 o'clock this morning. At 11:45 o'clock this morning, the auto of C. E. Meade of R.P.D. No. 3, caught fire, when the anti-freeze ignited, on West State street. No action was taken by firemen.

War-Taine Blackout All Along California Coast, Anti-Sabotage Drive Starts

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—With war-time blackouts continuing and citizens rushing in unprecedented numbers to enroll for civilian defense, a drastic crackdown on German and Italian nationals on the Pacific Coast was anticipated momentarily.

A charge of "deliberate sabotage" against a major army air base in Arizona focused the anti-sabotage drive on the southwest while in San Francisco, and other California cities, the FBI tightened up their surveillance of enemy aliens.

Three Italian schools in San Francisco, accused of teaching "obedience to Il Duce," were closed today. Italian and German language newspapers continued to be published, however.

A campaign was launched to replace signs in Italian in the big San Francisco Italian colony.

There was a possibility that funds of Italian and German nationals might be frozen. As a result there has been a heavy withdrawal of bank deposits.

San Diego and its great naval base, a few miles north of the Mexican border, were blacked out under navy orders for nearly two hours before dawn today. No announcement of reasons for the blackout was made but in Los Angeles, where a one hour and nine-minute "alert" was in effect early this morning, Col. H. S. Puller of the army information service, said unidentified planes had been sighted.

New Program Of Financing To Be Needed

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—A huge new program of taxation and war finance operations was forecast today by Sen. George (D) G., chairman of the senate finance committee.

First steps in the program, expected to include lifting the debt limit and raising at least $5,000,000,000 more a year in taxes, were to be taken at a conference between George, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, and Chairman Doughton (D) N. C. of the house ways and means committee.

George outlined a tentative program which includes:

1. Increased taxation and non-defense economy.
2. Maintenance of the profit system and private enterprise.
3. Individual sacrifices and economic and bond-buying.
4. Strict price control.

"We must realize a changed situation," George said. "The individual can't do everything that he has done. Unless we do realize that we face one of the greatest crises in history, it may become a disaster to the American people."

While saying increased taxes are necessary, George warned against experiments.

"We must double and redouble our war production," he said. "We must maintain the highest taxes possible, consistent with our paramount duty of maintaining war production and food, clothing, shelter and drugs, which are essential to life."

No Mardi Gras Result Of War

First Cancellation Of New Orleans Carnival Since Last World War

(International News Service)

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 12.—War today caused a cancellation of the New Orleans Mardi Gras—the most famous carnival celebration in all America.

Coated behind the secrecy of the masks and the unknown krewes, a nameless chairman of the carnival organization emerged today to announce that all major parading organizations, and sponsors of 28 bills have decided to cancel all plans for the Mardi Gras.

This marks the second time that war has cast its shadow over the gala pageant which in years past has made New Orleans truly a city of fun, of spangled costumes, of clowns and of laughter.

The last time the carnival was cancelled was back in 1917 when America, like today, took up arms against Germany.

Palmer's Case To Reach Jury Today

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 12.—Maintaining his innocence throughout a grilling cross-examination by U. S. government attorneys, Kenneth Palmer, 33, of Volant, Pa., today concluded his defense against bank robbery charges.

Palmer is charged with aiding two pals, Albert Fello and Earl Everett, in the robbery last September of the Harrisville First National bank. Both Fello and Everett were killed in a gun battle with police following the holdup.

The case is expected to go to the jury early this afternoon.

Bessemer Police Chief Favors Sale Of Christmas Seals

Archie A. Shoup Tells Of Work Done By Funds Raised By Seal Campaign

In using the support of every citizen in the current drive for the sale of Christmas Seals, being carried on by the Lawrence County Tuberculosis Society, Archie A. Shoup, chief of police for Bessemer, made the following statement:

"Tuberculosis can be prevented. What can we do to protect ourselves and the children of our households against the disease, which still kills more persons between the ages of 15 and 45 than any other?"

"Tuberculosis comes from tuberculosis. Exposure to persons who are infected must be prevented. But how to find those persons? Only by a thorough medical examination of the family, especially for the growing children, can we be sure there is no such exposure taking place."

"Our family physicians should be our counselors in health and their friendly advice will aid in prolonging life. Every member of our family should get such an examination every year. The seeds of tuberculosis are scattered throughout the population. People can transmit it before they even know they have it. To wait for the development of our right symptoms may be too late. This is the crux of the tubercular knowledge which I ask you to make practical by annual health examinations of your entire family."

"There are a great many different incursions at work in public health for the control of tuberculosis. There are sanatoria and clinics; there are improvements in the X-ray which make early diagnosis more certain; there is the tuberculin test, which screens out from a large group those who are infected and should be carefully studied and watched. There is the little Christmas Seal, raising money to support the work of more than 1,800 tuberculosis associations throughout the country. Their aim is to make available to all the people the knowledge which is abundantly at hand, sufficient in extent to solve the problem of this disease if used by everyone.

"When you buy and use Christmas Seals you become a partner in a campaign for health and happiness for all. Indeed, your Christmas Seal helps to make this a winning campaign."

World War Draft Records Discarded

International News Service Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—A frenzied search for office space in the crowded nation's capital recently resulted in the destruction of 21 million World War I draft folders, containing the records of Americans who registered but were not inducted into the armed services in 1917-1918.

Uncle Sam undertook the big destruction job of removing the memories of the war against Kaiser Wilhelm to make room for a new war department building.

After the World War, 24,000,000 cover sheets, bearing the records of drafted men were brought to Washington from the various states and stored in the Army War College. It required 20,000 four-drawer filing cabinets to hold the veritable mountain of records. These cabinets occupied several large buildings. In place in a row, the filing cabinets would stretch 50 miles, or if grouped together would cover ten acres.

ENGINEER FORCE AT 2,000

Engineer Department the weekly news bulletin of the district said. Six hundred and sixty-five workers were on the payrolls of private contractors.

Guam Governor, Reported Taken, Is Related Here

George McMillin Is Cousin Of Assistant City Mechanic M. L. McMillin

George McMillin, governor of Guam, who was reported yesterday to have been taken prisoner by the Japs, along with the naval detachment of the island, comes from a pioneer Lawrence county family, and is a cousin of assistant city mechanic M. L. McMillin, of Neshaunock avenue.

His father, Charles McMillin, was born at old Big Run Falls, but moved to Youngstown, O., when a young man, and it was here that Governor McMillin was born. He has a number of other relatives in the county in addition to M. L. McMillin.

AMERICANS IN LONDON URGED TO JOIN HOME GUARD

(International News Service)
LONDON—The First American Squadron of the London Home Guard is appealing to members of the American Community here to volunteer and help swell the ranks.

So many of the younger members have joined the British army, the Royal Navy, the R. A. F., the Fleet Air Arm and the Transatlantic Ferry Pilot Service that the unit is now below strength.

Brigadier-General Wade H. Hayes, commanding the squadron, pointed out that members need take no oath of allegiance and that their American citizenship is not affected.

The squadron is fully equipped with arms and vehicles supplied by American friends and is thoroughly trained for special service under officers of the Brigade of Guards.

American Correspondent On Repulse Describes Sinking Of Warships

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—A dramatic account of the sinking of the British battleship Prince of Wales and the battle cruiser Repulse was given at CBS news headquarters in New York today from Cecil Brown, CBS American correspondent who was aboard the Repulse.
Brown, who was rescued and taken back to Singapore, wrote:
"The Japanese pressed the attack home with all the clanging of the British raid at Taranto. I saw six Japanese bomber planes shot down in a burst of flames 500 yards distant.
"Admiral Sir Tom Phillips, commander-in-chief of the far eastern fleet, and Capt. Leach of the Prince of Wales were last seen sliding into the water from the bridge of the Wales.
Brown reported that Capt. William Tennant of the Repulse spoke this message through the ship's microphone when it was evident the vessel was sinking:
"All hands on deck. Prepare to abandon ship. God be with you."
"There was no panic aboard the Repulse," said Brown. He reported that as the final blow was delivered one sailor exclaimed:
"Here they come again; let's get 'em."
Brown concluded his account with this tribute:
"I've seen British troops in action wherein they displayed all the courage in the world, but the courage of the sailors aboard the Repulse and Wales during the attacks was unparalleled."
Here is how the two warships appeared to Brown in their final plunge:
"The stern of the Repulse rose in the air like an ugly red wound and quickly slid below the surface.
"I saw a number of heads bobbing near the stern when the ship took the final plunge, but it was unlikely that they escaped the draw."
"I saw the Wales lay over on its side, hover there for 10 minutes—and then its stern slid under and the jagged bow rose in the air like a crippled limb of a giant and it, too, disappeared."

PENNSYLVANIA IS BEING 'BLITZED' FROM THE SKIES

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 12.—Since 1939, seven meteorites have fallen upon Pennsylvania, the latest occurring in 1939 when a one-pound, two and one-half ounce mass missed hitting a small boy by less than four feet.
The latest celestial visitor was reported by Robert H. Reed, of Philadelphia, who was camping in Black Moshannon State Park with his wife and 12-year-old son, Robert, Jr.
Only six other meteorites have been found in this state. One, other was dug up immediately after it landed at Chilcote, Butler county, on June 24, 1938. All others were plowed up, apparently years after they landed.

Portugal Suspends Visa Grants To All American Travellers

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull today announced that Portugal is suspending visa grants for Americans in Europe for the purpose of trying to obtain transportation from that port to the United States.
Portugal's action, Hull said, does not apply to Americans proceeding to Europe from the United States.
The Portuguese government's decision is understood to have been prompted by the desire to prevent the crowding of that country with foreigners, including Americans, who arrive in Portugal with the hope of finding some means of transportation to the United States.
The restriction on the granting of visas is understood to apply to British and other foreigners as well as Americans.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Touching a few sports bases—

With the war still in the almost unbelievable category, the Lawrence County Sportsmen's association has undertaken a "Minute Men" spirit. President Andrew Dodds and Secretary H. N. Drie are busily engaged mapping out devious ways in which the organization can aid Uncle Sam in winning the crucial skirmish.

"While most of the members may not be fit for military service," Dodds pointed out today, "we can do a lot in times such as these. Life in the outdoors has toughened us beyond our years and we do know what to do with a rifle. We must win and, speaking for the organization, we sportmen will do everything in our power to help bring victory to these shores."

Two New Castleites are among the cash prize winners of a recent duck pin bowling carnival sponsored by a Chicago bowling firm. In the "regular" class, Helen Richmond, of 323 Quest street, is 540 higher as the result of her technique in topping the small fellows. Harry Richards, whose residence is listed as 457 1/2 East Washington street, topped a similar award in the "Star" pin spillers' class.

Westminster college will spend most of its time on the road during the current bounce season. The Titans, who open the regular campaign against Carnegie Tech in Pittsburgh Saturday night, will play 13 of their 21 battles on foreign courts.

Revis McAuley, the ex-New Castle high back, is now employed by a packing house firm in Cleveland. The crack back, who weighed 135 then, now scales 170 pounds.

Madison Square Garden's initial twin bill is scheduled for Saturday. Crack Long Island faces twice beaten Oregon while C. C. N. Y. flips against Oklahoma A. & M. Long Island has already piled up seven straight wins. Chicago university ranks as "very weak" in Big Ten basketball circles.

It cost Cornell university approximately $61,000 to field its 1941 gridiron combo. The bucks, however, show a net profit of $147,260.

Penn State and Michigan State have signed a home and home football series, starting in 1943. Bucky Walters was the "workhorse" of the Cincy Reds' squad last season. The classy right-hander, who won 19 and lost 13, hurled 302 innings.

Pitt university's football team still has a lot of box office appeal. During the recent season, the Panthers attracted 176,000 customers in six home engagements. Duquesne fared 79,786 fans in four frays played on Forbes field. Hockey is gradually developing into a big time sport in colleges. No less than 85 institutions foster the ice game.

INS Names All-State Collegiate Grid Team

(International News Service) Football players from Pitt, Penn and Duquesne dominated the voting for International News Service's all-Pennsylvania college team for 1941, released today.

There were two repeaters from last year's all-star crew on the '41 team: Ralph Fife, of Pitt, and Andy Tomasic, of Temple. Edgar Jones of Pitt, who made the second team last year, advanced to the first team in his last year of college football.

Paul Szabo of Villanova, another player listed on last fall's second team, also won a place on the first team, while Walt Zirnisky of Lafayette dropped from the first team to the second team this year.

Titans To Meet Carnegie Tech

Collegiate Basketball Season
To Open At Pittsburgh
Saturday Night

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Dec. 12.—Out here in New Wilmington the Westminister cagers are pretty sure that they can keep the long losing streak of the Carnegie Tech Titans free from a win when the two quintets meet in Pittsburgh Saturday night. It will be first game of the 1941-42 season for the Blue and White cagers.

Warm-up games against the Golden Pheasants of Purcell and the Sheet and Tube five of Youngstown have served to test the Titan strength, and Coach Washburn has not been disappointed in the pre-season showing of the Titan courtmen.

If last season was "the best in Titan history", with 29 wins out of 31 games, this year the Titans will have to come through with a no-loss record in order to justify the strength they should exhibit with the same "leading five" as last year. The Westminister Jacks, however, are not looking at the "end of the season". They are, once more, taking "a game at a time". They aren't even taking it for granted that they can defeat Tech, although they admit they have an edge.

Several freshmen may be seen in action against Tech, with the finger probably pointing at "Golden" Goldham, former South high school star; Bill McKinnon, Cantonville forward; Miles Reznik, Erie forward; and Don Bennett, E. Liverpool forward who towers six feet three.

Coach Washburn's policy throughout this year will be to play his secondary players as much as possible providing his first string men can pile up the lead. With all except Danbury of the starting five graduating this year, Coach Washburn will be forced to give as much experience as possible to his second string.

Starters against Tech will probably be Charles Ridd and Lee Fox, forwards; Stan Wadell, center; and Joe Spak and Dale Dunmore, guards. These are the "war-horses" of last year that brought a state championship to the Blue and White campus.

Junior Managers To Meet Tonight

There will be a meeting of the junior church league managers at the "Y" tonight at 8 o'clock, it was announced by William "Butch" Winters.

Formation of a junior league will take place at the meeting tonight and all adult representatives at the meeting must have an authorization from their minister.

Production of textiles and shoes in the United States have been stabilized at near record levels, the Department of Commerce reports.

Only 6, She Bowls 150 Scores

Gersons Defeat Ellwood Quintet

Score Is 46 To 30 In Game
At Shelby Floor On Thursday Night

The Gerson basketball team for the second time defeated the Aetna Standard team of Ellwood City last night at the Shelby floor. The score was 46 to 30.

The Gersons led 16 to 8 the first period and 23 to 17 at the half. The third quarter found the locals out in front 30 to 23. The Gersons piled in 18 more points the final period to seven for the Standards. Davey Greer, McGary and Bob Pitzer were the Gerson scoring stars, with Walter Robuck and Cole the best for the losers.

Zivic-McCoy To Battle Tonight

Young Kid McCoy From Detroit Battles For Welterweight Recognition

By JACK MAHON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—The aged story of the old and the new will be told at Madison Square Garden again tonight when Young Kid McCoy, a boy out of Detroit with his eye on the world's welterweight championship, meets ex-champion Freddie Zivic in a 10-round bout. McCoy, strong and ambitious, probably will enter the ring a 7 to 5 favorite over the Pittsburgher who held the crown until last summer and who has been unable to unseat himself ever since giving it up.

This is supposed to be the first round in an elimination tournament to decide just who champion Freddie Zivic will meet in the first defense of the title he won from Zivic in New York on Feb. 20.

Elimination Bout
Cochrane and his title are safe in the naval reserve and Promoter Mike Jacobs is utilizing the opportunity to get a couple of good matches out of the bud before asking Red to seek a furlough.

If McCoy wins tonight he will be paired with Ray Robinson, unbeaten Harlem sensation, Jan. 18 for the right to meet Cochrane. If Zivic wins, however, that and two cents will allow him to buy a morning paper to read of his glory. He will not be given a return match with Robinson because Ray's manager doesn't want it. How this makes tonight's fight the opener of a welterweight title elimination tournament, therefore, is something for a real genius to figure out.

Every good man seems generous to his family, but outsiders can't tell whether he is free-handed or weak on defense.

To Meet Case Floor Team At Grove City Gym In

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, Pa., Dec. 12.—First appearance of the Grove City college basketball squad here Saturday evening will be against a Case school, Cleveland, that makes up in height what it lacks in experience. On the relatively small floor, Coach Loveless' squad will be at a decided disadvantage in meeting a team whose starting lineup averages more than six feet two inches. None of the Grove regulars can match Case's average, and both regular forwards are under five feet ten inches.

Coach Jeff Carlin of Case is expected to start a sophomore center, Basitt, from Coshooton, O., who stands six feet seven inches. Another sophomore is Schreiber, six feet three. The other probable starters, holdovers from last year, are Mikar, six feet; Kato, six feet two inches; and Clark, six feet one inch.

With seven lettermen available, Coach Loveless has only one problem in selecting a starting lineup for the opening. Easton, Sharon sophomore, who appeared in many games last year, is giving Bob Hutchinson of Butler a battle for a guard berth. His play has improved steadily, and only his lack of height keeps him from being a stand-out. For the other posts, last year's regulars have fought off the freshman competition. Walt Moore, Grove City, and Bob Hilton of York are the senior forwards; Jack Fowler of Fairport the senior center; and Bill Towle of Greenville the senior guard. George Steck, sophomore from Oil City, has assured plenty of action in the opener.

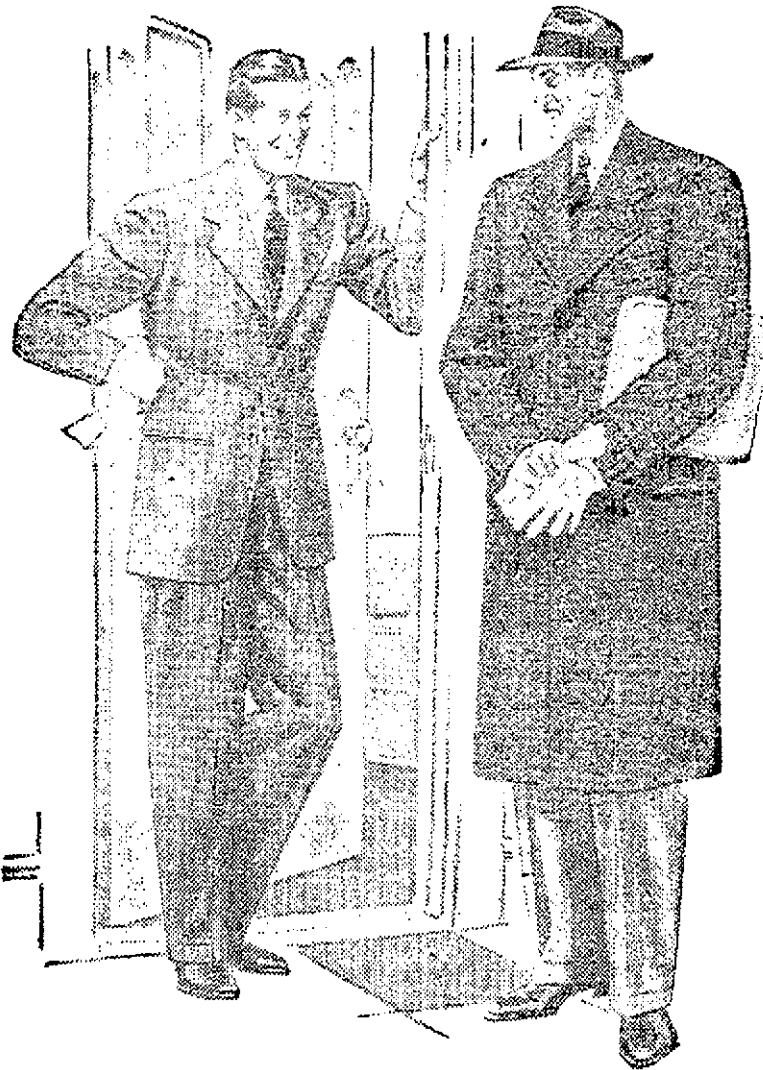

If the Grove squad can continue the pace set in pre-season work, the outlook for a successful season is promising.

Most people are optimistic. They wouldn't forget to pay the doctor if they expected to need him again.

Rifle Club Will Go To McDonald

The New Castle Rifle club will go to McDonald, O., tonight for a Penn-Ohio league shoot with the McDonald club, it was announced by George Finley, president of the club. All members are to meet at the corner of Grant and Jefferson streets at 7 o'clock to make the trip to the Ohio city.

CRIPPLED YOUTH SAVES TWO BOYS FROM DROWNING

(International News Service)

KALISPELL, Mont.—Dean Logan, 17-year-old graduating senior at Kalispell high school, is a true but no longer an unsung hero today. Dean refused to tell anybody that, despite a crippled arm, he saved two 13-year-old boys from drowning in the icy Flathead River on a recent Sunday. Instead, he changed his clothes and went right on to baccalaureate services.

But the boys, Donald Mathieson and Leo Kizer, were not silent about it. They revealed how Logan swam to their rescue when a raft on which they were playing was caught by a swift current and plunged into the water just above the Kalispell rapids. Logan swam to a sand bar and as the raft shot on, raised the boys to jump. They held on to him and he fought his way to shore with his burden.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—Aside from all other wars and rumors of wars there is going to be some more fireworks in the National League season next baseball season. Rough and tough battling is traditional with that circuit, but it reached a new high for recent years last season when the Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals looked each other in the eye and started their knockdown dragout in the stretch. It may be even more so in 1942.

The Dodgers won't relinquish their hold on the pennant without clawing, biting and arguing under the able leadership in these nickles of Manager Leo Durocher and the
